Mr. Commissioner Robert J. Doyle, ex-Recorder of Galway, has given great satisfaction in his conduct of the business of the County Kerry Appeal Court. The local newspapers speak of him as a judge who took "a very clear and sensible view" of the difficult cases that came before him. Members of the legal profession who practised in his Court paid tribute to his valuable services.

YESTERDAY'S LAW REPORTS.

QUEENSTOWN RIGHT OF WAY.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

(BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE, MR. JUSTICE FITZGIBBON AND MR. JUSTICE MURNAGHAN.)

The arguments concluded in the case of Sullivan v. Murray, in which an appeal had been brought by the defendant from a judgment of Mr. Justice Meredith of 12th December last in favour of the plaintiff. The action had been brought by William Cox Longford Sullivan, land agent, Carrigmore, Queenstown, against Mary Murray, ship-chandler, of the Beach, Queenstown, for an injunction restraining her from trespassing on the lands of Carrigmore, situated at Spy Hill, Queenstown. The defendant alleged that, as lessee and occupier of the premises known as "May Field," she was entitled to a right of way over part of the plaintiff's premises.

Counsel:—For appellant and defendant—Mr. FitzGibbon, K.C.; Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C., and Mr. Rice (instructed by Messrs. John J. Horgan and Son). For respondent and plaintiff—Mr. Battersby, K.C.; Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. Hungerford (instructed by Messrs. A. H. Allen and Son).

The Court reserved judgment.

WATERFORD WILL SUIT.

COUSIN ALLEGES UNDUE INFLUENCE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN.)

The hearing was resumed of the probate suit of Murray v. Coleman. The original plaintiff, James Murray, having died, the action was continued in the name of James Wade, of South Mall, Lismore, who claimed to be the sole executor of the last will, dated 15th March, 1924, of Walter Power, late of Kilnafrehan, Co. Waterford, who died on the 23rd March, 1924, and to have the will established. The defendant, Kate Coleman, of Garranbane, Co. Waterford, spinster, who claimed to be a cousin of the deceased man, contested the will on the usual statutory grounds, and in addition entered a plea of undue influence.

It was stated that the assets amounted to about £3,000. The plaintiff, James Wade, was left the farm of the deceased man in the will, and the defendant and her sisters and a brother were left legacies.

The hearing had not concluded when the Court rose.

Mr. Lynch, K.C., Mr. Lupton, K.C., and Mr. Mooney (instructed by Mr. C. H. Denroche) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Battersby, K.C., Mr. Fitzgerald, K.C., and Mr. Matheson (instructed by Mr. J. F. Williams) for the defendant.

OLD DONEGAL PATENT.

ALLEGED DISTURBANCE OF MARKETS.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

The action of Loughrey v. Doherty was listed for hearing. The plaintiff, Fanny Loughrey, of Clonmany, Co. Donegal, claimed a declaration that under a patent dated 11th December, 1856, granted to Michael Loughrey, she is entitled to have and to hold markets on the lands of Dunally, in the town of Clonmany, Co. Donegal; and an injunction restraining the defendants, Edward F. Doherty, Neal Gill and James Doherty, all corn merchants of Clonmany, from disturbing or interfering with her markets.

Mr. Brown, K.C., who, with Mr. McCann, K.C., and Mr. Kelly (instructed by Mr. Joseph Loughrey), appeared for the plaintiff, said that the plaintiff became successor in title of the original grantee under the patent of these markets. Since 1910 or 1911 a boycott or interference had been going on to deprive the plaintiff of weighing charges which she would have got if the oats, potatoes and marketable products which came in were sold in the market square. In order to deprive the plaintiff of those the defendants adopted a system of intercepting farm carts which were on their way into the market, and in the little town of Clonmany, outside the market square, and purchasing the contents. For a time the defendants, or one of them, set up a sort of rival market at or near the railway station, just outside Clonmany. That was the kind of disturbance of this market that had been going on since 1910 or 1911, and it had become worse in the last few years. The plaintiff's legal right was absolutely challenged. The defendants challenged the plaintiff's title, and their substantial defence was that they had a right, notwithstanding the patent, to stop carts outside the town and outside the market and purchase on the roads.

The hearing had not concluded when the Court rose.

Mr. Wood, K.C.; Mr. Carson, K.C., and Mr. McGuckin (instructed by Messrs. Todd and Mark) appeared for the defendants.

CORK MAN'S ESTATE.

QUESTIONS FOR DECISION.

There came before the Court a memorandum from the Chief Clerk for the decision of a question arising in the administration matter of the estate of Winspeare Toye Hungerford, late of Shanakiel House, Sunday's Well, Cork, deceased. The parties to the suit were all members of the same family. The plaintiffs were Winspeare C. A. Hungerford and Walter Hastings Hungerford; and the defendants Robert B. Hungerford, Olive F. E. Hungerford, Dorothy A. Atkin and Annie Rachel Mackenzie.

The question for the decision of the Court was whether the sum of £1,850, the proceeds of the sale of an annuity or yearly rent-charge of £150, payable out of certain lands situated in King's County, County Dublin and County Kildare, which had been purchased by the deceased, Mr. Hungerford, in 1887, by a deed to which his wife, Mrs. Isabella Hungerford, now deceased, and Maria Humfrey were also parties, and sold after Mr. Hungerford's death by his widow in 1909 for the sum mentioned, formed part of the assets of Mrs. Hungerford, the widow, or became part of the assets of Mr. Hungerford, her deceased husband.

The testator, Mr. Winspeare Toye Hungerford, died on 21st May, 1905, leaving his widow, Mrs. Isabella Hungerford, who died on 29th July, 1911, surviving.

The plaintiff, Winspeare C. A. Hungerford, as residuary legatee of his deceased mother, Isabella Hungerford, claimed payment of the £1,850 out of the estate of Mr. Hungerford, contending that on the death of her husband the jointure or yearly rent-charge passed to her and formed part of her assets on her death.

The defendants, all residuary legatees under the will and codicils of Mr. Hungerford, their father, disputed the claim, contending that the money was, and became, part of the testator's assets.

Mr. Justice Meredith reserved judgment.

Counsel—Mr. Price, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. W. J. Shannon and Co.), for the plaintiff, Mr. W. C. A. Hungerford, the claimant; Mr. Matheson (instructed by Messrs. Babington, Clarke and Mooney) for executors; and Mr. Garrett Walker, K.C., for the defendants.

"GREEN AND GOLD."

Mr. Padraic Colum's tale from the South Seas is advertised as the chief attraction of the summer issue of "Green and Gold," Ireland's only all-fiction magazine. A notable little tale it is, in that author's best folk manner; but the other stories of the issue are of a more popular order—tales of love, mystery, adventure. Hector Luttrell's dramatic story of an Elizabethan episode is specially good. Marian Kennaway touches an emotional note. Keith Norrys has a romantic tale, "The House in the Sand Hills," recalling Stevenson, and other contributions make up a remarkably versatile series. For a train journey, "Green and Gold" should be as welcome as any magazine on the stall.

STORE CATTLE SALE.

MESSRS. R. AND J. WILKINSON.

The set-back in prices in the fat market owing to the extreme heat was also reflected in the trade for store cattle, and prices were on a somewhat lower level, but when the fact that cattle are putting on weight more rapidly now owing to the dry weather, the discrepancy in live-weight values is not to be wondered at. On the whole, there was a good demand, and a fair clearance was effected. Horned and polled bullocks made £25 5/- (50/6), 22 (50/-), £21 10/- (51/-), £21 5/- (50/-), £21 5/- (46/-), £20 5/- (50/-), £20 (48/6), £18 15/- (48/-), £18 10/- (49/-); and heifers were placed at £23 (54/-), £22 5/- (52/-), £20 15/- (52/6), £19 (56/-), £18 17/6 (53/-), £17 5/- (53/-), £16 10/- (54/-), £16 (55/-), £16 (47/6).

COLLISION AT MARYBOROUGH.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE O'SHAUGHNESSY.)

The hearing was concluded, on the question of damages, in the case of Meehan v. McDonagh. The action was for personal and other injuries arising out of a collision between a taxi-cab, the property of John O'Brien, of 108 North Strand road, Dublin, taxi proprietor, and a motor lorry owned by Mary McDonagh, of 110 Henry street, Limerick, at Maryborough on the 31st October last.

The defendant traversed the cause of action, denied negligence, and pleaded contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiffs.

There were five actions arising out of the accident, and all were tried together.

On Wednesday the jury found for the plaintiffs on the question of negligence, and now found on the question of damages—£225 for John O'Brien, owner of the damaged taxi-cab; £120 for Joseph Grant, and £25 each, by consent, to the three other plaintiffs—J. Meehan, turf commission agent; J. Meehan, bookmaker's clerk, and Thomas Freeman, bookmaker's clerk—for personal injuries.

Mr. Shannon, K.C., Mr. Maguire, K.C., and Mr. Lennon (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Battersby, K.C., Mr. FitzGibbon, K.C., and Mr. C. S. Campbell (instructed by Messrs. Molloy, Fayle and Co.) for the defendants.

SLIGO RENT CASE.

TWO VERSIONS.

Judgment was given by Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy for the defendant in an action by Mr. Higgins, auctioneer and farmer, Sligo, against a tenant named Tempany for £60 rent due under lease for eighteen acres of grazing land at Lakelands, Sligo, and for the rent of a house. The defence was that the money had been paid, but that no receipt was given by the plaintiff except for one payment. The plaintiff swore that he gave receipts, and the defendant swore that he did not get receipts.

Counsel—Mr. Leonard, K.C., and Mr. Fitzgerald Kenny (instructed by Mr. M. J. Howley, solicitor) for plaintiff; Mr. Denning, K.C., and Mr. Cahir Davitt (instructed by Messrs. Rourke and Carrig) for defendant.

Books of the Week.

THE HOME OFFICE.

This volume is the first in the Whitehall series of books on the great Departments of State. Public men, civil servants, students and journalists will welcome it. The author was Permanent Under-Secretary of State during the years 1908-1922, and, in addition to explaining the various activities of the Home Office, he gives a succinct summary of the historical side of every separate branch. For instance, the sale of liquor is a matter for this section of the Administration. Since so far back as the year 1551 the trade in drink has been subject to the supervision of the magistrates. The phrase, "The King's pleasure," means more to the official than to the ordinary man, who usually fails to realise how much labour, how much searching of precedents is required to determine precisely what should be His Majesty's pleasure in a given case.

In 1774 the impoverished Duke of St. Albans presented a petition asking for a pension adequate to his rank. The reply sent by the Secretary of State departed from the usual formula: "I have obeyed your Grace's commands by presenting your memorial to the King. His Majesty put it in his pocket without expressing his pleasure one way or the other on the occasion." There is no foundation for the notion that the postal authorities are not entitled to open any letters in the course of transmission, should they so desire. The preamble to Cromwell's Postage Act of 1657 alleged that to give the Government the sole right to carry letters was "the best means to discover designs against the Commonwealth by inspection of the correspondence." This right of opening correspondence was restricted to certain officers in the days of Charles II. and so endured until the eighth year of Edward VII. What seems to us an amusing warrant was that issued by Fox in 1782 to the Postmaster-General for the inspection "of all letters and packets that shall come into your custody directed to, or sent by, any Foreign Minister."

The Home Office likewise exercises certain supervision over private bill legislation. Formerly, extraordinary provisions were often slipped through in private bills without the knowledge of anyone except party leaders. The head of an Oxford College, whose appointment was subject to the condition of celibacy, astonished the Fellows by announcing his impending marriage and producing a Canal Act which had just received the Royal Assent and contained a provision to the effect that the Warden of the College in question was to be permitted to marry. The Imperial Home Office deals with matters which to-day in the Free State appear to come under the purview of two departments—the Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Local Government and Public Health.

THE GREAT VICTORIANS.

These critical appraisements come, in the main, from the desk at Cambridge where the writer is Professor of English Literature. It is, perhaps, even now too early to place the writers of the Victorian era, or to define their literary stature; but these sound and considered essays will help to rebut the shallow criticism that would have us believe that Victorian literature was of a piece with the ugliness of the interiors of that period. To Dickens and Thackeray the major part of the volume is devoted, but the sympathetic studies of Mrs. Gaskell and Anthony Trollope—claiming for both a long overdue appreciation—are the important papers of the book. The writer begs "those of you who aspire to write" to study Mrs. Gaskell's work for two reasons: for the first, its literary breeding; for the second, that it is a contradiction of all hasty generalisations about the nineteenth century—the Victorian age, horsehair sofas, the Evangelicals, the Prince Consort, the Great Exhibition of 1851, and all that "bagful of cheap rubbish." Sir Arthur goes on to say: "This very noble lady has written the most perfect small idyll ever written in the English language, 'Cousin Phillis.'"

Dickens, as much over-praised as over-blamed by the generality of critics, is analysed here without bias. Five chapters discuss the man, his work, and the world which he peopled with living, breathing, if occasionally fantastic, beings. "All his characters are my personal friends. I am constantly comparing them with living persons, and living persons with them." The writer adds here: "Tolstoy to Dickens! . . . That is how the tall ships, the grandees of literature, dip their flags and salute as they pass. Gentlemen, let us leave it at that." In Sir Arthur's analysis of Thackeray, while defining that writer's limitations, he is careful to pay tribute to his wonderful prose: "A great melancholy man, with his genius running in streaks, often in thin streaks, but always, when uttered, uttered in lovely liquid prose." Sir Arthur's argument, that to understand Thackeray's work you must understand just what kind of a man he was in his upbringing and the way of his early friendships, is supported by the needed data. In fact, all the papers are consistently informing, and a chapter on "The Victorian Background"—a thoughtful picture of Victorian times, with their terrible industrial conditions—should be read by all students of the literature of that period. "Because they dealt righteously and unsparingly with these things, Shelley, Dickens, Carlyle, Ruskin—yes, and later William Morris—live on the lips of men to-day." At any rate, it is interesting, psychologically, to note how one and the same social question affected the several writers of imaginative genius in Victorian England.

TWO BOOKS FOR YACHTSMEN.

Every lover of the sea will be delighted with two new books, each written with a sportsman's zest and illustrated with excellent drawings and paintings. They are composed on the same plan, describing cruises in six and seven-ton yachts—one in the shoal seas and tidal waters of Essex and Kent, the other in Holland and among the Frisian and Danish islands. Mr. Alker Tripp is well known under the pen-name of "Leigh Hoe." He knows the sea-approaches of London like the palm of his hand, and he describes the triangle of sea which narrows to the estuary of the Thames with rare intimacy—its shallows and its deeps, its dangers and its joys, the historical associations which cling so thickly around that scene of famous doings, and the many-charactered craft, laden, brown-sailed barges and great liners, which make those waters as full of varied life as a busy street in a capital city. He is his own artist, and seldom have we come on such excellent drawings of the sea and ships. To look at the monochromes called "Moonlight on the Sails" and "Dawn at Sea," or the line sketch "Under Way," is to long to have one's hand on the tiller once again.

Mr. K. Adlard Coles tells us at the outset of his breezy volume that he was impelled to visit the Frisian and Danish waters by reading "The Riddle of the Sands," and his book resembles that work in many particulars. Most of the illustrations are photographs, but there are some reproductions of paintings by L. M. Coles, which convey the atmosphere of the cruising ground with rare fidelity. This book is full of practical notes and observations which would render it invaluable to anyone visiting the shores described; and one gets to know the Annette—of which the author gives a loving plan—as if one actually had sailed that broad-beamed little craft.

Mr. Coles has a merry style, and one chuckles at his account of how he shyly sailed forth on his adventurous trip beneath the contemptuous eyes of old folk who had witnessed all the foulings of his novice-days and evidently thought that the maddest deed ever done by that feckless lad was to venture into deep water without one of them to look after him. Who that has sailed but has known in his time the old salts' scorn? Mr. Coles sailed 1,600 sea miles plus 400 for tacking. His longest run was from Dover to the Hook, 120 miles, and he did it in 40 hours under a light wind.

THE PROGRESS OF PROPHECY.

This book, by the Rev. W. J. Farley, minister of the Presbyterian Church at Castlerock, County Derry, is a well-written compendium of information about the Old Testament prophets and their writings. The author truly says in his preface that "to a large number of Christian people the prophetic part of the Old Testament is a sealed book; they have but little idea of the Divine Word as the record of a progressive revelation in history and human life." It must be admitted that considerable portions of the prophetic writings are extremely difficult for readers unacquainted with the work of scholars in this field of study. The poetic and figurative style of expression and the numerous allusions to contemporary history and events and social conditions are a principal cause of their obscurity. If we possessed even an outline of the history of Egypt and Assyria and Palestine in the centuries during which the prophets flourished, and their political relations, and if we knew more of their social and religious state, we should have light thrown on many a dark saying.

The prophets were preachers, and their writings were tracts for the times, and just because their times are so obscure to us their writings are difficult of interpretation. Much has been done within the last fifty years to elucidate the history of those times and countries by the labours of many scholars, with the consequence that the prophetic books are understood now with some measure of approximation to the meaning they had for those who were contemporary with their publication. Those who wish to understand them in the light of modern research should study the volumes of the Cambridge Bible series.

Mr. Farley's volume does not go into detailed exposition. His object is to give a general view of the prophetic writings in connection with the national history and to show the progressiveness of their revelation of God. In connection with his main theme he deals with related subjects such as the Canon of the Old Testament, the nature and origin of prophecy, the successors of the prophets, and the goal of prophecy. An interesting and valuable section deals with the extensive apocalyptic literature, the influence of which on the religious ideas and terms of the New Testament has only come to be understood within the last quarter of a century. The great bulk of Mr. Farley's book consists of individual studies of the various prophets, especially with reference to their religious and social teaching. He holds that their message is not out of date, and that, although it needs sometimes to be amplified or corrected by the standard of Jesus Christ, it contains a true Word of God for our own day.

CELEBRATED CRIMES.

That the annals of crimes retain their interest for the public is shown by the publishers' lists. Some of the episodes recounted in the present volume have been included in other recent works. The murder at Muswell Lodge, in 1896, was an ordinary piece of brutality, but the closing scene at the trial was remarkable. The prisoner Milsom had done everything possible to shift the blame to Fowler, his companion. The latter was a man of enormous strength. A warder stood between them in the dock. Suddenly, after the jury had retired, Fowler dashed at Milsom, tried to grip him by the throat, and, although warders and police clambered over the partitions, the struggle went on for twelve minutes, glass and panels and furniture being smashed in the process. Both men were found guilty. Mr. Justice Hawkins, who tried them, expressed his approval of the verdict, and they were subsequently hanged.

The account here given of the Maybrick trial is excellent. The effort to effect a change of venue from Liverpool to London was unsuccessful. In a letter to her mother, Mrs. Maybrick said, referring to the proposal that she should be tried in London: "I shall receive an impartial verdict there, which I cannot expect from a jury in Liverpool, whose minds have come to a 'moral conviction,' en attendant, which must influence their decision to a certain extent. The tittle-tattle of servants and public, friends and enemies, and from a thousand by-currents, besides their personal feelings for Jim, must leave their traces and prejudice their minds, no matter what the defence is."

This case, like that of Steinie Morrison, precipitated as to the propriety of the verdict a controversy which still remains undecided. Morrison's conduct after conviction was not that of a guilty man. The Home Secretary granted a reprieve and the man went into penal servitude, a violent cynic. By persistent hunger-striking he broke down his splendid physique until he died in 1921. Ward, the Irish detective who worked up the case, was killed during the war in an air-raid, and Morrison, learning of this, expressed his belief in Providence. A recent criminologist has stated openly that the real reason for the reprieve was that Béron, the murdered man, was a Tsarist spy, killed by a sister of one of the men of Sidney street, whom he had betrayed. Several foreign criminals figure in these pages—e.g., Chicago May, and Shinborn, the German, who robbed upwards of £1,000,000 during his life-time, and then died peacefully, an old man, in a home for reformed criminals.

ROUND THE WORLD.

Mr. Henderson left London on the 31st August last, with £50 in his pocket. For £16 10s. he procured a steerage passage from Southampton to Quebec. The food was excellent, the crossing smooth and the company agreeable. About one hundred khaki-clad ex-soldiers came aboard at Cherbourg, Russians straight from Constantinople, officers and other ranks, one time colleagues with the British against the Bolsheviks. In the party were ex-members of the old Russian aristocracy. The traveller made his way across Canada by third-class, under conditions which rather surprised him both for the comfort prevailing and the excellence of the food provided. At Chemainus, in British Columbia, he worked as a strike-breaker, loading wood; his funds were then down almost to zero. The pay was good and the work light, but distasteful.

Remembering that strikers had wives and children, and, perhaps, not uninfluenced by the treatment meted out to "blacklegs" ashore, Mr. Henderson secured a berth as "odd man out" on a cargo ship bound for Australia. His capital by now had reached the sum of just over eight shillings. The new journey ran into 7,000 miles, through wonderful islands. Both Canada and Australia have work for the right kind of man, but emigrants to the former country must be careful to land at the proper season. In March he began to canvass the shipping offices at Melbourne for a homeward-bound ship, and, when funds had fallen very low, secured a post as second steward at one shilling per month on a vessel sailing for London.

RECENT FICTION.

This is the story of Michael Foster, written after the war by a brother officer who had been with him in France, when the mess called him "The Brat," and the men adored him. His first job is selling books, a job that does not last very long. He disappears into the sea of city life, but his friend sees him now and then. He had his old mother to live for, and he fought on against something much harder than France. With most business men it was against you to have served in the war. You had lost many valuable years, and Army life was unsettling for a young fellow. Some fellows ceased to be gentlemen—in order to gain a living. Michael knew of one who ran some kind of dance saloon. He did not inquire, but knew that at least food could be procured by well-set-up elegants willing to hire themselves out as dancing partners. As time goes on, the boy finds it harder to get work. One year he slaves as a guide over the old battlefields, where he had given of his best. "Principles and ideals are for well-fed men," Michael said; "I used to believe all sorts of things once." There was a girl, too; but love was not for the unwanted. When the country finally stretched out a hand, it was too late. This story is one which most readers will not lay down until the last line has been reached. Mr. Eric Kennington's frontispiece is worthy of a fine book.

"The Victors." By Peter Deane. Constable. 3/6 net.

This first novel is an absorbing piece of psychology, ably treated. Doris Beaton, a girl of remarkable attractions and athletic prowess, is a source of admiration and interest to both comrades and teachers, but a hint that Mrs. Beaton has a tarnished past hovers in the air, and, despite their present prosperous domesticity, the family are not "recognised" in a social sense. Generous-minded, romantic Doris idealises her "charming" mother, and longs for the response that is unaccountably withheld. Somewhat coarse-minded and cruel, yet characterised by sound common-sense, the elder woman sees in the sensitive girl a butt for her humour and an outlet for her uncertain temper. The tragedy lies in the strength of Doris's devotion, that even leads her to contemplate suicide when she discovers, as she thinks, a fitting reason for her mother's lack of affection in a scandal flung at her by an offended school-teacher. Miss Johnson's strong point is characterisation, and she touches upon friends and foes in the girl's path with a sureness that makes every one of them real to us.

Miss Susan Glaspell's reputation will be enhanced by the publication of her first novel, "The Glory of the Conquered." It is a work of exceptional beauty and maturity, which inclines us to believe that Miss Glaspell is one of those writers who set a very high standard for their art and are only content with the best. She is an idealist, but her idealism is born of a deep understanding of human nature—of its frailties as well as of its divinity. There is tenderness as well as strength in her convictions, and few who read this book will remain unstirred by its appeal. Creative imagination is rare among modern novelists, but Miss Glaspell has it in full measure and in strict control.

Although lovers of Dornford Yates feel that he has dallied long enough now with magazine stories and should give them another "Berry and Co.," they will enjoy his latest collection of portraits, published under the title of "As Other Men Are." They are typical of the author and brimful with the humour, light banter and pathos which have won for him such popularity. The stories are more or less uniform and relate the experiences of various couples, married and unmarried. The young men are all drawn from the same delightful circle which is Mr. Yates's special sphere, and the heroines as charming as any that this author has created.

In this go-ahead comedy a pompous and overbearing European resident of Jallagar—one Mr. Gladstone Mortimer—crushes the surrounding human element with his lofty sense of superiority. No worm turns until he incurs the displeasure of the little Japanese whom kindly Dr. Samaz has married, and resentment takes root in her fertile brain. The birth of Miss Ernestina Gladstone Mortimer, coinciding with that of the little daughter of Ahmat, the Malay syce, furnishes Naga San with a scheme of revenge; and a secret exchange of infants results in the confusion, and ultimate defeat, of the Gladstone Mortimers.

"The Crucible" is the story of an innocent maiden, a handsome and satanic villain, a gold-mining hero, and a dark mystery. It is not quite what one would expect from the promising young author of "John Frensham, K.C.," but as an exciting story it has undeniable merit, and may prove a relief to those who are satiated with modern sex novels. Some of the descriptive passages—especially those dealing with the mine in the backwoods of Canada and the devastating forest fire, which all but destroyed it—are admirable. It is also interesting to find an author of a successful first novel enterprising enough to try his hand at a different type of fiction.

SHAKESPEAREAN FETE.

A Shakespearean Fête will be held in the grounds of St. Anne's, Donnybrook (kindly lent by Mr. E. J. French), to-day and tomorrow. The grounds are situate immediately opposite the Donnybrook Tram Terminus. The Fête derives its title from the fact that the Strolling Players will give an open air performance of "As You Like It." There will be dancing in the evening, a floor having been laid specially; performances of music by the D.M.P. Band and a ladies' orchestra, and numerous side-shows.

GOLF

THE IRISH NATIVE FINAL.

(BY OUR GOLFING CORRESPONDENT.)

Mr. C. W. Robertson, who entered from the Delgany Club, won the Irish Close Amateur Championship yesterday at Portmarnock, defeating Mr. H. M. Cairnes in the 36 holes final by 4 and 2.

Last year Mrs. Thornton, while on vacation with her husband from Ceylon, entered for the Irish Ladies' Championship, and brought with her to India the title, and it is interesting to note that Mr. Robertson is also on vacation from the Soudan, and that he will bring back with him another of the Irish championships. The success of Mr. Robertson was in one respect rather remarkable. Only once a year, and while he was on vacation, for the last five years has he had an opportunity of playing any golf whatsoever. Yet in 1920 he ran up to Capt. Martin, at Portmarnock, for the Irish Open Championship, and, with little or no practice for such an exacting test, he played right through the severe contest, which ended yesterday.

But, thought beaten by 4 and 2, the loser has nothing to feel ashamed of. He made a great effort to repeat the victory which he gained in the event eighteen years ago, and that he failed was due, not to any lack of golfing ability, but to the very trying conditions under which the match was played, for it was intensely hot, even for the seaside, there being scarcely a breeze to temper the rays of the scorching sun. The younger man was the better fitted, physically, for such an ordeal. It was clear, coming to the end of the tournament, that the strain was beginning to tell on Mr. Cairnes. He played some of the holes on the second round yesterday rather poorly for one of his skill as a golfer, and, whereas his timing of the strokes with the wooden clubs was the perfection of rhythm during all his other matches, his swinging for the greater part of the match yesterday was somewhat laboured. His wooden club shots failed him, and at almost all the long holes he was playing the odd after the tee shots. In the other departments of the game he was a match for his rival, but nearing the finish his putting also went wrong. But it was the wood which beat the veteran, for, as a rule, he was well out-distanced from the tee, and on several occasions he topped wooden club shots, which errors cost him dearly.

But that need not be taken as detracting from the merits of the fine win of the Delgany man, for fine win it really was. Mr. Robertson was playing his wooden clubs faultlessly, and, if his iron play lacked the polish of the skilled iron player, his pitching and putting were as accurate as the general run of first-class amateurs would wish for. One requires a little luck in a tournament of the kind, and in this one Mr. Robertson had his share, for there were times when he escaped bunkers by the margin of a couple of feet. But that is all in the game of golf. The steadier player on the day prevailed, but the greatest credit is due to Mr. Cairnes for making such an interesting match of it. However, as a friend of the loser said after the match—"It is in the family," for the finalists are cousins.

The first tee shot played by Mr. Robertson was hooked, but Mr. Cairnes hit a low one to the bottom of the ridge. Mr. Robertson's second jumped the bunker, and went over the green a little, and the hole was won by Mr. Cairnes in 4 to 5. At the second Mr. Robertson pulled his second shot to the right of the pin, and his opponent on in two took this hole also in 4 to 5. To the third Mr. Cairnes was out to the right, but Mr. Robertson played a beauty, and with the Portmarnock man bunkered to the right of the green off the second he lost the hole to a 4. Mr. Cairnes took the fourth, but then the other player had an innings, and won two holes running to square. He went into the lead at the seventh, Mr. Cairnes being bunkered, but the latter secured the eighth in 3 to draw level, and, winning the ninth in 4 by sinking a long putt, he turned 1 up.

A lucky half for Mr. Cairnes came at the tenth, for he was to the right in the rough from the tee shot, and although he recovered well the other played the hole the better. With the spectators standing on the bank of the cross bunkers from the eleventh tee, Mr. Cairnes hit his ball hard on the top, and found a very bad lie short of the bunkers, but he got well down by playing a courageous shot. He, however, took five to get home, and with the other man near the green in two excellent shots he had the hole won all the way. They were thus all square. A poor half in 4 at the twelfth followed, but at the thirteenth Mr. Cairnes again topped the drive so badly that the ball found a nasty lie behind the thorn trees, from which he, however, recovered right well. It took him 4 to get over the green, and Mr. Robertson, being near the bunkers, in two capital shots won the hole in an approximate 5, his opponent failing to hole in 6 and picking up. Mr. Robertson was now one to the good. The fourteenth was badly played by both in 5's, but the Delgany man ought to have won it, his chip from the right of the green overrunning the hole, while he was again past the hole with the putt for a 4. Then came a half at the fifteenth in 5, but at the sixteenth Mr. Cairnes, who played the hole badly, had a putt for the half, which he missed, Mr. Robertson, who was in the bunker near the green on the left, being down in 5. The seventeenth was halved in 3, but from the rough off a sliced tee shot Mr. Cairnes took wood, and did not get more than twenty yards out of the heavy lie. Mr. Robertson, on the other hand, took an iron from a similar lie near the same spot, and hit the ball on to the green to get his 4, and leave off with the useful lead of three holes for the second round.

When Mr. Cairnes found the bunker off his tee shot from the first and lost the hole to a 4 it seemed as if the end would not be long delayed, but at the second he played a lovely second, drawing round into the wind from the left-hand side of the fairway, and this shot enabled him to win the hole in 4. He then found the rough once more from the teeing ground to the third and missed his second, but had he not knocked the other ball into the hole off what had all the appearance of a stymie he would still have halved the hole in 4. To the fourth Mr. Robertson pulled his drive into the bunker, and the hole went to the local player, who proceeded to win the fifth also, hitting a beautiful second dead on the pin all the way, and holing a fine putt for 3. The match was thus in a very interesting state, for Mr. Cairnes was now only 2 down. One of the best shots of the week was the third, which Mr. Cairnes played to the sixth. He had been in heavy rough off a pulled drive, and played a cleek well out to the right for position. Mr. Robertson's pitch, a really fine one, was over the green. Mr. Cairnes went up to study the line for his pitch, hit a beauty, and almost holed out, the ball getting the kick off the slope on the right of the green. But Mr. Robertson holed a fine long putt for the half in 5. A lovely approach putt from the bottom of the seventh green laid Mr. Cairnes dead for 3, with the other having overrun the hole with his chip from the bank on the right, but again Mr. Robertson's putt saved him. Finding a water hazard from the tee at the eighth, Mr. Cairnes played well out, but the hole went to the other in a splendid 3. In the rough to the right from the ninth tee, Mr. Robertson hit a lovely iron shot past the green, but his opponent was on in two wooden shots, and won the hole in 4 also. Two halves followed, and then Mr. Robertson again went into a lead of three at the 12th, where Mr. Cairnes's putting was at fault. The thirteenth was halved in 5, and the fourteenth won by Mr. Cairnes, who, with all the worse of the drives, hit a peach of a wooden shot to the bank in front of the green from far down, and then got a 4, Mr. Robertson pulling his iron into the hollow at the side of the green and missing the down-hill putt for the like. He, however, became dormy 3, and when Mr. Cairnes topped his second to the sixteenth the match was all over.

It only remains to be said that the arrangements made by the committee of the club for the accommodation of the large company during the championships worked with the greatest smoothness all through, and that they were very well carried out by Mr. Power and Mr. and Mrs. Carr.

MR. C. W. ROBERTSON (DELGANY) BEAT MR. H. M. CAIRNES (PORTMARNOCK) 4 AND 2.

CATTLE.

DUBLIN METROPOLITAN CATTLE, North Circular road, Thursday.—To-day's market for all classes of butcher's stock must be characterised, on the whole, as the slowest and worst selling one experienced here for fully twenty-five or thirty years past. It was unfortunate, too, that supplies of cattle, sheep and lambs were much increased over last week's gathering, while extremely close weather conditions naturally exercised a palpably curbing influence on the extent of trade. All the same, rather considerable quantities of foreign mutton and lamb are being imported into Dublin, and there is some suspicion that much of it is being retailed in certain shops as the home fed article. Cross Channel the meat trade under present intensely warm climatic conditions is running chiefly on foreign meat. In the circumstances, both home and export dealings here this morning proved in the catagory of a mere percentage of normal operations. It proved difficult to find customers for a third of the cattle stalled for sale, and certainly scarcely half were ultimately disposed of, while prices registered a drop of 3s. to 5s. per cwt. Sheep and lambs, too, were 5s., and, in many cases, 7s. 6d. to 10s. lower; in fact, ewes in some cases were 20s., if not more, worse to cash, but buyers, nevertheless, were shy and hard to find. Lambs were never previously known to experience such a limited and tedious sale at this season of the year. Advices just to hand from Montreal show that shipments of Canadian cattle this week for Manchester, Liverpool, Glasgow and Cardiff slightly exceed 3,000 head, these being the average number of exports for past three weeks. Trade and prices yonder are reported firmer, viz.—8.50 dollars to 8.75 per 100lbs. for super grade young steers, 8 to 8.25 for good average beasts, and 7.75 medium; fat cows 5.50 to 6.25, and bulls 4.50 to 5.50 per 100lbs. at ship.

| | Numbers on sale this week | as compared with last. | Corresponding weeks of 1924. | 1923. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Beasts | 1,878 | increase 264 | 2,657 | 2,861 |
| Sheep and lambs | 8,004 | increase 550 | 11,007 | 11,387 |
| Veal calves | 8 | — | 11 | 1 |

There was a hang fire and belated start in cattle trade. Stall fed beasts practically finished. In the opening stage of the market one or two city victuallers paid comparatively fancy prices, viz.—63s. and 64s. per cwt. for a few specially nice drafts of heifers, but, subsequently, in the sloth and depression of things, 60s. to 62s. proved difficult to obtain, and later 57s. 6d. to 60s. was tip-top range. Heavy types of bullocks and heifers, in face of the intensely warm and bad keeping weather, were a more or less negligible sale at uncertain biddings. Secondary lots of cattle were from 52s. 6d. to 56s., and rough sorts much less. Generally, values were a god 3s. to 5s. per cwt. cheaper over the week. Beef cows also participated in the dragging and unattractive state of trade, and were, perhaps, more sharply discounted than were other sorts of beef. Choice young butchering cows were bid for around 46s. to 47s. 6d., and very rarely up to 50s. per cwt. on foot, a reduction of 5s. to 7s. 6d. per cwt. Medium classes 40s. to 50s., old and inferior 25s. to 37s. 6d. per cwt. Bulls not so much in evidence nor enquired for.

Sheep and lambs with slow and narrower demand, and comparatively excessive supplies to handle proved a tedious and more or less seriously depressed trade. Values generally were 5s., and in many cases 7s. 6d. to 10s. per head worse on both hoggets and aged wethers. In fact, butcher's mutton may be reckoned a good ½d. to 1d. down, yet business remained limited, even for handy weights, while over-heavy sheep were the next thing to unsaleable. It would be difficult to say exactly what ewes, after lambs, should be quoted down; there were few buyers for them at any price, and generally they may be reckoned 20s. per head cheaper over the past fortnight, while for over-heavy sorts, that might have realised £5 10s. or £5 12s. 6d. then, nothing more than £4 2s. 6d. each was tenable this morning. Choice wether mutton 1s. 3d. to 1s. 5½d. per lb., medium around 12d. to 1s. 2d., and coarse, etc., 10d. to 11½d. per lb. For fat small lambs 46s. to 58s., and medium sized 60s. to 65s. was the average run of values. Several pens of small black-faced and horny lambs drew 44s. to 60s. and 62s.. Heavy lambs 68s. to 70s., and occasional special sorts 76s. to 80s. Small and thin lambs 35s. to 44s. Many owners sent their lambs home sooner than accept current prices.

DUBLIN PIG MARKET (N.C.R.).—Entrants of swine for sale on this morning totalled 796 head. Moderate attendance of buyers in evidence, including only two Northern men. Trade throughout proved slow and slumpy, but the small proportion of really choice bacon hogs on market were, nevertheless, quickly disposed of at near previous rates; otherwise, the trade was erratic, and prices, perhaps, 2/6 to 5/- per cwt. worse. Prime bacon hogs 94/- to 96/- and, perhaps, near 100/- in some cases. Pork hogs 88/- to 92/- and 94/-, coarser sorts around 80/- to 84/-, sow pigs 58/- to 68/- and 73/- per cwt. It was generally apparent that owners were dissatisfied with prices going, and many refused to sell.

DUBLIN DAIRY CATTLE (N.C.R.).—Approximately 309 exhibits of milch cattle offered. Trade in the main showed a distinct improvement on last week, but prices did not appreciably recover. In fact, it looked like as if owners after previous disappointing market were not disposed to drive too hard bargains if biddings came at all within reasonable touch with their views. Prime promising fresh young stockers £28 to £31 and £33, heavy cows £30 to £33, average local dairy cattle £19 to £26, and extras £27 each; small cows, etc., £14 to £18 each.

BRISTOL.—Beef in fair supply, best 110/- per cwt. dead weight; mutton moderate offering, 16d. to 17d. per lb., lamb 20d. to 22d. About 1,000 store cattle; trade quiet at unchanged prices. Milch cows £23 to £30 up to £40 for superior.

YORK.—Average show of Irish store cattle, but trade was rather worse in both this and English section, the hot weather adversely affecting the demand. It, however, slightly improved the demand for dairy cows owing to pastures beginning to be scorched, and trade was a little better. Sheep trade quiet, at little less money.

BIRMINGHAM.—Improved supply of pigs, trade very slow. The heat wave has limited inquiries, and values are lower in consequence. Sizeable bacons 17/- per score dead weight, down to 1/- less for any but the best; cutters a wide range, 15/- to 16/6, and sows 1/- easier at 11/-.

GRAIN.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES (The Baltic).—WHEAT—A dull tone pervaded the cargo section, and with sellers inclined to press, quotations were 6d. to 1/- per quarter lower. No. 1 Northern Manitoba June sellers 67/-, Victorian afloat 60/-, Western Australian ditto 60/-, June 61/-, Rosafe (63lbs.) June 61/3, Barusso (62lbs.) June 59/3. Parcels dull and easier; No. 1 Northern Manitoba July sold 63/9, August 64/3, Australian afloat 60/-, Rosafe (63lbs.) June sellers 61/- per 480lbs. MAIZE quiet and tendency easier. Plate steamers loading 40/-, May-June 38/9, June-July 5,500 tons sold 38/1½, No. 6 yellow African September-October quoted 36/9. Parcels quiet and easier; Plate May-June sellers 37/9, June-July 36/9 per 480lbs. BARLEY dull and nominally unaltered. OATS steady; Plate May-June sellers 25/9, June-July 25/6; No. 2 Canadian Western June 31/9, No. 3 do. 30/-, No. 2 white clipped American (38lbs.) June 26/9 per 320lbs.

BRISTOL.—English wheat 57/- to 59/-; foreign quiet, No. 1 Northern Manitoba 70/-. Grinding barley—No. 4 Canadian Western 38/-. Maize—Plate 43/6. Oats—No. 2 Canadian Western 34/-. Market thinly attended owing to haymaking.

LIVERPOOL CORN.—The severe decline in Winnipeg and Chicago, with bearish Russian crop accounts, caused forward deliveries of WHEAT here to give way heavily during early trading, and although a moderate recovery took place later on prices again receded in the absence of demand for actual wheat, and with weak, late afternoon cables final rates marked a heavy loss on the day, especially for October delivery, c.i.f. parcels. No. 2 Manitoba June sold at 62/-, and No. 1 Duluth June 60/-, to Liverpool, and No. 2 Manitoba afloat 62/7½, No 1 Duluth June 60/-, and No. 2 hard winter afloat 60/6 to 60/3, to Manchester. C.i.f. parcels MAIZE neglected. River Plate May-June quoted 37/3, June-July 36/3 per qr. WHEAT on the spot, neglected and nominal. Maize spot parcels quiet and easier, at 9/9 per cental for River Plate. FLOUR attracted little attention. Graded wheat futures opened 3⅝d. per cental lower, further declined ⅜d., then recovered fully ½d., but again receded, and after moderate fluctuations closed 5¼d. to 6¼d. per cental lower on the day. Maize options nominally 1d. per cental lower.

MANCHESTER.—Wheat—English slow, 56/6 to 58/- per qr. on rail. Foreign also shows easier tendency. Maize fairly steady; Karachi 10/4, flat white African 9/7 per cental. Oats dull, 10/6 to 10/9 per cwt. English feeding barley around 40/-. Beans 47/- to 47/6 per qr. on rail. Flour—Straight run about 1/- lower on the week.

PROVISIONS.

DUBLIN POTATO.—Only occasional prime lots of red soil potatoes in factors' hands are figuring around previous price. Generally prices for old potatoes have now become uncertain.

DUBLIN VEGETABLE.—Fair supplies of stuff on market; good early clearance. Features of sales—Cauliflowers 3/6 to 4/-, 5/- and 6/6 per dozen, York cabbage 25/- to 30/-, extras up to 40/- per load, ditto in bags 6/- to 7/-; new potatoes 3d. to 4d. per lb., lettuce 1/- to 3/- and 3/3 per dozen, tomatoes 1/- to 1/3 per lb., parsley 1/6 to 2/6 per tray, etc.; white turnips 8d. to 1/- per bundle, scallions 6d. to 8d. and 10d. ditto, carrots 2/- to 2/6 per dozen bundles, rhubarb 3/- to 6/- and 7/6 per ditto, radishes 4d. to 9d. per ditto, thyme 4d. to 8d., mint 2d. to 3d. per bunch.

DUBLIN FISH.—Although small deliveries from various sources came in, the market offered a good general supply of fish; weather much against trade, which was poor, and much stuff out of order useless. 38 packages of salmon, 14 chests of lobsters, 269 boxes of steamers' featured, 47 boxes of herrings, and 106 of mackerel featured. Salmon 2/- to 2/7 and 3/- per lb., lobsters 15/- to 20/- and 25/- per 13 best, and 2/6 to 7/6 and 10/- others; turbot 1/- to 16/-, brill 6d. to 6/- each, best soles 30/- to 35/- and 44/- per 9 pairs, others 5/- to 10/- and 17/6 per 9 pairs; plaice 3/- to 5/- and 6/- per 4, 6 and 8; half boxes of plaice 50/- to 65/-, flounders, etc., 10/- to 15/- up, white soles 16/- to 25/-, hake 20/- to 50/-, pollock 20/- to 30/-, ling 14/- to 25/-, haddocks 35/- to 45/-, conger eels 14/- to 20/-, ray 6/- to 10/-, herrings 5/- to 17/6, mackerel 5/- to 8/-.

CORK BUTTER.—The market remains unchanged; values firm. Creameries 165/- to 170/- per cwt.; choicest salted 168/- upwards, farmers' fresh packages 143/-.

COPENHAGEN BUTTER.—Weekly quotation—450 kroner per 100 kilos, approximately £8 14/9 per cwt., an increase of 9d. on the previous week.

LONDON CENTRAL MEAT (SMITHFIELD).—Supplies to market this day 1,942 tons, made up as follow—238 tons British and Irish produce and 1,704 tons imported. The undermentioned wholesale prices are based upon actual sales, and fairly reflect the day's run of prices of first and second grade meats—Offals, poultry, game, etc., per stone of 8lbs., or as otherwise indicated:—BEEF—Light supplies fresh killed in little demand at recent rates. FRESH OFFALS—Supplies light for quiet trade at recent values. Prices at stone of 8lbs. range as follows:—Ox heads 3d. to 1/-, hearts 1/8 to 2/3, livers 6/- to 6/8, tripe 3/4 to 3/8, kidneys 6/8 to 8/-, tongues 6/- to 7/4, tails 2/8 to 4/8, breads 6/- to 12/-, sheep's plucks 3/4 to 6/8, pigs' plucks 2/- to 3/4.

LIVERPOOL.—Irish BACON is firmly held, but Danish more freely offered at lower prices of 126/- to 128/- cwt. Canadian Wiltshires also easier in sympathy with Danish, being now offered at 106/- to 110/- per cwt. Holders of American selections of bacon here again offer sparingly owing to the limited supplies on hand and in prospective, but no further quotable change is made in values, the demand generally being of a moderate character. HAMS still meet a good demand owing to the continued brilliant weather, and prices are further raised to 118/- to 122/- for long cut, 115/- to 120/- short cut, and 134/- to 140/- extra skinned per cwt. Shoulders firm for squares at late rates, while picnics are nominal, with supplies practically exhausted. LARD on the spot 6d. cwt. lower in sympathy with easier c.i.f. quotations; prime steam now 88/- to 88/6, and American refined 88/- to 89/6 per cwt. CHEESE in fair demand, and again dearer, at 99/- to 101/- for New Zealand, and 94/- to 96/- cwt. Canadian. BUTTER firm, and Colonial dearer, at 180/- to 184/- for New Zealand, and 170/- to 174/- Australian. EGGS steady, at 12/3 to 13/6 Irish hen, and 12/6 to 13/- per 120, duck.

LIVERPOOL REFINED LARD "FUTURES."—Chicago finished worse than expected, and with less inquiry here during the early session, prices gave way partially 3d. per cwt. July sold at 88/- to 87/9, September 90/-, with June quoted 87/9 sellers. August 88/6 buyers, and October 90/- to 91/- per cwt. Afternoon cables were only the turn easier, and no further change took place, final rates being unchanged to 3d. below last night. September sold 90/-, July quoted 87/6 to 87/9, August 89/- sellers, and October 90/3 to 90/9 per cwt.

BILLINGSGATE FISH.—Supply liberal; demand fair. Salmon 32d. to 43d., soles 15d. to 21d., slips 11d. to 15d. per lb.; live eels 10/- to 25/-, dead 5/- to 15/- per draught, turbot 9/- to 15/-, brill 10/- to 13/-, plaice 8/- to 12/-, halibut 14/- to 16/-, lemon soles 9/- to 14/-, whitches 4/- to 7/-, cod 3/- to 6/-, hake 5/- to 7/-, skate 3/- to 4/-, haddocks 4/- to 6/- per stone.

PRODUCE.

LONDON.—SUGAR.—The undertone of the market ruled firm for actual sugars, with a good business passing in British standards at late rates. Imported fully steady, with offers from Continental refiners reservedly made. Czecho granulated spot quoted 30/-, ready 17/1¼ f.o.b. Hamburg. Dutch 3 ready 17/-, November-December 17/1¼ f.o.b. Rotterdam. American granulated to London June 17/6, and white Java June-July steamer 16/4¼ c.i.f. terms. Raw refining kinds quietly steady. White terminal active and firmer, though slightly irregular; August sold 16/9 to 16/10½ and 16/9, November 17/-, December 16/10½ to 17/1¼ and 17/0¾, March 17/3 to 17/3¾ and 17/0¾ per cwt. COFFEE—Spot market generally quiet, but prices steady for the better liquoring grades. Futures firmer; September 104/- per cwt. COCOA—Spot quiet; Accra firmer for shipment, and F/F grade June-July sold at 38/- per cwt. f.o.b. terms. RICE market unaltered, with a quiet demand; Rangoon two stars spot 15/6. Japanese peas spot 22/9 per cwt. Beans quietly steady. SPICE—Pepper maintained. Cloves firm, and Zanzibar October-December sold 10d. per lb. Sago Flour July-August sold 15/3 per cwt. TAPIOCA steady. JUTE market dull and easier, while Manila HEMP ruled quieter. COPRA steady, with moderate inquiries; F.M.S. Straits to Rotterdam April-June quoted £30, Ceylon June-July £31 7/6 per ton. PALM KERNELS to Liverpool April-June £21 3/9 per ton. RUBBER irregular, with a fair business in force. Plantation standard sheet spot sold 3/1½ to 3/1¼ and 3/1, June 3/1, July 2/10½ and 2/11¼. July-September 2/8 to 2/8½, October-December 2/4 to 2/4½ per lb.; first crepe spot to July sold at 2/9. Wild sorts quiet; fine hard Para spot sellers 2/4, soft fine 2/1, Caucho ball 2/-. To New York ribbed smoked sheet June-July sold 2/4 c.i.f. terms. OILS—Linseed spot quoted 45/6, July-August 44/6, and Sept.-December sold 44/7½ to 44/6. Rape—Crude spot 50/6, refined 53/6. Cotton—Crude Egyptian spot 42/6, Bombay 39/-, common edible 47/-. Coconut—Ceylon spot pipes 48/-, June-July 46/0. Turpentine firm; American spot 71/-, July-December 70/6 per cwt. Petroleum—American standard white spot 1/-, water white 1/1 gallon. OILSEEDS—Linseed market steadier, though buyers were somewhat reserved; Calcutta to London June-July quoted £22 7/6, bold Bombay ditto £23 7/6, Plate to Hull June-July £20 12/6, July-August sold £20 16/3. Rapeseed slow; Toria to Continent June-July quoted £22 10/-, real bold Ferozepore ditto £22 5/-, brown Cawnpore ditto £21 15/-. Cottonseed quiet; Egyptian black to Hull June £12 17/6, November-January £12 12/6, white June £12 7/6, November-January £12 2/6; Bombay June-July, also July-August, £10 per ton. TEA—At public sales 10,000 packages of Java were submitted, and met a generally quiet sale, withdrawals being frequent. Prices ruled steady for all the better liquoring grades, but other descriptions generally in buyers' favour; common sorts closed ½d. per lb. lower. Pekoe sold 9d. to 1/2, broken Pekoe 8½d. to 1/7, Pekoe-Souchong 10½d. to 1/1, orange Pekoe 11¾d. to 1/4½, and broken ditto 8¾d. to 1/9¼ per lb. in bond.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR.—Firm market and a good business doing at full to rather dearer prices.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BRADFORD WOOL.—Quotations for tops and yarns tend to weaken, owing to prolonged quietness of business. 64's tops can be bought at 52d. and 40's prepared at 20/1½. Unemployment increasing. Buyers all round waiting for lead from July sales. Fair amount of enquiry from Continent, but prices offered too low.

LIVERPOOL COTTON.—American—Values declined about 7 to 5 points at the opening on the overnight advices from New York, but improved afterwards on trade calling and local covering. In the afternoon there was a general advance in prices, due to increased spot sales and good American cables. At the close the tone was steady, with old crop months 12 to 10 points and new crop months 10 to 7 points up on the day. Egyptian closed very firm, principally on trade support. This season's months finished 50 to 35 points and next season's months 20 to 5 points up on the day. Spot market—American quiet and 17 points lower. Egyptian is unchanged. Brazilian quiet and 17 points lower. East Indian shows no change.

MANCHESTER HAY AND STRAW. — On Produce Exchange steady demand reported for best qualities, but inferior grades very slow. General quotations:—Lincolnshire rye grass and clover £6, Cheshire £5 5/- to £5 10/-, meadow hay £5 to £5 5/-; wheat straw 75/-, oat straw 70/- per ton, all delivered Manchester; prime Canadian hay sells freely £5 10/- per ton ex quay.

CRICKET.

LANCASHIRE DEFEAT GLAMORGAN.

Worcestershire made a wonderful recovery at Lord's yesterday. Losing four wickets for 67 in face of the Middlesex total of 437 a follow-on looked certain, but so well did the later batsmen do that the innings closed for 352. In the evening Middlesex lost 3 wickets for 86, and thus led by 171 with 7 wickets to fall.

Gloucestershire are in a hopeless position at Bradford, where, owing to weak batting, they still require 120 to avoid an innings defeat, and this with but 4 wickets in hand. Holmes just failed to reach his 1,000, falling to Hammond l.b.w. with but 8 added to his overnight score.

Derbyshire should record their second win this year to-day. Essex have three wickets down, Freeman is on the sick list, and are still 171 in arrear. Steady batting enabled Derbyshire to total 427, to which Norton contributed 131, making his third century in successive matches on the Leyton ground.

Hallows' batting and Macdonald's bowling laid the foundation of Lancashire's win against Glamorgan yesterday by 138 runs. Hallows completed his fifth hundred this season, and gave no chance until he skied a ball behind the wicket, and was caught. Macdonald was practically unplayable, and took his first five wickets for 34.

The lack of Geary—recurring arm trouble—proved a big handicap for Leicestershire, and the Kent batsmen had a good day at Blackheath, scoring 498 for 6 wickets. Centuries by Hardinge and Ashdown and three three-figure partnerships gave the visitors a heavy day in the field. Woolley hit very hard for a quickly scored 97, 60 of which came from boundaries.

Cambridge had a gruelling experience yesterday, being kept in the field all day by Notts. Payton's innings, clever and patient, was the feature of the day, and against the tired University bowling he and Richmond put on 117 for the ninth wicket.

SCHOOLS INTER-PROVINCIAL TRIAL.

With a view to assisting the selectors to pick a side to represent Leinster schools against Ulster schools a fortnight hence, a trial game was played yesterday on the Leinster ground, Rathmines. Owing to Wesley and Belvedere being engaged in a Cup match, none of their boys were available, but still two strong sides were got together, and some interesting cricket was witnessed. Thanks chiefly to a fine innings by Skeffington, who got 52 before retiring, "B" team beat "A" team by 5 wickets. Skeffington, who is a Sandford Park boy, displayed restraint at the start, but later on, gaining confidence, hit freely, his principal stroke being straight drives. Millikin batted confidently for the losing side. Aylward coming on late in the "A" innings, secured the last 3 wickets for 3 runs. The fielding on both sides was remarkably keen.

CASHEL SHOW.

BIG DISPLAY OF HORSES AND CATTLE.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

CASHEL, Wednesday.

In favourable weather the Cashel Agricultural and Industrial Show was inaugurated yesterday, in the premises of the Rosebower Dairy Company, a short distance from the Rock of Cashel. The fixture was a triumph of organisation. An influential Committee, with Dean Ryan, Parish Priest, as President; Dean Talbot as Vice-President, Mr. K. C. Fitzgerald as Chairman, and Mr. T. McLuskey as Hon. Secretary, had arranged a list of prizes which made a wide appeal, and liberal subscriptions in support of the venture were received from all sections of the community.

The entries, over 2,000 in number, far exceeded expectations, though in some of the classes the fixed prize money was increased by the Committee. In point of quality, the exhibits reached a high level of merit, and competition throughout was keen. In addition to being fair day in Cashel, the day was also a country holiday, and, being free from work, the farmers and their friends in town thronged the show. The attendance was well over six thousand. The show-field was planned in a most convenient manner, and viewed from the stand, at the top of the hill, when the attendance was largest, it presented an animated spectacle.

The Committee members, who acted as stewards, did their work thoroughly, and in this connection a special word of praise is due to the ladies.

The judges were as follow:—

Horses—Messrs. J. W. A. Harris, Tipperary; A. Hunt, Kilmacthomas; Joseph Higgins, Clonmel.

Cattle—Mr. D. Twomey, Dublin.

Sheep—Messrs. T. Robinson, Cahir, and William Fogarty, Clogheen.

Pigs—Mr. G. Gilligan.

Poultry and Eggs—Miss E. Hackett.

Butter—Messrs. A. Poole Wilson and W. P. Clifford.

HORSES.

There was a remarkably fine display of horses, some of the exhibits being fit to compete at any show. For thoroughbred brood mares, the first prize went to Mrs W. P. Ryan, for Glynn, a ten-year-old of great style, with a nice foal by Marlhill. T. A. Byrne was second, with a shapely chestnut—Princess Ida, by Prince Hermes; while Mr. C. Ryan was third, with Broken Tie, a nice brown mare by Santoi. A well-filled class for thoroughbred yearlings was headed by James O'Keeffe's Happy Warrior colt. Mr. James Ryan's brown filly by the same sire was second. For half-bred brood mares, premier honour went to Mr. E. Boyle, for Princess Royal, a good-barrelled matron by Anklebiter. Next came Mr. W. Cody's symmetrical four-year-old, Peggy, by Noble Chieftain; and third place was filled by Mr. John O'Donnell's good-boned, roomy, seven-year-old.

There was a big muster of two-year-olds likely to make hunters, and first place was taken by Mr. E. Boyle's Norah Magee, a brown daughter of Anklebiter. Mr. M. Coffey's Marten, a promising chestnut, was second. For three-year-olds or upwards, likely to make hunters, a particularly well brought out lot was headed by Mr. T. P. Kennedy's three-year-old bay gelding, Knockeevan, by Sir Roland. Second prize went to Mr. J. O'Dwyer's Fortunes of War, a four-year-old chestnut filly, by The Masher; while third place was taken by the Rev. R. C. Dunworth for Nimrod, a four-year-old chestnut gelding.

The Ardmayle Cup for four-year-olds or upwards, likely to make hunters, was won by Mr. N. T. Maher's The Rock, a five-year-old bay, of grand type and quality. Miss Corby's aged chestnut gelding, Killeens, was a good second, and the Rev. R. Dunworth's Nimrod was third.

A large entry of half-bred yearlings was headed by Mr. John Smith's Go On, a bay gelding of great promise, by Chehalier. Mr. P. Woodlock's bay colt, by the same sire, was second, and Mr. T. P. Kennedy's brown colt, Golden, third.

In the class for draught horses and carts Suttons, Limited, were first and second, and Mr. T. P. Kennedy third.

First prize for ponies 14.2 or under, went to Mr. S. Delany's Rocklow Password, a stylish bay stallion, by Braish Field Watch. Mr. John Delaney was second with his four-year-old Peggy, and Mrs. La Terriere third with a bay gelding Acorn by Corncob. In the class for ponies 13.2 or under, Mr. M. O'Regan was first, Mrs. Flynn's Dolly second, and Mr. P. O'Donnell's Captain third. The driving class for ponies, 14.2 or under, was headed by Mr. M. O'Regan's King's Own, Mr. D'Arcy's Rocklow Thyme being second.

CATTLE.

The cattle made a display that was a credit to the district, more especially in the section for dairy stock. In the farmers' class, for registered dairy cows, premier honour went to Mr. Darmoy's Grace, a nice roomy matron, with great bag. Mr. J. W. Hughes's roan Strawberry was second, and Mr. O'Donnell's roan Speck third, reserve going to Rockwell College for Maggie. In the calf class, Mr. T. N. Grene had a good leader in the roan Clonoulty Beauty, Mr. J. Mulcahy's Daisy being second, and Mr. Fryday's Ballyvister third.

For yearling bulls, out of a registered dairy cow, Major J. W. Hughes had a good first in Newbliss Joy Milkman, by Newbliss Augustus, out of a 920-gallon cow. Second place was filled by the Cashel Cow-Testing Association, with Mountheaton Baron. For yearling heifers of the same type Mr. M. O'Donnell led with Speck Third, a useful red and white, by Ballingor's Pride. Mr. F. N. Grene's Clounoulty Duchess, the daughter of a 964 gallon cow, was second, and the Rose Bower Dairy Company's Ruby English third.

For pedigree dairy bulls of any age Mr. M. F. Farrell's Bessborough Regulator, a son of the famous Bessborough Polonius, with milk on both sides of his pedigree, was first. Mr. J. Mulcahy's Cloughduv Revenue, a level, good-coloured red, by Baron Romoulus, was second, and Major Hughes was third with Newbliss Joy Milkman, first in the yearling class. Mr. E. Shine's Ballyglassin Lucky was reserved. Dairy cows which calved in 1925 were led by Mr. Darmody's Grace, Mr. P. Kerran's Kitty being second, and Mr. J. Murphy's Scully's Rancher third.

In the class for three-year-old dairy cows in milk, Mr. William O'Donnell's Beth was first, and Mr. Martin O'Donnell's Speck II. second. For calves of any breed, Mr. Green's Clonoulty Pink was first, Mr. J. Mulcahy's Daisy II., and Mr. Ryan's All Black were equal, second, and Mr. Kennedy's bull calf third. There was a pleasing entry of Kerry cows, and Mr. T. O'Connor was first with a matron of grand breed and character, with nice udder. Mr. J. Halpin's Biddy, another useful specimen of the breed, was second, and Lieutenant-Colonel Murphy's Pippin was reserved.

Herefords turned out well, the class for yearling bulls being headed by Mr. T. A. Byrne's Desmond, a typical member of the Adelaide family. Mr. M. F. Farrel's Exile, by Altenstown Renown, was second, and Mr. J. Ryan's Randlestown Senator, by Polar Star, third. At the head of this class for older bulls stood Mr. D. Mullin's Cordangan Hopeful Bachelor, a long level two-year-old of great quality, by Glynwood Hopeful. Mr. Joseph Cantwell's well-balanced bull was second. Mr. E. Heffernan's Rohilla third, and Mr. J. Quirke's Corballis Lion reserved.

There were six entries of Aberdeen Angus, and first prize went to Mr. M. Ryan's Slaney Boy, a low-set blocky youngster by Jerius. Mr. T. Ryall's Evans of Grallagh, a promising bull, by Evan of Eyrefield, was second, and Mr. M. O'Gorman's Oak Park Kismet third.

In the class for older Aberdeen Angus bulls, Mr. K. C. Fitzgerald was first with Eagle of Milford, by Ernest of Curragh; Mr. J. Ryan being second with Crown Jewel, and Mr. James Henry third with Gralla. For non-pedigree yearling bulls of shorthorn type, Mr. T. P. Kennedy was first, and for older non-pedigree bulls, Mr. M. O'Donnell's Rory was first, Mr. M. Darmody second, and Mr. M. McLoughrey third. For yearling heifers, any breed, Mr. Grene won all the prizes, while for two-year-old bullocks, Mr. P. J. Maher was first, and Mr. W. Cleary second. For two-year-old heifers, Mr. E. O'Dwyer was first, Mr. Grene second, and Mr. Martin O'Donnell third.

The cup for half-bred Angus steers went to Mr. J. Darmody, and Mr. J. O'Dwyer was second.

For pens of calves, Mr. Grene was first, Mr. Darmody second, and Mr. J. Myers third.

SHEEP.

The display in the sheep section was fairly good, but flock-owners here have yet a lot to learn in regard to selections before they reach the standard of merit that must be expected in this part of the country. The longwools were mostly of Lincoln type, while shortwools were chiefly Suffolk. For longwoolled rams, Mr. M. O'Neill was first and second, and Mrs. Sadleir third, while for longer woolled ewes, with two lambs, Mr. C. Ryan led, Mr. D. O'Keeffe was second, and Mr. M. O'Donnell third. First prize for shortwool rams went to Mr. K. C. Fitzgerald for a Suffolk, Mrs. McGrath being second, and Mr. Darmody's Shrop third. For ewes with lambs, in this section Mr. J. FitzGerald was first, Mr. M. F. Farrell second, and Mr. J. Myers third.

For ram lambs, any breed, Mr. C. Ryan was first, Mr. M. F. Farrell second, and Mrs. Sadleir third.

PIGS.

Pigs made a satisfactory display. For brood sows, Mr. K. C. FitzGerald was first. He led in the class for York boars with Deer Park Turk, Mr. Cope's Castledermot Wonder being second. For pure bred York sows, Mr. S. Cope was placed first and second with a pair of exceptional merit. For sows with litters, Mr. FitzGerald was first, Mr. O'Gorman second, and Mrs. O'Gorman third.

POULTRY.

In the poultry section the most successful exhibitors included Miss Anglim, Miss K. Maher, Miss M. Slattery, Miss R. Springfield, Miss M. F. Burke, Miss Ffrench-Blake, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. J. Breen, Mrs. K. McKeogh, Mrs. Hanrattan, and C. Woodlock.

BUTTER.

Butter was judged according to the standard of the best produce on the market, and the sample which secured the champion gold medal for Herbertstown Creamery, Knocklong, only failed to attain perfection by two points for flavour. Considering the fact that most of the butter shown had been in store for a week, the quality was extremely good, especially as regards the creamery exhibits. The farmers' butters, however, were poor.

Keen interest was taken in the industrial and horticultural sections.

JUMPING.

A big company assembled to watch the jumping. Music was provided by the Cashel brass band. The results were:—

Class 11.—First, and Gibson Cup—Mr. W. Tobin's Moondine; 2nd—Mr. John O'Brien's O'Donnell Abu; 3rd—Miss R. Springfield's Croughane.

Class 12. — 1st — Miss Springfield's Croughane; 2nd—Mr. J. O'Brien's O'Donnell Abu; 3rd—Mr. J. Kelly's H.

Class 12A.—1st—Mr. J. Kelly's H; 2nd—Dr. Coffey's Kaper; 3rd—Mr. D. Morrissey's Silvertail.

There was also a display of Irish dancing.

DUBLIN AND THE PROVINCES.

DUBLIN.

Licence Law Too Drastic.—Bryan McGilly, spirit grocer and beer dealer, Cabinteely road, was summoned at Kingstown yesterday for selling porter to a girl under 18 years of age. The defendant stated that the girl said that her sister was dying and that her mother was unable to come. The magistrate said that this was one of those cases which, according to the Act, required an endorsement of the licence. He thought that these provisions were too drastic altogether. There were no previous convictions, and he dismissed the case under the Probation Act.

Lakelands Fête.—Surgeon McArdle opened the Lakelands fête at the Iveagh Gardens, Dublin, yesterday. The fête, he said, was being held in aid of the Lakelands Orphanage at Sandymount, an institution which was deserving of the highest praise. It was conducted by the Sisters of Charity, and the earnestness and success of their work was reflected in the bright eyes of the children under their care. Every good work was deserving of support, and he urged that among all the good works performed in Dublin, there was none equal to that of the Sisters of Charity. The fête will be continued to-day and to-morrow.

Kingstown Betting Case.—Bernard Byrne, 45 Dominick street, Kingstown, was fined £8 at Kingstown yesterday for using certain premises for betting. A solicitor said that it was very hard to say anything in the case. Magistrate—"Except that the law should be altered." It was pointed out that bets could legally be made by telegram, telephone, and letter. Edward Dowd was fined £5 for street betting.

Fines for Fast Motoring.—The Kingstown magistrate yesterday fined two motorists £6 and £5, respectively, for driving their cars at 30 miles an hour. A motor cyclist was fined £2 10s. for driving at 34 miles an hour.

PASSENGERS BY B. AND I. LINE, VIA LIVERPOOL.

Brenden Keegan, J. Sullivan, R. White, Mrs. E. A. Mallon, Miss Lynam, Miss Sherlock, J. Warburton, W. Butler, J. Cuddy, T. Cronhelm, R. Winterbottom, N. H. Wallace, Hugh Wallace, Miss Jackson, Miss Vaughan, Miss Wisdom, E. J. Holbrook, A. Murphy, J. Cockburn, Colonel and Mrs. H. L. Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Le Boutillier, T. McKenzie.

LEINSTER.

Prison for Cruelty.—For working a donkey suffering from sores Philip Martin was fined 40s. or a month's imprisonment, at Longford, but when a second charge was preferred against him the magistrate said, "I'll revise my previous sentence and make an order that he be imprisoned for one month without the option of a fine." Patrick Keane, of Trehora, charged with a similar offence, was fined 40s. or a month's hard labour.

Warrant for Witness's Arrest.—When Robert Farrelly, described as of Dublin, was charged in Longford on Wednesday with uttering a false cheque for £107 at a fair, the police said that Peter Byrne, stated to have given his address as Rathmines, whose name was on the cheque, was evading attendance as a witness. The bench granted a warrant for his arrest.

Council Without Funds.—It was stated, at a meeting of the Tullamore Urban Council on Wednesday, that there were no funds to pay the road workmen, as the limit of the bank overdraft, £2,500, had been reached. The Government owed a grant of £720 and a balance of another grant of £220. The work had been done, but the grants had not been paid. It was decided to request the Government to pay the amounts due and to extend the bank overdraft limit.

Fish Poachers' Bag.—Andrew Quinlan was fined £10 and Thomas Flynn £5 at Clara, King's County, on Wednesday, for illegally fishing with a net. The police found the defendants on the bank of the river with four trout, eighteen pike and two perch.

Wool at 9d.—A large quantity of wool weighed at Newbridge realised 9d. a pound. A large number of Co. Kildare farmers are withholding their supplies in anticipation of better prices.

Railway Gates Left Open.—M. G. Meunier was fined 5s. and costs at Longford on Wednesday for refusing to close a gate at a railway crossing near Black Bridge, Longford. There has been much litigation with the railway company over a claim to a right of way.

P.P. of Monasterevan.—The Rev. P. Gorry, parish priest of Carlow, has been appointed parish priest of Monasterevan, Co. Kildare, in succession to the late Very Rev. E. Kavanagh.

MUNSTER.

Maintenance of Soldier Lunatics.—The Ministry of Local Government has informed the Limerick Mental Hospital Committee that, under the Defence Forces Act, 1925, the Minister of Defence is empowered to commit insane soldiers to mental hospitals on the same conditions as apply to civilian patients. The Clerk informed a meeting of the Committee that in future, therefore, the maintenance of soldier patients will be charged to the local rates, and not to Government funds, as heretofore.

18 Months' Old Fishery Offence.—Laurence Ryan, who, it was stated, had been "on the run," but now attended voluntarily, was fined 20s. at Limerick yesterday for spearing fish in the Bilbow River, Doon, in December, 1923.

Limerick Bank Official Transferred.—Mr. Herbert Dawson, sub-manager of the Limerick branch of the Munster and Leinster Bank, has been appointed manager of the Rathdowney, Queen's County, branch.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

Northern Naval Volunteers.—A step in the progress of the new Ulster Division of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve is the announcement that its commanding officer, Captain the Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, D.S.O., is to join H.M.S. Royal Sovereign on July 11 for 14 days' training. Lord Dufferin was gazetted to his command on the constitution of the Division on April 1, 1924, and in going afloat for sea experience, he comes into line with the other R.N.V.R. captains, who have all completed various periods of naval training, and two of whom—the Marquess of Graham (Scottish Division) and H. Douglas King, M.P. (London)—have passed the Board of Trade examination in navigation. The Royal Sovereign, Captain B. St. G. Collard, D.S.O., belongs to the Second Battle Squadron, Atlantic Fleet, and on July 11 should be at Lamlash, leaving there in time to arrive at Portland by July 20.

Returned American Killed.—A verdict of accidental death was returned at an inquest, in Limavady yesterday, into the death of Thomas Larkin, aged 56, who was killed by the overturning of a motor car. Larkin, who was a native of Magherafelt, went to America forty years ago, and became a publican. He returned to this country last Sunday. The motor car was found overturned on the road, with two, of the three, occupants pinned beneath it. A doctor expressed the opinion that all three were under the influence of drink.

Borrowed Driving Licence. — Thomas Dawson Sullivan, Ravenhill road, Belfast, was, at Tanderagee, County Armagh, yesterday, fined 10s. for being drunk while in charge of a motor car, 20s. for reckless driving, and 5s. for driving without a licence. It was explained that the defendant, who had recently returned from Canada, borrowed his brother's licence, and the brother, James, who said that he did not think that it was wrong to lend the licence, was fined 6d. for doing so.

Weapons in Country Fight.—A churn lid, graip, pitchfork, sticks and stones were alleged to have been used in a fight between neighbours at Altadavin, in respect of which Clogher magistrates on Tuesday bound over John McKenna, Patrick McKenna, sen.; Ellen McKenna, his daughter, and Ellen Shields, all of Altadavin, to keep the peace.

Downpatrick Council's Chairman.—Colonel Perceval Maxwell D.S.O., of Finnibrogue, in consequence of his recent accident in the hunting field, asked to be relieved of the chairmanship of Downpatrick Rural Council, which qualifies for membership of Down County Council, and Mr. Hugh Brown, J.P., has been appointed in his stead.

"12th" on the 13th.—July 12 falls on a Sunday. Fermanagh enthusiasts will celebrate the occasion on the 13th at Kesh, Maguiresbridge and Derrygonnelly.

Belfast Philharmonic Society.—It was reported to the fifty-first annual meeting of the Belfast Philharmonic Society on Wednesday that the season had been worthy of the best traditions of the Society. At the special jubilee concert, chorus and orchestra attained a higher standard of performance than ever before. The conducting of Sir Henry Wood on that occasion invested the concert with an unwonted charm and attraction. The Lord Mayor said that it was a pity that the season ended with a loss of £30. They might not regard that as serious, but people who admitted the charm of music might support the Society in larger numbers, either as members or subscribers.

Resurfacing Derry Streets.—Londonderry Corporation has accepted two tenders at £32,451 and £11,345 for re-surfacing roads with four inches of asphalt macadam in some cases, and four inches of bituminous surfacing in others.

Fermanagh Agricultural Committee has made a grant of £60 to the Fermanagh Farming Society, and £5 each to the Clogher Valley and Clones Shows.

Mr. John Donnelly, Willowbank Gardens, Belfast, a member of the Technical Staff, City Surveyor's Department, City Hall, has passed the final examination of the Institution of Civil Engineers.

Thousands of ladies keep a box of Martin's pills in the house. Those who use them recommend them, hence their enormous sale. Price 5s. Sold by all Chemists and Stores; or post free from Proprietors, Martin, Chemists, Southampton.—(Advt.)

"RETURN WITH EASE OF MINDS."

ARCHBISHOP'S MESSAGE TO ABSENT IRISHMEN.

MOVEMENTS TOWARDS CHRISTIAN REUNION.

The Archbishop of Dublin, in his address at the opening of the annual meeting of the Glendalough and Kildare Diocesan Synods yesterday, spoke at length on the subject of Christian re-union. Before opening the subject, however, Dr. Gregg gave his view that those former members of the Synod who had left the country need have no hesitation about returning.

The Archbishop said that, although normal conditions had been restored, he was sorry to think that a good many country houses which had not suffered damage remained unoccupied, or were likely to become so. He did not know why that should be in a part of the country so favoured as County Wicklow and County Kildare. "I hope," continued the President, "that we may soon see the return of many of those who have left Ireland. I know of no reason why those who like a country life should not return with ease of minds."

Income tax, he said, was now at the British rate, and, with regard to the bogey of double taxation, he could only quote his own experience that his claim made in April was settled by the Inland Revenue authorities in London within a month of its being lodged. In the process of rounding off their separate financial system a number of vexatious little imposts had been introduced. But it was the cumulative annoyance they caused, rather than their cost in the aggregate, that was likely to be one of the elements turning the scale against taking up life in Ireland again for one who was weighing the question.

Nevertheless, Ireland was settling down, and there were many to whom Ireland at peace ought to offer attractions for outweighing these minor disadvantages. (Hear, hear.)

RE-UNION PROBLEMS.

IMPORTANT SERIES OF CONFERENCES.

The Archbishop proceeded to refer to the subject of movements towards the re-union of Christendom. They would remember that the Episcopal Church in America (with which the Church of Ireland was in full communion) set on foot some years ago, in 1910, a movement towards a conference on faith and order, the aim of which was to be the friendly examination of the differences between the Christian Churches throughout the world, and the determination of what were the fundamental points of unity upon the common acknowledgment of which a re-united Christendom might be established.

During the following ten years, 1910 to 1920, organisation of the movement was proceeding both by way of interesting the various Churches in the proposal and by way of leading the Churches to study the need and conditions of re-union. In August, 1920, a preliminary conference assembled in Geneva, attended by representatives of seventy autonomous Churches from forty nations. He himself was present at this conference, together with Colonel Charles Pepper, as clerical and lay representatives of the Church of Ireland Commission.

But an even greater event in 1920 was the appeal to the Churches which was sent out from the conference of Anglican bishops, 240 in number, which met at Lambeth in July of that year. This appeal, communicated to the sundered Churches of the Christian world, sought to move, and did, he believe, in some measure succeed in moving, the imagination of a large part of Christendom, by setting forth the great ideal to which our Lord pointed when He prayed that they might all be one, and by suggesting the intensive study of re-union problems by means of conferences between the Christian Churches.

CO-OPERATION IN DUBLIN.

Prolonged and earnest attention had been given to the subject in England by committees of members of the Church of England and of other Churches, and important reports had been issued. They in Ireland had had for many years periodical meetings of the metropolitan clergy of their own Church and of the Presbyterian Church. And leading members of the same two Churches, appointed in a more authoritative way, had examined the problem of the relations and the differences between the two Churches in Ireland. A great deal of useful work had been done in what had seemed to him to be a most cordial spirit.

One of the first steps towards a rapprochement—let alone a re-union—of the divided Churches was that they should get to know one another better. (Laughter.) In fact, if men were ever to come to see eye to eye with one another, it was essential that, first of all, they should see one another face to face. The result of the various conferences had not yet materialised in any corporate re-union between Episcopal and non-Episcopal Churches.

Various concordats had been proposed and discussed, but it would be unreasonable to expect that historic divisions, resting not merely on accidental circumstances, but differences of principle, could be bridged over after a few conversations. He was rather inclined to think that local conferences had, for the moment, done all that one could expect of them, and that those in different camps, having learnt the minds of those from whom they are separated, and the strength of the conviction with which they hold their special points of view, must reconcile themselves to a period of quiescence, during which the lessons learned might be assimilated in private. In such delicate matters as these it was desirable that every step forward should be planted on ground prepared by solid thinking.

THE MALINES CONFERENCES.

Proceeding, Dr. Gregg said that he could not leave this subject without a reference to a series of conferences which had aroused considerable interest and, he might add, no small uneasiness, not confined to one side only. He referred to the discussions which had taken place at Malines between certain members of the Church of England and certain members of the Roman Catholic Church, with the goodwill of Cardinal Mercier. The latest of such conferences was held last month, its object being (if he might translate words of Cardinal Mercier which appeared in La Libre Belgique of May 19) stated as follows:—

"For the fourth time some Anglican theologians will come to Malines, under the patronage of their two Archbishops of Canterbury and York (1) to meet there a group of [Roman] Catholic theologians; and (2) to examine in a friendly way with them the problem of the re-union of the Churches, so anxiously being studied among the Anglo-Saxons."

Now, it ought to be understood, proceeded the Archbishop, that the Lambeth Conference fully recognised that, if discussions with other Churches were to be encouraged and welcomed, discussion with the Church of Rome on the subject of re-union should also be welcomed should that Church desire it. The Lambeth Conference fully recognised that a re-union which did not ultimately include the great Latin Church of the West would be a re-union which did not fulfil the whole Divine purpose. But, at the same time, it ought to be understood fully that the conferences to which he now referred were conversations and not negotiations. Although they were held with official knowledge, they could not be called in any true sense official. The Anglican members of these conferences were individuals whose utterances could bind nobody but themselves, but who desired, and were qualified, to present the historical Anglican position and claims and to discuss the great doctrinal questions at issue between England and Rome.

INDIVIDUALS WITHOUT AUTHORITY.

The individuals he referred to belonged to one wing of the Church of England, and have no authority to commit the Church of England in any way, much less any other Church, such as their own, in communion with the Church of England. To conversations carried on under such acknowledged limitations he himself could see no ground of objection. On the other hand, if conversations were steadily refused, the Church of England could not complain if the Church of Rome continued to misunderstand the position to which it had consistently witnessed. That there must be disloyalty to their Church in the holding of such discussions he refused altogether to allow.

Although the Anglicans concerned were not officially appointed delegates, yet they were acting with official cognisance, and, in his judgment, it would be as improper to charge with disloyalty to his country a British Ambassador to a foreign Court as it would be to impute disloyalty to his Church to an Anglican Churchman engaged on such a mission with proper recognition.

Of the hopefulness of such conferences many would certainly be very dubious; but of the Christian propriety of entering into them for the purpose of giving and receiving information regarding one another's positions, he did not think so many would be in doubt. "That they all may be one" was a distant and well-nigh unimaginable ideal for them to-day.

In fact, so tremendous were the differences between them that he for his part could not see how reconciliation was to be conceived, much less arrived at. He was tempted to recall George Meredith's epigram that "the poles cannot meet till the earth between them is crushed." But for all that, who were they that they should prescribe limits to the working of the Holy Ghost? "That they all may be one" was the Christian ideal, and in spite of difficulties he looked with interest and without apprehension on a movement which sought the guidance of the Holy Spirit of Truth and Unity.

THE STOCKHOLM CONFERENCE.

Returning to the subject of the world conference on Faith and Order, he said that the latest information he had received on the subject was to the effect that a strong feeling prevailed in the circles concerned with the preparations for the conference, that it should not be postponed to a later date than 1927, and that the place of meeting should be in Europe, if possible, perhaps, at The Hague. A great amount of material for discussion had already been prepared, but opinions differed as to whether a conference held in 1927 could be expected to have finality. There were many who felt that such a conference should inevitably prove to be only of a preparatory nature, and that it would need to be followed by another conference, or even other conferences after the lapse of some years.

In this connection it might interest them to know that there was to be held in Stockholm in August a conference representative of the Communions of the Church of Christ, the object of which was to concentrate the thought of Christendom upon the contribution of Christianity to the settlement of the great social, industrial and international questions which were uppermost to-day. Five hundred delegates from various parts of the world would be the guests of the Swedish Government, and of these 135 were invited from the British Empire.

There were to be two delegates from Ireland, and he hoped to attend as representative of the Church of Ireland. During the ten days of the conference, which would meet under the presidency of Archbishop Soderblom of Upsala, the minds of those assembeld would be directed to the application of Christian ethics and the spirit of Christ to present day problems. There was no intention of touching problems of corporate reunion; the conference would meet in the recognition that the various Communions were bound together by many ties of common belief and practice, and in the assurance that effective co-operation on the basis of the unity of spirit already existing was possible to an extent and over a range of subjects not at present contemplated.

Unity in service was practically realisable for Christians long before unity in visible organisation was anything but a dream. (Hear, hear.)

REPORTS ADOPTED.

The Dean of Kildare, in moving that the diocesan report be taken into consideration, said that the total contributions last year had fallen by £200, but the amount paid was not by any means small—£18,000, which was 30s. per head of the church population.

The report was adopted.

Canon Graham proposed the adoption of the temperance report, and said that a great change had come over the question of temperance. The clergy did not take the interest that they should in it. Many prominent clerical members of the Synod refused to act on the Committee—some of them with wrath and anger. The drinking habit was ruining the intelligence and minds of the people of the country, and they could not afford that. That was the reason that the question was not one for the Churches, but for the ordinary business man, and that was the reason also why the clergy had dropped out of the battle.

The report was adopted.

The report of the Board of Missions, showing that Glendalough had contributed £1,469 15s. 5d.—an increase of £30 on the previous year; and that Kildare had contributed £686 11s. 1d.—a decrease of £31 14s. 2d. on the previous year—was adopted.

The following were elected members of the Diocesan Courts:—

Glendalough—Clerical—Archdeacon of Glendalough, Canon Weir, Canon Moore. Lay—Major Wellesley, his Honour J. H. Moore and Mr. W. T. Kirkpatrick.

Kildare—Clerical—Archdeacon of Kildare, Dean of Kildare, and Canon Graham. Lay—His Honour Judge Wakely, Lieutenant-Colonel de Burg, and Mr. G. Leycester Penrhyn.

The meeting then ended.

General O'Duffy reached Dublin last night on his return from America. On his arrival at the Civic Guards Dépôt, Phœnix Park, there was a parade in the square, and the band played "Welcome Home."

NORTH DERRY SHOW

FINE ENTRY OF CATTLE.

Delightful weather favoured North Derry Agricultural Society's annual Show at Coleraine yesterday. Over six thousand people from the counties of Antrim and Derry were present. Horses were slightly less numerous than last year, owing to the backward state of work in the fields, but cattle were an exceptionally strong lot. Some of the exhibits had done well already at other leading Ulster shows. One of the judges described the dairy cows and shorthorns as the finest lot seen anywhere for years.

All the other sections were well filled, particularly the dog section, the entries for which were the largest yet received locally.

The judges in the horse and cattle sections were: Messrs. Allan Clark, Fife; J. Clarke, Navan; H. McConnell, Armagh; George Hoey, Caledon; W. R. Cresswell, Belfast. Sheep and Swine—Messrs. W. Cumming, Inverness; and J. Short, Beragh.

HORSES.

Cups were won in the horse classes by Adam Herbison, Ballymena; Dr. Law, Coleraine; George Chesney, Portglenone; John Bamber, Ballymena; John Warwick, Belfast; M. and S. Mark, Myroe; and John Morris.

Other winners of first prizes were:—J. Drennan, Limavady; Mrs. Lane Atkinson, Limavady; James K. McCollum, Drumcoon; Hugh A. McCallister, Ballycastle; Miss E. White, Dervock; John Hart, Dambead.

CATTLE.

In the cattle section Cups were won by:—P. and J. Teadley, Coleraine; Robert Lyons, Dervock; Captain Stronge, Aghadowey; James Dunlop, Coleraine; William Jackson, Coleraine; John Wallace, Dunloy; James McCracken, Drumcoon; and W. J. Shannon, Limavady.

The championship was won by John Wallace, with a fine shorthorn bull.

The other principal prize-winners in the cattle section were:—Samuel S. Young, Bellemont; William Lyons, Ballyboggie, Dervock; A. Traill, Bushmills; Mrs. Currie, Cloyfin; James Dunlop, Carnaboy; Hugh Patterson, Drumadraw; John McKee, Coleraine; M. S. Moore, Molenan, Londonderry; Rev. H. S. Verschoyle, Portstewart; W. J. McKeenan, Kilrea; Hugh Nevin, Dervock; John M. Mark, Limavady; Eric Moody, Ballinree; Sir Francis MacNaghten, Bushmills; John K. McCollum, Drumcoon; J. Black, Coleraine; H. Black, Ballyvelton; W. J. McKeenan, Kilrea; Dr. James Taylor, Dervock; J. R. Dunlop, Ballyversal.

Cups in the sheep section were secured by the Rev. R. J. McElmoyle, Dervock; J. H. Crowe, Letterloan; David Gibson, Ballymena.

First prizes also went to Samuel Shannon, Limavady, and J. E. McGaughan, Armoy.

OTHER SECTIONS.

The chief winners in other sections were:—

Swine—William J. McElroy, Londonderry; Walter Osborne, Londonderry; Matthew Black, Aghadowey; J. Crowe, Letterloan.

Dogs—Mrs. Nelson, Dromore, Co. Down; Mrs. Bradley, Coleraine; Miss E. J. Fair, Berwick-on-Tweed; David Leslie, Glyn; Mrs. Houston, Kilrea; Mrs. Ferran, Belfast; Robert Crawford, Tynan, Armagh; Mrs. R. S. Heron, Katesbridge, Co. Down; Captain Stephenson, Derry; P. J. O'Callaghan, Omagh; D. Alfred Woods, Strabane; Rev. J. Levis, Omagh; Miss R. McKee, Bangor; A. R. Anderson, J. R. Jackson, Coleraine; James Wright, Belfast; Richard Dogherty, Derry; J. McIlwaine, Lurgan; M. Short, Belfast; R. Grant, Ballymena; R. B. Thomson, Ballymoney; S. G. Fenton, Downpatrick; Mrs. C. N. Jackson, Coleraine; Mrs. Alice Maguire, Cloughjordan; Mrs. C. G. Godfree, Carnew, Co. Wicklow; R. D. Wilson, Craigavad, Co. Down; C. E. Bodham, Belfast; H. McGrath, Limavady; J. A. Reid, Coleraine; S. C. Young, Bellemont; A. H. Oliphant, Dublin; J. McBurney, Belfast; M. Sloan, Antrim; Jas. Wilson, Belfast; Allen and Stevenson, Londonderry; Miss Hope Johnstone, Lisburn; M. Moore, Limavady; Miss J. J. K. Champion Stone Wall—1, 2, and 3, J. Bamber.

Riding for Style and General Appearance—1, John Bamber; 2, Alexander Boyd, Ballymoney; 3, Jas. Glenn, Coleraine.

During the day Mr. Andrew Clarke, D.L., the President, entertained the judges, officials and others to lunch.

SUDDEN DEATH AT CHURCH MEETING.

TORONTO, Wednesday.

A note of tragedy marred this morning's consummation meeting of the United Church of Canada. While the great congregation of 8,000 people were singing the processional hymn, Mr. J. C. Crowe, aged 72, Registrar of Welland County, Ontario, who was a spectator in the gallery, collapsed, and, in spite of the efforts of physicians and nurses, died from a heart attack.—(Reuter.)

DOCTORS WHO SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION

Doctors know that most cases of digestive disturbance are due to acidity, and so, when they themselves get an attack of stomach pain, they obtain instant relief by taking a simple, harmless antacid preparation—Bisurated Magnesia. If you suffer after eating; if food lies like lead on your stomach, causing distress and keeping you awake at night, get a package of Bisurated Magnesia and take just after meals, or whenever pain is felt. You'll say, with the doctors, that this treatment may be cheap and simple, but there's nothing to beat it anywhere, at any price. Get some from your chemist now.

Can you do this in the morning?

EACH morning when you brush your hair, do you find your hair-brush full of fallen hairs? It is a sign that should never be neglected, for it is a warning that baldness is threatening you.

Falling hair is caused by malnutrition, due to the blood that feeds the hair roots being deficient in the elements that make hair grow. Continued malnutrition is bound to mean serious trouble.

Over 2,000 doctors have proved that there is only one way to restore these elements to the blood, the wonderful Hair Food Humagsolan. Even in cases of almost total baldness its effects are extraordinary. From the moment the treatment is commenced the hair stops falling out, bald patches disappear and vigorous, healthy growth takes place. Complete success has been known in a fortnight, but it can practically be guaranteed in a month. But do not neglect the matter. Humagsolan is just as valuable for preserving and beautifying even the best head of hair. It is a wonderful hair tonic. Ask your chemist for a bottle to-day.

Hu-mag-so-lan

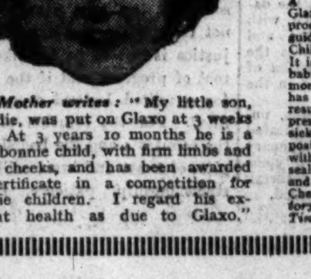

Full month's treatment 12/6. Smaller sizes, 5/9 & 6/9. From all Chemists, Druggists and Stores, or from Humagsolan, Ltd., 10, Charing Cross Rd., London.

A Complete Food—

BENGER'S Food for INFANTS, INVALIDS & the AGED.

Benger's is so highly nutritious that athletes use it in training, so delicious that invalids and delicate or aged persons enjoy it always.

Sold in tins by all Chemists. Prices: 1/4; 2/3; 4/-; 8/6.

His Mother writes: "My little son, Claudie, was put on Glaxo at 3 weeks old. At 3 years 10 months he is a fine, bonnie child, with firm limbs and rosy cheeks, and has been awarded a Certificate in a competition for bonnie children. I regard his excellent health as due to Glaxo."

Glaxo has been used in Five Royal Nurseries. These Royal Babies could have had Grade "A" or Certified Milk, for price was no object. Why was Glaxo chosen? Doubtless because, next to mother's milk, Glaxo is the best. Your baby is a King to you, and must have the best—Glaxo—the Food Royal Babies have.

HUMANISED (Prescription) GLAXO

A special form of Glaxo which has been produced under the guidance of eminent Children's Specialists. ## MOTOR BUILDING IN DUBLIN.

During the hearing of an action in the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy urged the desirability of having motor bodies manufactured in Ireland. He referred to the splendid carriage work that was done in Dublin in former years, and said that he had gone out of his way to see if that work could not be recovered in connection with the manufacture of motor bodies.

Mr. Shannon, K.C., said that he had seen a splendid motor body made in Dublin.

Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy said that, of course, any person who wanted a motor body could get it made in Dublin, but what he meant was that they should be made commercially in large numbers. Dublin in the past made carriages for all parts of Ireland, and he did not see why motor bodies should not be made now.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

DETENTION OF IRISH CATTLE.

In the Dail yesterday, Mr. N. Wall asked the Minister for Lands and Agriculture if he were aware that the twenty-eight days' detention which Irish cattle had still to undergo in England was causing great inconvenience to Irish cattle-dealers and serious loss to Irish farmers, and if he would consider the advisability of making representations to the British Department of Agriculture, with a view to having the detention period abolished or at least materially reduced.

The Minister, in reply, stated that the department was keeping in close touch with the British Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries, and would continue to press the matter. It was hoped that a reduction of the retention period might be secured in the early future.

The disease position in England was, unfortunately, not so satisfactory as indicated in the question. Between the 3rd January and 30th May, 1925, there were twenty-one outbreaks, and only last week an outbreak was notified, though it was not confirmed.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

The Senate yesterday passed a resolution on the question of divorce. A remarkable speech was made by Dr. W. B. Yeats.—(Page 7.)

When a vote for the Ministry of Education was taken in the Dail yesterday protests were made against the absence of the chief of the department.—(Page 7.)

The maximum shade temperature in Dublin yesterday was 73, with thirteen hours' sunshine. Cooler, but fine, weather is predicted.—(Page 7.)

A political crisis on the teaching of religion in the schools is developing in Northern Ireland.—(Page 7.)

The Dublin Corporation has abandoned its scheme for supplying electrical energy from the Liffey owing to the opposition of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce to the scheme.—(Page 9.)

At a meeting in Dublin yesterday an association was formed the object of which is to prevent the destruction of game by unauthorised persons in Leinster.—(Page 8.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

Mr. Baldwin, in the House of Commons last night, announced a scheme of Colonial Office reform, which includes the appointment of a Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, with a Parliamentary Under-Secretary who will act as Chairman of the Overseas Settlement Committee, and a permanent Under-Secretary of State.—(Page 7.)

The House of Commons last night passed a resolution imposing an ad valorem duty of 33⅓ per cent. on lace imported into Great Britain and Northern Ireland.—(Page 8.)

ABROAD.

Following serious anti-foreign disturbances at Hankow, rioters attacked the British Volunteer Armoury, and as the use of the fire hose proved unavailing, machine-gun fire was opened, and eight persons were killed and a number wounded.—(Page 8.)

SPORTING.

At Gowran Park yesterday Royal Orb won the Park Plate, Warfate the Summer Plate, Gowran Girl the Tetratema Cup, Simon Orb the Castle Plate, Tantiderry the Maiden Steeplechase and Pomponious the Country Plate.—(Page 10.)

At Newbury Santorb won the Newbury Summer Cup.—(Page 10.)

At Beverley Duvet won the Watt Memorial Plate.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were very quiet, and British Funds drooped; even Rubber Shares sagged.—(Page 11.)

Money was in ample supply in Lombard street at 3¾ per cent. for overnight loans. Discount rates were easier.—(Page 11.)

Dublin Stock Market was quiet and irregular. Dublin Distillers Ord. further weakened. Bank Stock fell a point. Rails were harder, especially Great Southern Ord., and National Loan ¼ lower.—(Page 11.)

Divorce in the Free State.

The tangle which the problem of divorce has created in the Free State Legislature is not relieved by yesterday's discussions in the Senate. Nearly eighteen months ago the Joint Committee on Standing Orders reported that the procedure in connection with bills of divorce was "unsatisfactory from every point of view," and asked for a definite ruling from the Oireachtas concerning the conditions on which bills carrying the right of remarriage should be received. The Dail's reply was a resolution, passed on President Cosgrave's motion, which asked the Joint Committee to propose such changes in the Standing Orders as would prohibit the introduction of bills of divorce a vinculo matrimonii. In other words, the Dail sought to deprive subjects of the Free State of a right which is guaranteed by the State's Constitution and is inherent in citizenship of the British Empire. When this resolution came up to the Senate, in February last, the Chairman, Lord Glenavy, ruled it out of order on the ground that the Constitution could not be altered by mere resolution of Parliament. Yesterday the Joint Committee's report of February, 1924, came before the Senate, but, by a vote of twenty-three against ten, the discussion was adjourned until the House had considered a motion that was proposed by Senator Douglas and seconded by Senator Brown, K.C. This motion, which was carried by fifteen votes to thirteen, proposes, in brief, that bills for divorce a vinculo matrimonii must be read a first time in each House before they can make further progress in the Senate. Thus a way of retreat from its impossible resolution is offered to the Dail; but, of course, the position of candidates for divorce, with the right to re-marry, is in no way improved. The Senate probably would give a first reading to divorce bills of this kind, but the Dail, as now constituted, certainly would refuse it. Once again, therefore, the door of hope is banged in the faces of a minority, minute but miserable, of the Irish people. We may suppose that, when the adjourned debate on the Joint Committee's report is taken next week, the Senate will give its "definite ruling" in the terms of Senator Douglas's resolution.

We recognise the enormous and painful difficulties of the situation. On the one side are the Free State citizen's guaranteed right to rebuild his life after the wreck of a disastrous marriage, and the deep conviction of many citizens that the exercise of such right is no offence against the Divine Law. On the other side are the clear and strong teachings of the Church of the large majority of the Irish people. It is a fact that the members of this Church regard divorce as sin, and it is a fact that no legislation in the Free State Parliament is possible without their consent. The problem, then, of reconciling the minority's constitutional freedom with the dictates of the majority's conscience is by far the most delicate problem with which this State has been, is, or ever is likely to be, confronted. Yet it must be solved if the Free State's very name is not to be a lie, if a rankling sense of injustice is not to be a canker at the very root of progress, and if the nation's hopes for a united Ireland ever are to be fulfilled. For the solution of this problem the country's and the Legislature's highest gifts of heart and brain will be required—statesmanship, patience, ingenuity and, above all, understanding and toleration: as Senator Bagwell said yesterday, it is "essentially a matter of toleration." Just because breadth of vision and the appreciation of an unfamiliar moral outlook are plants of slow and fragile growth on this side of the Irish Sea, we regret the manner of Senator Yeats's intervention in yesterday's debate. Some of his arguments were perfectly sound, but the whole temper of his speech was hurtful and aggressive. Attacks on bishops of two Churches—"in one red burial blent"—will not induce the philosophic frame of mind in any class of electors or legislators. Excursions into the higher criticism are singularly unhelpful in this controversy; and there was neither edification nor good taste in Senator Yeats's rummagings "amid the cold Hic jacets of the dead." Ne poeta ultra lyram. A poet may sing of broken hearts; but the task of mending the bruised hearts that seek relief from tragic wedlock in the Free State needs qualities of steadiness and compromise that are found more often in plainer men.

The Machinery of Empire.

An extremely important constitutional change was announced by Mr. Stanley Baldwin in the House of Commons yesterday. A new Secretaryship of State is being established to deal with Dominion affairs. The Prime Minister explained that the Colonial Office had ceased long ago to provide adequate machinery for the conduct of affairs between Britain and the self-governing Dominions. It was created merely for the purpose of administering and developing British Colonies and Protectorates, and no provision had been made for the enormous constitutional growth of recent years. Thus, once again constitutional practice has outstripped the law. The developments of the last few years, including the creation of the Irish Free State, have changed the whole complexion of the British Commonwealth, and it was high time that the relations between the home Government and the Governments of the Dominions should be placed on a proper footing. The Secretaryship for Dominion Affairs will concern itself only with the major partners of the Commonwealth—we presume, with Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and the Irish Free State. The administration of the other British possessions will remain in the hands of the Colonial Office. Mr. Baldwin said that, for reasons of practical convenience, the new Secretaryship would be vested in the present Secretary of State for the Colonies, and that its headquarters would be in the Colonial Office. In Parliament, however, there will be a special Under-Secretary for the Dominions, who also will act as Chairman of the Overseas Settlement Committee. This Minister will be responsible for all Dominion affairs, and will have nothing whatever to do with the ordinary work of the Colonial Office. Thus the principal self-governing States of the Empire will be recognised officially for the first time as equal partners with the mother country.

The next step ought to be an accurate definition of the functions of the High Commissioners in London. At present these officials occupy an invidious position somewhere between that of a trade agent and an ambassador, and their authority to represent the views of their several Governments is strictly limited. In view of the vast distances that separate the Dominions from Britain and one another, inter-imperial communications would be facilitated immensely by the grant of full ambassadorial powers to the High Commissioners. Every day matters are arising in which imperial interests are involved, and if the High Commissioners had plenary powers—subject, of course, to Parliamentary sanction—much time and trouble would be saved, while the work of the Imperial Government would be made infinitely easier than it is to-day. The present system is far too cumbersome. It ignores the new status of the Dominions, and in matters such, for instance, as the proposed pact between Britain and France, its lack of co-ordination increases the difficulties of diplomacy to a totally unnecessary degree. So far as the Free State is concerned, it works fairly well, because Dublin is only nine hours from Downing street, and telephonic communication with London is comparatively easy. In the case of the other Dominions, however, no such facilities exist. Six weeks must elapse before an Australasian Minister can reach London, and for all practical purposes direct consultation is impossible. Now that the full nationhood of the Dominions within the British system has been recognised, the appointment of plenipotentiaries in London ought to follow as a logical development of the changed situation. The unity of the Empire is the great essential. It can be strengthened immensely by the adoption of a common imperial policy, and that policy cannot be maintained in a satisfactory fashion until every Dominion has a fully accredited representative in the Commonwealth's capital.

Political Penalties.

A bad precedent would be set if no action should be taken to correct the Wexford County Council's efforts to penalise a section of the ratepayers whose political views differ from those of the present majority on the Council. A rule has been inserted in the regulations concerning the granting of university scholarships whereby no applicant from the county shall be considered eligible if his, or her, father was in the service of the British Government. In Dail Eireann Captain Redmond protested against this discrimination among young citizens in respect of their parents' politics, and rightly declared that it was a violation of the Constitution of the Irish Free State. The Minister for Local Government said that he disapproved of the Council's action, and we hope that he will find means to translate his disapproval into corrective measures. The County Council has attempted to deprive one section of the people of privileges to the expense of which they contribute their share, and, incidentally, a large share. Their money will be accepted—if it is not paid over readily to the rate collector, it will be seized—but their children will be deprived of an opportunity of advancement open to all the other young people of the county. The bitterest enemy of Ireland's good name, seeking to undo the healing work of the past two years of sane government, hardly could wish for better allies than the county councillors of Wexford. The men of Wexford are proud of that well-known essay in which Thomas Davis praised their county above all the counties of Ireland for its sturdy virtues and civic spirit. To-day their county representatives have struck a blow at all that the spirit of Davis has done to foster mutual respect among Irishmen. If Davis were a lad in County Wexford to-day, he would be denied the privilege of university education; for that earnest exponent of the national idea himself was the son of a British soldier.

Faith and Houses.

The housing problem in Belfast is not complicated, as in Dublin, by the presence of vast warrens of decaying slums; yet it is almost as hard for working-class families to find comfortable houses in the Northern city as in the capital of the Free State. The new Housing Act, which now comes into force in Northern Ireland, will aid in lessening the congestion. By its provisions the Northern Government contributes £80, in place of the £60 granted hitherto, towards the cost of every house built in accordance with the State scheme, and rural as well as urban districts are to benefit. Still, larger efforts will be needed, however, from State and private enterprise alike before the present large shortage is appreciably lessened. At the General Assembly in Belfast yesterday the Reverend Dr. Osborne spoke of what he had seen in Dublin among some of the twenty-one thousand families who are condemned to live in homes of one room. He referred to the efforts of the Reverend D. H. Hall to find a practical remedy for the evil, and recommended the Presbyterian clergy, in North and South alike, to imitate Mr. Hall's methods. If, said Dr Osborne, the Christian Churches took in hands this problem of securing decent houses for the people, they could get it done. This, he said, would be practical Christianity. We doubt not that these earnest words will bear fruit in serious endeavour among the clergy who applauded them, and we rejoice to see the effort made in Dublin prompting emulation in Belfast. So great a fire may the little spark of faith kindle.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY NOTES.

The Home Mission is one of the foremost agencies of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. Its principal work is to maintain congregations of the Church in isolated districts, and this it does from Kerry to Donegal. The report was presented to the General Assembly by the Rev. J. W. G. Strahan and the Rev. J. H. Boyd. The Rev. J. J. Macaulay, of Dublin, who moved its adoption, relivered a speech which impressed the Assembly. He referred to the new atmosphere of hopefulness in Southern Ireland to-day, and stated that in all his work on public boards during twelve years in Dublin he had never heard one word of discourtesy to his Church.

* * * * *

Mission work and Church extension in Belfast are among the most serious problems brought before the Church at its annual Assembly. The Rev. John Waddell's report on the work was seconded by the Rev. D. M. Joss, and addresses were given by the Rev. Richard Hall, whose work lies in one of the most congested industrial districts in the city, and by Mr. Morrison, who is in charge of the Transfer Office. Mr. Morrison's work is to look after Presbyterians who come to reside in the city and assist them to definite Church connection. He is discharging this important service admirably.

When the Assembly met yesterday, after hearing the report on the Irish Mission it considered the report on the reception of ministers. There was some expectation that the committee's recommendations might be challenged, but they were adopted with very little discussion. Accordingly it was decided that the Rev. S. H. Nicholson and the Rev. Alexander Cairns, ministers of the Methodist Church, and the Rev. George Kyle, a minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, should be admitted as ministers without charge when they have conformed to certain conditions laid down by the Assembly.

* * * * *

The report of the Committee on Co-operation with other Churches was submitted by the Rev. Denham Osborne, of Dublin. He referred in terms of warm commendation to the social work carried on in Dublin, and in particular to the work of the Rev. D. H. Hall in securing decent housing for the poor.

The Assembly decided to send delegates to the forthcoming Methodist Conference, and appointed the Right Rev. Thomas Haslett, Moderator; the Rev. Denham Osborne, the Rev. J. S. Rutherford, Professor R. A. S. Macalister and Mr. W. M. Clow to convey the Assembly's greetings.

* * * * *

In connection with the report on missionary propaganda mention was made of a number of activities. A missionary Prayer Calendar and a coloured missionary map of Manchuria and Gujaret have lately been published, and help has been given to the summer camp for boys promoted by the Boys' Missionary Auxiliary.

A minor activity of the Church is work among soldiers and sailors, which is now confined mainly to the North of Ireland.

The Assembly appointed as delegates to the next meeting of the English Presbyterian Assembly the Right Rev. Thomas Haslett, Moderator; the Rev. Alexander Hall, of Drogheda, and Mr. J. C. Henry.

An unexpected "breeze" arose at the closing meeting of the Assembly last night. The Union Committee had been asked by the Assembly to reconsider the union of the two Magherafelt congregations. The Committee reported to the House that after reconsideration it could only abide by its policy in this case. An attempt was then made to get a special commission appointed to deal with the case, but this was defeated. On the motion of the Clerk, it was finally decided to request the Union Committee to continue their efforts towards an amicable settlement. This business disposed of, the Continental Mission report was considered.

On the subject of social service, the Right Hon. J. M. Andrews and the Rev. Dr. Harry Millar (Edinburgh) addressed the Assembly, dealing respectively with unemployment and housing. The Moderator then delivered his closing address; the 122nd Psalm was sung; and the Assembly terminated, with the Benediction and the time-honoured leave taking ceremony. Members lingered long in the corridor, loth to leave the scene of pleasant intercourse and re-union.

ARCHBISHOP MANNIX.

TO BE ASKED TO SIGN CITY FREEMEN'S ROLL.

The former members of the Dublin Corporation who have been interesting themselves in the matter of Archbishop Mannix and the freedom of the city met again yesterday in the Mansion House. Mr. Laurence O'Neill was not present, and Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington presided.

A letter was read from the Town Clerk pointing out that the freedom of Dublin had actually been conferred on Dr. Mannix by the original resolution of August, 1920. To complete the formalities he proposed to consult the Archbishop on his arrival as to a convenient date on which he might sign the roll. No meeting of the Corporation was necessary.

It was decided to call a further meeting of all the former Corporators for next Tuesday to appoint a sub-committee of three to consult the Archbishop.

Whether the Archbishop shall be asked to sign the roll at a public gathering or not was not decided.

At Windsor Castle yesterday the King invested the Duke of Northumberland with the insignia of a Knight Companion of the Order of the Garter.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

After the review at Aldershot the King and Queen were entertained at luncheon at Government House, Farnborough, by Lieutenant-General Sir Philip and Lady Chetwode, whose guests included Prince Henry, the Duke of Connaught, Lady Ampthill, the Hon. Sir Derek Keppel, Colonel Clive Wigram, Colonel Sir Malcolm Murray and Major Reginald Seymour. The King presented a new Guidon to the 1st Royal Dragoons in the afternoon, and later, with the Queen, paid a short visit to the Royal Pavilion.

* * *

To-day the Duchess of York will attend the special matinée at the Royal Adelphi Theatre, which has been organised by Mrs. Frank Worthington for the "Peter and Wendy" Fund of the Invalid Children's Association. Later in the afternoon the Duchess, accompanied by the Duke of York, will be present at the tennis tournament which Lady Crosfield has arranged at her place at Highgate.

* * *

Yesterday Princess Beatrice attended the reception held by the President and the Committee of the Overseas Nursing Association, which took place at Vernon House, St. James's. Next week the Princess will open the garden fête at Fulham Palace, which has been organised in aid of the Ministering Children's League, of which the Queen is the patroness.

* * *

The Governor-General of the Irish Free State will attend the Phœnix Park Club races to-morrow, and will be accompanied by a party of the distinguished American visitors now in Ireland. As the garden party at the Viceregal Lodge will take place on the same afternoon, Mr. Healy and his guests will be unable to remain for the whole of the race programme, which promises to afford excellent sport.

* * *

The Duke of Devonshire has made an excellent recovery and is out nearly every day at Lismore. The Duchess will remain at Lismore till the end of next week, when she will leave for London. The Earl of Derby has returned from Paris and is now at Derby House. The Earl and Countess of Granard will spend the remainder of the season at Forbes House, London.

* * *

The Marquis and Marchioness of Winchester, who have been spending some time in the Vosges, have arrived in London. The Earl and Countess of Ossory have left Kilkenny Castle for London, where they will spend the remainder of the season. Sir Abe Bailey has returned to London from South Africa and has joined the Hon. Lady Bailey at their residence in Bryanston square.

* * *

Mrs. Williams Barrington, who is helping to organise the Midsummer Fête in aid of Child Welfare, has arrived in Dublin and is staying at the Alexandra Club, St. Stephen's Green.

* * *

The engagement is announced, and the marriage will shortly take place, between Hughes Martin, late of Tullaghreine, Co. Cork, and Kathleen Mary (Molly), elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Firth, of Coates Manor, Cirencester, Glos.

PARENTS' POLITICS

BAR CHILDREN FROM SCHOLARSHIPS.

In Dail Eireann yesterday, Captain Redmond asked the Minister for Local Government and Public Health whether his attention had been drawn to a scheme adopted by the Wexford County Council for university scholarships, which provided that an applicant should not be eligible for a scholarship if his father was in the service of the British Government and did not retire previous to the year 1919. Captain Redmond asked if that provision had been approved by the Department of Local Government and Public Health.

Mr. Burke—I have not seen the scheme referred to. My functions as regards Ministry scholarships are limited to approving, or not approving, of any rate to be raised for the purpose in excess of one penny in the pound.

Captain Redmond—If I will show the Minister that the scheme adopted by the Wexford County Council includes this section, will he take steps to inform the County Council of the views of his Department on the matter?

Mr. Burke—I have no functions in the matter except as regards the rate.

Major Cooper—Has any other Ministry any function in the matter—the Ministry for Education, for instance?

Mr. Burke—No.

Mr. A. Byrne—Is the Minister aware that this section, if it is included in the scheme, is a violation of Article 3 of the Constitution; and, if so, will he take steps to have the matter considered by his or some other department?

Mr. Burke—This question does not affect me unless it comes under my jurisdiction.

Captain Redmond—Does the Minister consider that it is in accordance with the public policy that the eligibility of candidates for university scholarships should depend upon the politics of the parents of the candidates?

Mr. Burke—I do not.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The King has approved of the appointment of the Rev. Owen Spencer Watkins, C.M.G., C.B.E., Deputy Chaplain-General, a Wesleyan Methodist minister, to be Honorary Chaplain to His Majesty. This is the first occasion on which this honour has been conferred on a Nonconformist.

The Rev. James M. Alley conducted a largely attended Memorial Service for the late Mr. Noel Duke in the Methodist Church, Kingstown, last Sunday morning. The members of the hockey team of which Mr. Duke was a member occupied the front seats of the church.

LONDON LETTER.

A NEW MINISTRY.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, THURSDAY NIGHT.

The announcement by the Prime Minister this afternoon that the Government had decided to set up a new Secretaryship of State for Dominion Affairs carries out an undertaking given some months ago. It has been recognised for some time that the Colonial Office was becoming overweighted and that its work had a tendency to increase, with the result that some measure of relief was necessary. It is probable that the new Secretariat will deal almost exclusively with certain Dominions, of which the Irish Free State probably will be one, and that the lesser Dominions and Dependencies will remain under the old Secretariat.

Civil Aviation.

The Government has approved in principle the institution of a civil air service to Egypt and India. Sir Samuel Hoare announced this decision in the House this afternoon, and added that the service would replace that at present carried out by the Royal Air Force between Egypt and Iraq at fortnightly intervals for strategic purposes. Sir Samuel also said that a concrete scheme for a weekly service each way between Kantara and Karachi was under consideration, and civil aviation undertakings had been invited to submit early proposals for such a service. He regarded the development of this important link in our imperial communications as a matter of urgency, and he was most anxious that it should, if possible, come into operation during the winter of 1925-6.

By Air to India.

Should this new air service come into operation, it will be the most important yet established; for the route is one of some two thousand five hundred miles, and the journey to India will be shortened by days. If successful, the service is certain to be considerably extended, and already a bi-weekly one is discussed. The route from Kantara lies through Ramleh, in Palestine, to Amman, and then across the desert to Bagdad, via Basra to Bushire, from which point the Persian coast is followed to Karachi. Sir Samuel Hoare has travelled extensively in this area, and is fully acquainted with the many problems. In view of the big passenger traffic between this country and India, it is felt that the time saved by the air service will be considerable enough to make it very popular. Eventually the aeroplanes will be fed not merely by steamships, but by airships; and, if night flying is decided upon, there will be aerial lighthouses to mark the course. Dependent on the success of the new scheme will be the inauguration of a through air service from England to India.

The Late Mr. Wignall.

At the meeting of the committee of the House of Commons dealing with the Criminal Justice Bill sympathetic reference was made this morning to the death of Mr. Wignall, who was a member. The Home Secretary took advantage of the opportunity to pay a tribute to the rare spirit of Mr. Wignall, who, while he upheld fully and frankly the views of his own party, never made an enemy in any other. He thought that the House of Commons was the poorer by his loss. Sir Henry Slesser thanked the Home Secretary, and added his meed to the tribute. Owing to the late hour at which the House rose this morning and the heat, considerable difficulty was experienced in securing a quorum for the committee, and the proceedings were held up for half-an-hour.

A Visit to Russia.

The Soviet Government recently sent a pressing invitation to six members of Parliament in order that they might personally study conditions in Russia. The six members have been selected, and will be absent from this country for about six weeks, their expenses during that period being paid by the Soviet. They are Mr. Scurr, Mr. McKinder, Mr. Wallhead, Mr. Neil McLean, Mr. Ben Smith and Mr. Taylor. An invitation was also extended to Mr. Maxton, but he was unable to avail himself of it. The party intends to go to Rome after leaving Russia, in order that it may see the working of Fascism. It has already been arranged that the party on its return home shall present a report to the Socialist Party on its experiences. It would not be difficult to forecast the character of that report before the delegation starts on its travels.

The City Marshal.

A gentleman who is a Kentish man, but ought to be something of an Irishman judging from the names he bears, was elected City Marshal to-day after a contest in which a great many handsome men took part. Captain Derek Fitzgerald Massy, late of the Indian Army, the successful candidate, is six feet feet high, slim and fair. He is only thirty-two years of age, and thus becomes the youngest City Marshal on record. The office is one well known to the public, since its occupant figures largely in all City functions, riding before the State coach and preceding the Lord Mayor at the many indoor ceremonials in which the civic head has to take part.

The British Polo Team.

The Evening Standard to-day says that Major Vivian Lockett will not captain the British Army team in the approaching international polo matches. In replacing him by Captain Boles at back, the Selection Committee has endorsed the writer's misgivings when the team was announced as to Major Lockett's being able to stay the course. Everyone will regret this brilliant veteran's illness. Captain J. P. Dening succeeds Major Lockett as captain of the English team. A sterling player of all-round efficiency, he has but recently come into his own, and even now is handicapped by only having two of his own six ponies fit.

Costs and Prices.

Whenever the price of raw material drops there always seems to be some reason which prevents the advantage from being passed on to the consumer in the form of lower prices. A large firm of wholesale tailors, on being approached regarding a reduction in their prices for finished garments, in view of the drop in the wool market, replied that there would, undoubtedly, have been a reduction following the course of the price of wool, but that the increase in the cost of silk had added to the cost of production and nullified the advantage of the lower prices ruling for wool. In view of the quantity of silk to be found in the ordinary factory-made garments, the explanation is at least ingenious.

Two-Seater Taxicabs.

Two-seater taxicabs, it is believed, will be recommended for London by the committee appointed by the Home Office, which met to-day to consider its final report. The committee was asked to report whether two-seater cabs should be allowed to ply for hire in the London streets, and, if so, what the fares should be. It is understood that the committee has returned an affirmative answer, and that a sixpenny minimum will be suggested as the fare, the distance for the minimum being three-quarters of a mile. Should these proposals be adopted, there, doubtless, will be changes in the scale of charges for the ordinary four-seater cabs.

I have always found that smokers have a wisdom, a calmness of outlook, and a breadth of vision denied to those who do not smoke at all.—Mr. Baldwin.

PROBLEM OF DIVORCE.

DR. W. B. YEATS REPLIES TO BISHOPS.

SENATE'S RESOLUTION.

DEFENCE OF MINORITY'S RIGHTS.

THE Free State Senate yesterday discussed the question of divorce, and passed a resolution which, if accepted by the Dail, should bring a serious controversy to an end.

In February, 1924, the Joint Committee on Standing Orders reported that the procedure in connection with bills of divorce was "unsatisfactory from every point of view," and asked for a definite ruling concerning the conditions on which bills carrying the right to re-marry should be received.

Five months ago the Dail passed a resolution requesting the Committee to frame a Standing Order under which it would be impossible for any person to introduce a bill of divorce a vinculo matrimonii. When the motion was sent to the Senate for approval Lord Glenavy ruled it out of order on the ground that it was an attempt to legislate by resolution.

Yesterday the Senate was invited to consider the Committee's report. It decided to adjourn the discussion until next Wednesday, and by 15 votes against 13 adopted a resolution which, it suggested, should be substituted for that passed by the Dail.

The gist of the resolution is that a Standing Order shall be framed under which bills of divorce a vinculo matrimonii must receive a first reading in each House of the Oireachtas before they can be proceeded with in the Senate.

Thus, if the Dail accepts the resolution, the Legislature will provide facilities for any person who wants to promote a bill of divorce which carries the right to remarry. The Dail, however, will be able to kill any bill of the kind by refusing to give it a first reading.

The feature of yesterday's debate was a remarkable speech by Dr. W. B. Yeats, in which he attacked high dignitaries of both the Church of Ireland and the Roman Catholic Church on their attitude towards divorce.

POSTPONED.

REPORT OF STANDING ORDERS COMMITTEE.

One of the items on the orders of the day in the Senate yesterday was the report of the Joint Committee on Standing Orders (Private Business), on the position in Saorstat Eireann of bills relating to matrimonial matters.

Mr. Westropp Bennett moved that the consideration of the report be adjourned until the House had an opportunity of considering a motion that was on the paper in the name of Senator Douglas, viz:—

"That, in the opinion of the Senate, the object desired by the Dail in its message of the 12th February would be best achieved by the adoption by both Houses of the Oireachtas of the following resolution:—

'That the Joint Committee on Standing Orders relative to Private Business be requested to submit additional Standing Orders regulating the procedure to be adopted in connection with Private Bills relating to Matrimonial Matters, including a Standing Order or Orders which will prevent Bills of Divorce a vinculo matrimonii from being deemed to have been introduced under Standing Order 55, and which will provide that such Bills must be read a first time in each House before they are further proceeded with in the Seanad.'

"That a message be sent to the Dail requesting its concurrence in this resolution in place of that proposed in its message of the 12th February."

Colonel Moore seconded Mr. Bennett's motion, and on a division it was carried by 23 votes to 10.

It was agreed that the subject be taken on Wednesday next.

NORTH AND SOUTH.

BARRIER THAT MAY MAKE UNITY IMPOSSIBLE.

Dr. W. B. Yeats said—I have no doubt that the party in this House which desires to prevent divorce will prevail. I do not think that this was the first intention of members of this House, nor that it represents the opinion of the country. We are a tolerant nation and the circumstances are very special that urge us to interfere with one another's rights or liberties. Left to themselves, Dail and Senate would have found an easy solution.

I know, from many private conversations, that many members would gladly have seen a matrimonial bill concerning Protestants alone or persons of no church left to a purely Protestant vote, or to some committee appointed by that vote. It was certainly in th interests of this nation to have found some such solution.

MINORITY'S RIGHTS.

If the profound desire of the Irish people for unity between North and South is ever fulfilled; if North and South are ever to enter into some political association, the North will certainly not abandon any right which it already possesses; and it seems to me clear that if you show that Southern Ireland is to be governed on Catholic ideas alone, if you pass laws that the Protestant minority consider oppressive, you must give up all thought of unity, and I think that in the next few years it will have become perfectly plain to the whole people of North and South alike that the minority does consider oppressive the denial of a right which it has possessed since the 17th century, a right won originally under the leadership of John Milton and other great men and by struggles that are a famous part of Protestant history.

POLITICAL MIND OF IRELAND.

This question came before the Committee that drew up the Irish Constitution. That Committee was urged to make marriage indissoluble, and it refused. By that refusal it expressed the political mind of Ireland. Now you are urged to reverse the decision of that Committee by men whose minds are not political but religious. You are urged to it by men whom, I admit, it must be exceedingly difficult for the Catholic members of this House to resist.

In the long warfare of this country with England the Catholic clergy took the side of the people, and thereby attained to an authority they have not elsewhere in Europe, and when they speak through the mouth of their Archbishop—the Most Rev. Dr. Byrne—it is hard, I think, for any Irish Catholic to submit his arguments to that careful analysis to which all arguments should be submitted that claim to influence legislation.

Mr. Farren—Is it in order to bring in names?

The Chairman—I am not a judge of taste. I cannot say that it is out of order.

Dr. Yeats—Addressing the Catholic Truth Society in October last, Dr. Byrne used these words:—

"No power on earth can break the marriage bond until death. . . . That is true of all baptised persons, no matter what the denomination may be. To be sure, we hear that a section of our fellow countrymen favour divorce. While with nothing but respect and sympathy for all our neighbours, we have to say that we place the marriage of such people higher than they do themselves, for their marriages are unbreakable before God, and we cannot disobey God by helping to break them."

COMPULSION.

That is to say, you are to legislate on purely theological grounds, and you are to force your theology upon persons who are not of your religion. It is not a question of finding it legally difficult to grant to a minority what the majority does not wish for itself, for you are to insist upon members of the Church of Ireland, or members of any Church, taking a certain view of biblical criticism or of the authority of the text upon which that criticism is based, which they obviously do not take.

If you legislate upon such grounds, there is no reason why you should stop there. There is no reason why you should not forbid civil marriage altogether, seeing that civil marriage is not marriage in the eyes of the Church, and that it is just as much immorality according to that view as the re-marriage of divorced persons is according to men like Dr. Byrne. Nor do I see why you should stop at that, for we teach in our schools and print in our books many things which your Church condemns; in fact, once legislate on purely theological grounds and there is no form of religious persecution which cannot be justified, and I am not entirely certain that there are not men in Ireland to-day who will urge you to it.

FATHER FINLAY.

I have nothing but respect for Dr. Byrne. I am told that he is an accomplished and courtly man and the speech from which I have made an extract, though I think it an unwise speech, was charitable in form. But what am I to say to the following extract from an article by Father Peter Finlay?

"The refusal to legalise divorce is no denial of justice to any section of our people; it is no infringement of the civil and religious liberties which our Constitution grants to all. As well say that prohibition of "Suttee" is a denial of justice to an Indian widow. The Indian widow had a far clearer right to do herself to death on her husband's funeral pyre (her religion imposes it upon her as a duty) than any member of a Christian community can have to put away his wife and enter into a state of public legalised adultery. England acted justly and in fulfilment of a plain and grave moral obligation when she forbade Suttee in India; the Irish Free State will act justly and in fulfilment of a plain and grave moral obligation in refusing to legalise absolute divorce and re-marriage among ourselves."

In a previous part of the essay he compares divorce to polygamy, robbery and murder. I know little or nothing of Father Peter Finlay's career. It may have been eminent and distinguished; but I do not think that any member of this House will follow with pleasure the leadership of a man who uses words of such a monstrous discourtesy in describing the practice approved by the most civilised nations of the modern world: by Germany, by England, by France, by America, and by the Scandinavian nations. He must know that, judged by every kind of statistics, by every standard except the narrowest, these nations, by the greatness of their works, show that they exceed us in virtue.

BISHOP OF MEATH.

Father Peter Finlay has been supported by an ecclesiastic of the Church of Ireland, the Bishop of Meath, who has even excelled him in invective; perceiving, no doubt, that indissoluble marriage which he insists upon, for the guilty parties at any rate, has in other countries made men and women exceedingly tolerant of certain forms of sexual immorality, he declares that every erring husband or erring wife should be treated as a forger or a murderer; he hesitates, as it seems, between execution or a long term of imprisonment.

But, whereas the opinion of various Catholic ecclesiastics has probably influenced that of members of this House, I say with perfect confidence that the opinion of the Bishop of Meath has not affected a single vote. It is a glory of the reformed Churches that in all matters affecting legislation, even where religion is itself involved, the clergy carry merely the weight of their individual knowledge and capacity.

The right of divorce and many other rights were won by the Protestant nations in the teeth of most bitter opposition from their clergy. The living, changing, discovering, advancing human mind cannot base its legislation, as its clergy would have it, upon some doubtful interpretation of some doubtful passage in the Gospels.

HISTORICAL ACCURACY.

The ecclesiastics who have spoken upon this question have all quoted a passage in St. Matthew upon divorce and marriage. There is not a scholar of any eminence in the world who considers the Gospels historical documents in the strict sense of those words. Their importance is devotional, not historical. They were written long after the events which they record; probably two generations after, and certainly when there was no living man who had heard the words or seen the events recorded, and they contradict one another on essential points. For an ecclesiastic to ask a statesmen to base his legislation upon the assumption that any particular passage possesses historical validity is to appeal to public ignorance.

Possibly the majority of persons who advocate indissoluble marriage are under the impression that it preserves sexual morality. I wonder whether they have made an attempt to discover whether it preserves it in Spain, Italy, or in South America. I notice that we do not propose to copy these nations in our economics, in our agriculture, or in our technical education. It is only in this matter that we propose to copy them. I think, before adopting their marriage law, we should discover if they exceed the rest of the world in sexual morality.

I have gone to what sources were available, and I find that they have suppressed some of the evidence of immorality; there are several instances not reported of divorce proceedings in the newspapers and the usual number of children are born in wedlock. There is sometimes considerable uncertainty as to who their fathers are, but then public opinion discourages curiosity upon that subject and nobody need inquire more closely into the emotional relationship of men and women. However, all nations are immoral in some way or other.

DEMAND FOR HAPPINESS.

There is a demand for happiness, which increases with education, and men and women who are held together against their will and their reason soon cease to recognise any duty to one another. You are going to permit separation. You cannot help yourselves there. You must permit young people who have found life impossible together, because of some indelible wrongs, to part; but they must never re-marry.

Do you imagine that men and women in the prime of life will accept the law of the cloister, and that this country can achieve what the rest of the world has failed to do in some 2,000 years? A great English lawyer, speaking out of his immense experience has stated that separation without divorce is the most potent imaginable cause of irregular unions.

I would, however, urge those who take my view on this matter to avoid undue excitement. Father Peter Finlay and the Bishop of Meath and other fellow-ecclesiastics will have but a short victory. It is not worth while quarrelling with icebergs in warm weather. I have said that the Irish people are a tolerant people, yet, remembering that we have in our principal street monuments of their tolerance and their intolerance alike—the monuments of those great men of genius, Nelson, Parnell, and O'Connell—I think that I should have said that they are hesitating. I have no doubt, however, that as the icebergs melt their tolerance will gain the day.

DANIEL O'CONNELL.

There has never been any trouble about O'Connell. His morals were Latin and his opinion orthodox. It was said of him that you could not fling a stone over any work-

EDUCATION CRISIS.

FIRM STAND BY PRESBYTERIANS.

NO NEW SCHOOLS.

REPLY BY LORD LONDONDERRY.

FROM OUR BELFAST CORRESPONDENT.

A POLITICAL crisis of an acute kind is developing in Northern Ireland, following the refusal of the Ministry of Education (over which Lord Londonderry presides) to meet the wishes of the Protestant Churches and the Orangemen in reference to religious instruction in the primary schools, on the lines of the amending Education Act, which was passed recently.

Whether this attitude is influenced by Lord Londonderry as head of the department, or by the permanent head of the Education Department, who was brought to Northern Ireland from Scotland, and is credited with the desire to force the Scottish education system on Northern Ireland, is not known.

JULY 12th RESOLUTIONS.

The responsibility, however, is being placed upon Lord Londonderry, as head of the Ministry, and indirectly a serious position is developing for the whole Northern Government. In another month the Orangemen will be meeting for their annual Twelfth of July demonstrations, and some of their resolutions will certainly deal with what the Orangemen regard as an exceedingly unsatisfactory position.

Practically all the members of the Northern Government, including the Prime Minister, who have promised to speak at the Twelfth demonstrations this year, will be in an awkward position, unless a decision upon the education question is reached, for they will not be able to ignore the subject.

ASSEMBLY'S RESOLUTION.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in Belfast yesterday, unanimously adopted the following resolution:—

I.—The Assembly expresses its regret that the Ministry of Education, relying upon a legal interpretation of Section V. of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, which is not in accordance with the views of two eminent and leading lawyers, who advised the united Committee of the Protestant Churches and the County Grand Loyal Orange Lodge of Belfast, and which was not allowed to operate when the Ministry of Education thought proper to apply public monies to the teaching of the particular religious beliefs of another Communion, has deliberately declined to take advantage of the Amending Act of 1925, and to sanction the incorporation in deeds of transfer of schools conditions providing for Bible teaching, as heretofore given under the Rules of the National Board. The Assembly expresses the hope that the Ministry of Education may see its way to reconsider this matter and to give effect to the representations that have been made to the Government on behalf of the Protestant Churches and the County Grand Lodge of Belfast.

II.—The Assembly expresses the hope that members of Borough and County Councils will refrain from assisting the Ministry of Education to secularise the system of Education in Ulster in building large schools at the expense of the ratepayers until some guarantee is given that the Bible shall be taught by the responsible teachers of the schools.

Already some authorities, who are now recommended not to proceed with the building of new schools, have deferred decisions pending the settlement of the dispute. The Belfast Corporation recently decided to postpone expenditure upon several schools that had been transferred, and also in regard to new schools.

"HOLDING UP" WORK.

At the Assembly to-day, Mr. Thompson Donald pointed out that these postponements would prevent much-needed work going to the unemployed; but the Assembly did not alter its resolution, apparently holding the view that the Government must accept responsibility for such a result.

Mr. Thompson Donald also declared that, as hard-headed Ulster people, they wished "something clean, something definite, and something straight." and that they felt that behind the scenes there was something which he called "the hidden hand."

LORD LONDONDERRY'S REPLY.

FIRM STAND BY THE GOVERNMENT.

"We wish to make it clear beyond any possibility of misapprehension that, if as appears to be the case, the method proposed for securing this object (the continuance of religious instructions in transferred schools) involves any compulsion—direct or indirect—of the teachers, it can receive no support from the Government."

This statement is made by Lord Londonderry, in a long reply to the points raised in the General Assembly on Tuesday.

While the Government is in fullest sympathy with the representations made by the United Education Committee of the Protestant Churches and of the County Grand Loyal Orange Lodge of Belfast, yet it must adhere to the view set out above, even if it could be established that no actual legal bar exists to the application of such compulsion.

"The giving of religious instruction by teachers of national schools in the past has been secured by the goodwill of the teachers, and by the fact that the appointment of the teacher lay in the hands of the denominational manager," he adds, "I wish to make it perfectly clear that the Education Acts make no change in that respect.

"Existing schools may, if the managers so desire, continue on the same lines as heretofore, when the appointment of teachers will remain in their hands or with the school committee, as the case may be. All that is necessary to secure this is that a proportionately very small contribution towards upkeep and maintenance shall be forthcoming from private sources.

"I notice that this side of the question, at least in so far as it concerns schools now under Protestant management, receives no prominence in the debates of the General Assembly. It is, nevertheless, of so much importance that it should be emphasised.

"But an entirely new situation has been created by the calling into existence of a new class of schools managed and maintained by public authorities out of funds wholly provided by the public. To these schools no particular denominational character can be attached, seeing that they are maintained entirely at the expense of people of all denominations.

"It has been freely asserted that the operation of the Education Act will have the effect of banishing the Bible from this new class of provided and transferred schools. I deeply deplore the fact that such an assertion has been made, and if I thought that there was the remotest foundation for it I could not continue to occupy the position I do.

"The Government is strongly of the opinion that the position of the Bible, and of religious instruction generally, is more secure than ever it was in any school under the old system.

"The Government is determined that religious instruction, in accordance with the wishes of the parents, shall be available for children in public elementary schools. That is why a definite place has been provided for religious instruction in the school time-table, and elaborate safeguards introduced into the regulations."

AMERICAN DOCTORS.

TOUR OF DUBLIN HOSPITALS.

RECEPTION BY THE PRESIDENT.

"WE are delighted to be in Ireland and to have the opportunity of meeting the Irish doctors, so many of whom are well-known contributors to the American medical journals, and so many of whom have already visited our American hospitals, that we feel well acquainted with them."

Dr. Charles J. Mayo, President of the Inter-State Post-Graduate Assembly of American Doctors, made this statement to the Irish Times reporter on his arrival yesterday.

Dr. Mayo, with the first section of his party, numbering about 380, arrived at the North Wall yesterday morning, having travelled direct from Liverpool in two steamers.

The majority arrived at 7.45 a.m. on the s.s. Graphic, which was chartered from the Belfast Steamship Company by the British and Irish Steamship Company. The smaller party travelled on the s.s. Lady Limerick, which berthed shortly afterwards.

On arrival Dr. Mayo was welcomed personally by Sir William de Courcy Wheeler and a Reception Committee representative of the medical professions. With commendable despatch the party got through the Customs, and soon were seated in a waiting fleet of motor cars and char-a-bancs, and conveyed to hotels in the city and suburbs.

TOUR OF THE HOSPITALS.

At 9.30 the party assembled at the Royal College of Physicians, where they were received by Sir William Thompson, President of the College, with whom were Dr. Kirkpatrick, Registrar, and Dr. Montgomery. Final instructions as to the programme were given, and after a short interval, under the guidance of Mr. D. Barrett, assisted by a body of students, the party were allocated to motor conveyances and despatched to the various city hospitals, where arrangements had been made by doctors and staffs to convey a complete impression of the nature and quality of the work carried on daily in each of these institutions.

At a number of the hospitals the visitors were entertained to luncheon.

In the afternoon the doctors attended a reception at University College, Earlsfort terrace, where they were welcomed by Dr. D. J. Coffey, President of the College. Professor J. F. O'Carroll occupied the chair, and Dr. Nesbitt, Dr. Moorhead, Dr. Abrahamson, Dr. Ella Webb and Professor A. F. Dixon presented some cases, including acromegaly, gigantism and diseases of the ductless glands.

There followed a discussion on the treatment of exophthalmic goitre, commonly called "Graves's disease." Professor O'Carroll and Dr. Moorhead spoke; then Dr. Charles Mayo described the surgical treatment of the disease. Dr. Mayo said they had operated on 24,000 cases of Grave's disease in the last twenty years.

Dr. Hardman and Dr. Moore also contributed to the debate.

IRISH DOCTORS HONOURED.

At the meeting, Dr. Charles Mayo, in a graceful speech, said:—Sir William Wheeler is already an honorary member of this Assembly, and it is with much pleasure, as authorised by my Executive Committee, that I declare the following gentlemen honorary members:—

Dr. Coffey, President (University College, Dublin).
Sir William Thompson (President Royal College of Physicians).
Mr. R. C. B. Maunsell (President Royal College of Surgeons).
Professor Sir James Craig (President Royal Academy of Medicine).
Professor J. F. O'Carroll.
Sir Robert Woods.
Sir William Taylor.
Professor Frank Purser.
Professor T. G. Moorhead.
Mr. Alexander Blayney.
Dr. T. P. C. Kirkpatrick.
Mr. Adams A. McConnell.

Many of the party visited well-known beauty spots, including Glendalough, within easy reach of the city.

LADIES VISIT TRINITY.

Attached to the party are about 150 ladies, and a Ladies' Committee, consisting of Lady de Courcy Wheeler (Chairman), Lady Glenavy, Mrs. Bernard, the Honble. Mrs. Gordon Campbell, Lady Taylor, Lady Greer, Mrs. Coffey, Miss Steele (hon. sec.), and Miss O'Callaghan (assistant secretary) made special arrangements for their entertainment.

Mrs. Bernard took the party over Trinity College, where they were shown many objects of interest, including, of course, the "Book of Kells." Lady Greer conducted a party to visit the Irish Industries; while, with Lady Taylor as hostess, another group inspected Guinness's Brewery. The Honourable Mrs. Gordon Campbell was hostess to another party, who visited University College.

Afterwards the whole of the lady visitors were taken for a drive round the Phœnix Park, and they much appreciated the beauties, which were seen to their full advantage in the brilliant sunshine.

FOXROCK GARDEN PARTY.

At 4 o'clock the ladies, with a number of doctors, motored to Foxrock, where Sir William and Lady de Courcy Wheeler were "At Home" to them at Carrickbyrne. Here in lovely surroundings a party, numbering about 200 had a delightful afternoon. The band of the D.M.P. provided the music, which included many Irish and American airs.

On the return journey some of the visitors were taken through the Vale of Shanganagh and Killiney.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION.

At night a reception was given by the President and members of the Executive Council of the Free State in the National Museum, Kildare street. The National Army No. 1 Band, under the direction of Colonel Fritz Brasé, played a choice selection of music; while the visitors interested themselves in the fine collection of art antiquities which were there displayed.

President Cosgrave received the guests at the entrance hall, and he had quite a busy time for more than an hour.

Amongst the Irish guests who accepted the President's invitation were:—

The Governor-General, the several Ministers and their wives and other relatives, Lord and Lady Glenavy, Senators Douglas, Barniville, Barrington, Bennett, Brown, K.C.; Mrs. Costello, De Loughry, the Countess of Desart, Sir Thomas Grattan Esmonde and Lady Esmonde, Sir Nugent and Lady Everard, Mr. Martin Fitzgerald, Dr. Gogarty, Mr. B. Haughton, Sir John Griffith, Dr. Douglas Hyde, the Earl of Kerry, Colonel Maurice Moore, Mr. C. J. Irwin, Mr. James Moran, Mr. M. O'Dea, the Earl of Wicklow, Dr. Yeats, Mr. John O'Neill.

Amongst the members of the medical profession were:—Sir William Taylor, Sir John Lumsden, Dr. Moorhead, Sir Conway Dwyer, Dr. Cassidy, Sir E. Coey Biggar, the President of the Royal College of Physicians, the President of the Royal College of Surgeons, Surgeon J. S. McArdle, Dr. Horace Law, Dr. McLaverty, Sir William de Courcy Wheeler, Sir Thomas Myles, Sir William Smyly, Sir James Craig, Dr. L. A. Byrne, Sir John Moore, Sir Robert Woods.

The Most Rev. Dr. Byrne, the Very Rev. J. Flanagan, P.P.; the Rev. J. Fahy, S.J.; the Rev. J. Coogan, Provincial Carmelites; the Dean of St. Patrick's, the Most Rev. Dr. Gregg, the Dean of Christ Church, the Rev. Dr. Denham Osborne, the Rev. Dr. Hertzog, the Rev. J. M. Alley, Dr. Coffey, President of University College; Professor McAllister, Major Bryan Cooper, Mr. William Hewat, Sir Arthur C. Ball, Chief Justice Kennedy, Mr. Justice Sullivan, Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy, Mr. Justice FitzGibbon, Mr. Justice Murnaghan, Mr. Justice Meredith, Mr. Justice Johnston, Mr. Justice Dromgoole, Mr. Justice Wylie, Mr. Justice Hanna, the Attorney-General, M. Maurice Geor, M. Alfred Blanche, the French Consul; and Mr. Charles Hathaway, the U.S. Consul-General.

In the assembly there was a large number of ladies.

COLONIAL OFFICE REFORM.

CONCESSION TO DOMINIONS.

NEW SECRETARYSHIP OF STATE.

PRIME MINISTER'S STATEMENT.

THRESHOLD OF GREAT DEVELOPMENT.

Captain Wedgwood Benn, in the House of Commons yesterday, asked whether the Prime Minister could state what changes it was proposed to make in the organisation and designation of the Colonial Office.

Mr. Baldwin said that the Government had come to the conclusion that the existing organisation of the Colonial Office was no longer in correspondence with the actual constitutional position of the Empire, and was inadequate to the extended variety of the work thrown upon it. It failed, more particularly, to give sufficiently clear recognition to the profound difference between the work of communication and consultation with the self-governing partner-nations of the British Commonwealth and the administrative work of controlling and developing the Colonies and Protectorates, for whose welfare the House was directly responsible.

The following changes were, therefore, proposed:—

1.—The conduct of affairs with the Dominions would be under a separate new Secretaryship of State for Dominion Affairs, with its own Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State, who would also act as Chairman of the Overseas Settlement Committee and Permanent Under-Secretary of State.

2.—For reasons of practical convenience the new Secretaryship of State would continue to be vested in the same person as the holder of the Secretaryship of State for the Colonies, and the Department of Dominion Affairs would continue to be housed in the Colonial Office.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald—Do the Dominions agree to that change?

Mr. Baldwin—The Government have been in communication with them throughout, and the matter, I hope, will be discussed on the Colonial Office vote.

MR. AMERY AND THE CHANGE.

Mr. Amery, Secretary for the Colonies, presiding at the annual dinner of the Corona Club in London last night, referred to the Prime Minister's announcement in Parliament that a new Secretaryship of State for Dominion Affairs was to be created, with its own Parliamentary and permanent Under-Secretaries.

The establishment of this new organ of Government, he said, recognised the profound difference between the work of communication and consultation between the British Government and the Governments of the partner nations in the British Commonwealth, and the work of administration and development in that great Colonial field for which Parliament was still directly responsible. That division was a recognition of a point of view put forward by the Dominions' representatives at more than one Imperial Conference, but it was much more than a concession to sentiment—it was a concession to the needs of the work that had too be done. He believed that we were on the threshold of great Colonial development.

CHAMPIONSHIP FOR THE SUDAN.

MR. CAIRNES BEATEN AT 34 HOLE.

TO the end the struggle for the Irish Close Amateur Championship was intensely interesting, but youth was not to be denied, and Mr. Robertson won the championship at the 34th hole yesterday at Portmarnock. It was one of the most interesting finals for some years, and the loser, Mr. Cairnes, who is close on sixty years of age, at one time seemed likely to repeat his triumph of 1907 and bring the Cup back to Portmarnock. The strain, however, was too severe, and Mr. Robertson won the match by 5 and 4.

The new champion is a very good golfer, although during the last five years he has only been able to play during his annual vacations from the Sudan, which he spends in Dublin.

It is not often that championship form is shown by a golfer in circumstances such as these, yet Mr. Robertson plays the game with all the skill of a first-class player, and if he played his iron shots with the proficiency which he displays with the other clubs, he would hold his own in the very best class.

The title now goes to the Sudan, and it is worth recalling that last year the Irish Ladies' Championship was won by a lady, Mrs. Thornton, who took the replica of the Championship Cup back with her to Ceylon.

The fact which emerged from this championship is that the Irish "Close" has taken on a new lease of life. There was a time when it looked as if interest in the tournament was on the wane, but the new conditions have brought about a revival of interest in the event, and this year's entry was a record one.

THE IRISH BOUNDARY COMMISSION.

POSITION OF COUNTY TYRONE

The Boundary Commission issued the following report last evening:—

"At to-day's sittings of the Irish Boundary Commission, witnesses were heard on behalf of the Tyrone Boundary Defence Association, in opposition to claims made for inclusion in the Irish Free State of any part of County Tyrone. The evidence heard to-day related more especially to the rural district of Armagh."

QUESTION OF A FLAG.

Before the Dail adjourned last night, Mr. Johnson referred to the Presidential reception of the American and Canadian doctors at Leinster House, and said that he wished to make the suggestion that the Royal College of Physicians, having failed to display the Free State flag with the flags of the United States and Canada, was not representing the views of the vast body of the members of the medical profession.

The President replied that he had not noticed that, but, if what the deputy said were correct, he agreed that it did not represent the views of any great section of medical men.

ANTI-FOREIGN RIOT.

MACHINE-GUN USED ON MOB.

EIGHT CHINESE KILLED AT HANKOW.

HANKOW, Thursday.

Following the publication of false reports in this morning's vernacular papers, an anti-foreign riot took place here this evening, and the volunteers had to be called out.

The rioters rushed to the Bund, tore up the seats, and destroyed various Japanese shops, severely mauling one Japanese shopkeeper. Later they broke down the barricade and attempted to rush the British volunteer armoury.

The rioters were in strong force and completely outnumbered the defenders of the armoury. The fire brigade turned their hose on the mob, but when this proved ineffectual, and in view of the state of extreme emergency, machine-gun fire was opened on the rioters on the orders of the naval authorities, with the result that eight were killed. The number wounded is not yet known.

All is quiet at the moment, and the Chinese authorities guarantee that order will now be maintained.—(Reuter.)

FOOD PRICES RISING.

HONG KONG, Thursday.

Food prices are rising in Canton owing to hoarding, and also to an attempt to starve the Yunnanese out. Coolies refuse to work, and the electric works have only a few days' supply of coal. The river shipping companies refuse to carry the Yunnanese reinforcements arriving from Haiphong, and the Hong Kong police accordingly have been compelled to intern them.—The Times telegram.

LATE NEWS.

THE AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.

MR. BRUCE HARD PRESSED.

The Times, in a leading article, observes—There were few surprises in the speech with which Lord Forster—whose highly successful tenure of office as Governor-General of the Commonwealth is rapidly drawing to an end—opened the last session in the life of the present Parliament. The one thing that is certain is that Mr. Bruce has a most critical time before him. There is a growing strength in the ranks of the party sitting in opposition, and there is openly expressed dissension in the Coalition which he leads. There are apparently questions in which Mr. Bruce has incurred the real hostility, not only of the Labour Party, but of other sections of Australian opinion as well, and the cruiser contract to the Clyde is likely to provoke the most bitter controversy in Australian politics since the conscription campaign of 1916.

Whether Mr. Bruce is successful in consolidating his forces or not, he is certain to have a hard fight before him in the coming session, and a still harder fight at the polls. Apart from questions of political opinion or party unity, there is a strong tendency in Australia—as, indeed, there is in most countries—to try a periodical change of Government, simply for the sake of change.

But whatever Mr. Bruce's fate may be, his first term of office will be gratefully remembered for his sincere and consistent efforts to solve the vital problem of continuous consultation within the Empire.

SUN-BATHED IRELAND.

COOLER, BUT FAIR WEATHER PREDICTED.

A few light clouds, the first that have been seen in Dublin this week, drifted across the Western sky yesterday evening, and the light breeze veered from East to North-East. During the twenty-four hours ended at ten o'clock last night, the barometer fell .13 inches, but there is no sign of a decided change. The Air Ministry's meteorological report issued last night states "There are indications of a gradual change to cooler, but mainly fair, weather."

The maximum shade temperature in Dublin yesterday was 73, two degrees below that of the previous day, and the minimum was 56, one degree higher than that of Wednesday. On the shady side of the city streets yesterday the thermometer registered 81. The sun shone for 13 hours.

Our Cork correspondent says that at four o'clock yesterday afternoon the shade temperature there was 90, and 83 in higher parts of the city. In Belfast the maximum was 70.

London (Kensington Palace) and Cheltenham were the hottest places in England yesterday, with shade temperatures of 87. At Bath and Ross-on-Vloye, the maximum was 86.

DEATHS DUE TO HEAT.

A verdict of death from a heart affection aggravated by the heat was returned at an inquest in Athlone yesterday into the death of James Dolan, aged 23, a farmer's son, of Golden Island, who collapsed and died in the street.

BRITISH UNIFORM IN THE FREE STATE.

A BUNDORAN INCIDENT.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Colonel Gretton asked the Colonial Secretary if he was aware that a young soldier of the 4th Battalion, Royal Enniskilling Fusiliers, was arrested by the Civic Guard of the Irish Free State in Bundoran, where he had gone in uniform, with some members of his family; whether this soldier was informed by the police that he had committed an offence by entering the Free State in British military uniform; whether his military cap and tunic were taken from him, and he was provided with a civilian cap and coat, and his uniform was handed back to him when he left to return to Northern Ireland; if it was a fact that wearing British military uniform was prohibited by authority in the Irish Free State, and what action the Secretary of State proposed to take in regard to this incident.

Mr. Ormsby-Gore replied that he was making inquiry into the matter, but he had not yet received information as to the facts.

Colonel Gretton proposed to put a question to the Secretary for War on Tuesday next, by which date he hoped the necessary information would be available.

SENATE ELECTIONS.

NEW LEGISLATION INTRODUCED.

In the Dail yesterday two bills to provide for matters in relation to the elections of members of the Seanad were read a first time.

Mr. O'Higgins explained that certain details regarding procedure to be followed for the purpose of carrying out the elections this year, and which was not provided for in the Constitution, required to be attended to, and it would be necessary to alter the Constitution in some respects to meet the situation. Having regard to the period which would elapse between the formation of the panel and the holding of the elections, it would be necessary to make provision for the death of a candidate in the meantime. (Laughter.)

"I mean the contingency of the death of a candidate," explained the Minister, amidst further laughter. It would also be necessary to provide rules for determining the order of the candidates in order of election.

The bills were read a first time.

MINISTRY OF EDUCATION.

CHIEF'S ABSENCE FROM DAIL.

MEMBERS' VIGOROUS PROTEST.

PRESIDENT COSGRAVE'S REPLY.

THE chief business in Dail Eireann yesterday was the discussion of votes for public services.

When a vote of £47,468 for the Ministry of Education was proposed, several members complained that they had not received proper notice that a matter of such importance would be taken. They claimed that the Minister for Education should be present.

President Cosgrave said that that was not the time to pillory the Minister of Education on account of his absence. The Minister was appointed a member of the Boundary Commission by the Executive Council, and if members were dissatisfied they should have raised the question when the vote for that body was under discussion.

The President read a statement prepared by the Minister for Education. He claimed that the primary and secondary systems had been revolutionised, and said that a drastic school attendance bill, which would be enforced by the Civic Guard, would be introduced in the autumn.

A vote of £10,000 was passed for the maintenance of Haulbowline Dockyard. It was stated that the Government was anxious to dispose of the place to a firm of ship repairers or shipbuilders.

FINANCE BILL.

COMMITTEE STAGE PASSED.

The Dail then resumed discussion of the Finance Bill.

Mr. Mulvany moved two amendments. The first sought to reduce the Excise duty on unmanufactured tobacco from five-sixths of eight shillings to three-fourths of eight shillings per 100lbs. The second amendment provided for the increase of Customs allowance from 2d. to 10d. per lb. on fully-cured tobacco upon being exported from a warehouse or curer's premises, or upon being manufactured into cavendish or negrohead in bond.

He said that the object of the amendments was to aid in extending the tobacco-growing industry in Ireland.

Mr. Wilson, in supporting the amendment, said that the Danish Government gace a rebate of threequarters to the manufacturers in Denmark. They did not ask so much; they only asked to be given a rebate of a quarter—the same as was given in Great Britain.

Mr. Blythe suggested that the motion was not in order, as the question involved was, on the proposition of a private member, the payment of public moneys. The twopence that had been allowed to manufacturers was as much a payment out of public moneys as the subsidy granted for the manufacture of beet sugar.

Professor Magennis asserted that it was not exclusively a question of the payment of public moneys. The proposition put up by Deputy Mulvany was the removal of the anomalous position existing in regard to Irish leaf tobacco growers.

GOVERNMENT AND THE INDUSTRY.

Mr. Blythe declared that the Government was anxious to protect the tobacco industry, and he mentioned that experts had been employed to give advice to manufacturers. The Government was ready to do anything that would make the industry a success, provided always that the cost was not outrageous. No doubt the industry could be stimulated by the abolition of the excise duty, but that step would involve the loss of £3,000,000 in revenue. The only thing that the Government had been able to do was to give a preference to home-grown tobacco, at the rate of 1s. 6d., which now included the twopence now granted. There was no question that that had benefited tobacco growers.

He would suggest that they should set themselves the task of discovering whether 1s. was sufficient, and he thought that it was a question that might be usefully investigated by a Committee of the Dail before the next Budget. At the present time, the Minister pointed out, there was a loss to the Exchequer of £60 on every acre of tobacco grown in the Free State, and the consumer gained nothing.

What he suggested was, that if the growers had a case to make for more assistance, they should make it before his Ministry and the Ministry of Agriculture. Nothing could be done in the way of giving more assistance in the present year, but he would be prepared to appoint a Select Committee to go into the whole question.

A WELCOME CHANGE.

Major Bryan Cooper remarked that the growing accessibility of the Minister to the idea of Committees was, however, a welcome change, and he advised Deputy Mulvany to avail himself of it.

Mr. Mulvany remarked that, in view of the Minister's promise of a Select Committee, he was satisfied to withdraw his amendment.

The House agreed, and the amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. Good expressed disappointment at the continuance of the Corporation Profits Tax in the Free State. He traced the history of the tax in Great Britain, and pointed out that it was finally abolished by a British Labour Government.

Mr. Blythe replied that he did not think that the tax in its present form was one that should remain a permanent feature of their financial system. He pointed out that a large proportion of the tax was paid by foreign companies, hundreds of whom were operating in the Free State, and from whom they received no death duties in respect of people with holdings outside the country. He recognised that the problem was one which would have to be considered.

Mr. Good expressed satisfaction at the Minister's statement. But the tax should not be continued simply because certain rights accrued from it. While the remission of the tax might mean some loss of revenue, he was satisfied that the influx of new capital into the Free State would more than compensate for revenue loss.

The Committee stage was passed.

PUBLIC SERVICES.

FUTURE OF HAULBOWLINE.

The Dail yesterday took up consideration of the votes for public services.

Mr. Blythe moved an estimate of £10,000 for the upkeep and maintenance of Haulbowline Dockyard. Negotiations with reputable firms, he said, were in progress for the disposal of the dockyard and until it was disposed of it was necessary to keep it in good condition. A military hospital was maintained on the island and a ferry service had to be maintained for the convenience of employees who lived on the island.

The closing of the dockyard would throw from ninety to one hundred men out of employment, but the question of taking that step would have to be seriously considered if at the end of the year the yard had not been disposed of.

Professor O'Sullivan, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister, mentioned that the desire of the Ministry was to dispose of the yard to a ship repairing firm, or preferably to a shipbuilding firm.

The estimate was passed.

EDUCATION.

Mr. Blythe next moved a vote of £117,468 for the Department of Education in respect of administration and inspection.

President Cosgrave said that a school attendance bill would be introduced on the first day of the autumn session, and he thought that it would give satisfaction.

The President was proceeding to give the House a detailed account of the policy and administration of the Department of Education, when Mr. T. J. O'Connell asked if his statement would embrace primary and secondary education and technical instruction, as well as the office of the Ministry.

The President answered that he proposed to review the work of the Ministry in all its branches.

Mr. O'Connell declared that he did not think it was possible to have a discussion ranging over four separate votes, and he, for one, did not propose to take part in such a discussion. The President said not possibly be expected to answer all the questions that would be raised.

Professor Thrift protested that the House had no notice whatever that this important vote was coming on.

Other members protested that the Minister for Education should be present.

The President commented that the present occasion was not the right one on which to pillory the Minister of Education because of his absence, or because of his occupation of another office besides that of his own Ministry. The proper time at which to raise such a matter was on the vote for the Executive.

After some further discussion, the House agreed to hear the President's statement on the work of the department.

MINISTER'S REVIEW.

President Cosgrave read a long statement prepared by the Minister for Education. Pointing out that the estimates for the three systems—Primary, Secondary and Technical—were presented together for the first time, the President said that a standing council of the inspectors of the three systems had also been formed, which made for the carrying into effect, as one whole, the educational policy of the department.

There was also an association of the Professors of the Universities and the Colleges with the inspectors in connection with training college examinations.

A programme of primary education had been inherited from the Provisional Government, which had been drawn up as a result of a conference called by the Irish National Teachers' Organisation. A thoroughly modern programme of secondary education had come from the Secondary Education Commission of the second Dail.

A REVOLUTION.

The primary programme reflected more profoundly than any other public service the far-reaching character of the changes brought about by the signing of the Treaty.

"As a result of its working, the past three years have seen a revolution in Irish education," went on the statement, "the full import and significance of which is scarcely realised by the average citizen, and the effect of its operation is that to-day the Irish language permeates the whole teaching, life and atmosphere of the primary system, that the curriculum that was in operation in the primary schools during the former régime has been replaced by one in which attention is concentrated in the main subjects which are the ground work of education—viz., Irish, English, reading, writing and arithmetic."

The higher classes in the primary schools and the lower classes in the secondary schools had been co-ordinated to form a link between the systems.

The primary system was, therefore, democratic in its origin, and aimed at being simple, concentrated and national. It had, however, been subjected to criticism which had embarrassed, not only the programme, but the whole system of primary education. It had been stated that the programme was top-heavy, and also that the change from the old programme to the new was too sudden and did not take sufficiently into account the unpreparedness of very many of the teachers and pupils, especially in the matter of Irish or the bad attendance at many of the rural schools.

A CONFERENCE.

A representative conference was now sitting to examine the programme, and it was hoped that the programme which would emerge from the hands of so representative a body would be such as would suit their national needs.

The success of any programme depended on the supply of an adequate and competent body of teachers and a regular school attendance. Teachers were now much better off than in former years, and a Departmental Committee had been set up to go into the question of training.

The Committee had already regarded the curriculum of the training colleges and had recommended a more up-to-date preparation for entrance by the abolition of the monatorial system and the substitution of modern preparatory training colleges. The full proposals would be submitted to the Irish National Teachers' Organisation and other educational bodies for full discussion.

The inadequacy of school buildings was under consideration and a thorough census was being made of the buildings, and when it was complete it may be necessary to ask for a very considerable sum to bring the primary school accommodation up to the level necessary for complete efficiency.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

In secondary education a complete educational revolution had been effected by putting into operation during the year the new programmes drawn up by the Secondary Education Committee of the Second Dail. Rigidity had been replaced by freedom.

The old mechanical programme had been superseded by a thoroughly modern programme, which gave full scope to the teachers' gifts and to the pupils' real tastes and faculties.

Dealing with technical education, the President said that a report was being formulated, embodying a scheme of reform and reconstruction, which was considered necessary to bring technical instruction into line with the needs of the Irish people. It would deal with only a part of the problem of post-primary education—the training of boys and girls for careers in commerce and industry. There would remain the question of the provision of post-primary part time education for young people between 14 and 18 who had to work on the land, and it was hoped that during the coming year that would become the next great educational problem.

Until some such effective system was evolved for rural children, not only the farming class, but the nation as a whole, would suffer. That was a problem, the President concluded, which a representative Commission might investigate with great advantage to the nation, and if there was any large body of opinion in the Dail which regarded it as an urgent question, the Government would welcome suggestions for setting up a Commission for its investigation, and for the investigation of the whole question of post-primary vocational training.

NEGLECT.

Mr. O'Connell said education had been neglected because of the peculiar state of affairs that existed through the appointment of the Minister for Education as a Boundary Commissioner, and pointed out that the only Act since the establishment of the Saorstat to the credit of the Department of Education was a twopenny halfpenny measure of two clauses repealing something in a previous Act.

Professor Magennis strongly criticised the training colleges, whose importance, he said, had not been recognised.

In moving a reduction in the vote of £17,569, Mr. Johnson said he did so to make it necessary for the Minister to ask the Dail for a supplementary estimate of £100,000 in the autumn, when he hoped the Minister for Education would be present to discuss the many matters requiring consideration. It might be that by that time a new Minister would be appointed.

Professor Thrift seconded the motion.

Mr. Alton supported the motion and said that it would ensure a full debate at some later date.

Major Bryan Cooper declared that he strongly supported the amendment and said that it was very necessary that they should have the Minister for Education in attendance.

After some further discussion the President said that he could not accept the amendment. He would, however, undertake to introduce a total vote whenever he was satisfied that the Minister for Education would be available.

Mr. Johnson accepted this undertaking and withdrew his amendment.

The vote was passed.

DUBLIN RECTOR'S HOUSING "PUSH."

QUOTED AS EXAMPLE TO PRESBYTERIANS.

DUTY OF THE CHURCHES.

"We talk about Bolshevism, and pass resolutions about the drink traffic and strikes; but I do say this—if I were living in some of the hovels that I have visited from time to time in the City of Dublin (some inhabited by members of my own Church), I do not know what I would do, but certainly I would do something if only to impress my indignation that this is going on, and no persons professing the Christian faith bothering about it."

The Rev. J. Denham Osborne, D.D. (Dublin), who made this statement, told the Irish Presbyterian General Assembly at Belfast yesterday about the housing schemes accomplished and the plans put forward by the Rev. D. H. Hall, Rector of St. Barnabas, Dublin, and about the response made to Mr. Hall's proposals by Dublin employers and by the Representative Church Body of the Church of Ireland. He also cited again the figure of 21,000 families living in single rooms in Dublin.

"If the Christian Churches took in hands this one problem of decent houses for people," he urged, "they could get it done. It would cost something in the matter of rates, but they could get something if they threw themselves into it for a fight. A member of the Assembly said there was no protection against Communism, except 'Church connection and a knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ.' I agree with it, but I want to know what is involved in 'the knowledge of Our Lord Jesus Christ.'"

APPEAL TO YOUNG MINISTERS.

Did it mean, Dr. Osborne continued, that they should attend church, have a sleep for half an hour after lunch, and later a motor drive? If they, as Christian people, were to try and bring the principles of their Faith into practical effect they must help those who needed their help, and remedy abominable social conditions, put their hands in their pockets, and set their brains to work. He hoped the young ministers of their Church would rally to this great problem and tackle it, as it had been bungled by the old men in the past. These were the things people were interested in to-day, and they were shocked that such conditions should be permitted, while huge sums were spent on vast armaments, and three millions spent in drink. They were sick of the miserable conditions in which the poor were compelled to live. All these things were, he was sure, absolutely disgusting to the young ministers in their ranks.

UTILITY SOCIETY HOUSES.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE IN DUBLIN.

A largely attended Service of Thanksgiving for the erection of 100 houses by the St. Barnabas' Public Utility Society was held in St. Barnabas' Church, North Wall, Dublin, yesterday evening (St. Barnabas Day). Among the clergy who took part in it were Canon Drury, Canon Connell, the Revs. J. Carson, J. S. Carolan, H. B. Dobbs, C. T. Tyndall, and H. W. Donald.

The Town Clerk of Dublin was represented by Mr. W. J. Stitt, and in addition to the architect of the Society's houses (Mr. F. G. Hicks), representatives of the Dublin Port and Docks Board and of the Dublin Rotary Club, and over 120 stockholders of the Society attended.

The Rev. D. H. Hall announced that on Tuesday last Mr. Knowldin, Secretary of the Royal Horticultural Society, Dublin, had inspected the gardens of the Society's houses, and had awarded four prizes to tenants as follows:—1st, Mr. Richard Fitzell; 2nd, Mr. George Dodd; 3rd and 4th (equal), Mr. Henry and Mr. Greery. These prizes, he stated, would be presented on Saturday afternoon in the Recreation Grounds, Utility Gardens, by Lady Ardilaun, who had given the pavilion which stands on the grounds. He also announced that a message had been received from the Girls' Friendly Society, which had set out to collect the price of a house—£400; that they had collected that amount and £200 more. The extra £200 would be invested in the Society. He thanked the Dublin Corporation for the splendid co-operation that they had given on several occasions. They had shown their interest in every way in helping a struggling society, the success of which was now assured.

The Bishop of Killaloe, who preached the sermon, took as his text, "Fellow workers with God" (II. Cor., vi., i.). He said that four houses were a small beginning, but St. Barnabas's Utility Society to-day had 102 houses to its credit, and the whole conscience of the community had been awakened to the need of a great cause and to its moral significance. It was not the first attempt to deal with congested areas in the city. He knew clergymen who had been labouring for years in the heart of the city dealing with its problems—moral problems chiefly. They had gone their way unnoticed by the general public, for there were unknown warriors of the Church as well as of the Empire. Their labours must not be forgotten, for they had paved the way for the awakening of public conscience.

CORK DEPUTY JUDGE AND CLUB LICENCES.

REPLY TO STATE SOLICITOR.

At Cork Circuit Court, yesterday, the Blarney Branch of the British Legion of ex-Service men applied for a licence for their club.

Mr. Casey, State Solicitor, said that the instruction of the State was to oppose every application for licences for clubs.

Having heard the evidence, Deputy Judge Rosenthal said that the State could direct whatever they liked, but until the country had got prohibition they had got the wrong person in him. He did not see why this club, called the British ex-Service men's Club — a lot of decent men — should not get a certificate of registration, which would enable them to come together, not necessarily to drink, but if they did have a drink, what matter? "We have not arrived at prohibition, which, in my opinion, disgraces the freedom of America," said the Deputy Judge, and he added:—"I cannot see why anybody should want to oppose the application of these humble decent men. It is a matter for legislation, and not a matter for coming into Court and objecting to the administration of the law as it stands."

EX-CAPTAIN'S DENIALS.

NOT ON JOURNEY TO KILDARE.

NEW DOCUMENT

PRODUCED BY THE PROSECUTION.

The trial of James Murray, an ex-officer of the National Army, for the alleged murder of Joseph Bergin, a military policeman (whose body was found in the canal at Milltown Bridge, County Kildare), on the 13th December, 1923, has not concluded.

Yesterday, the third day of the trial, the defence was opened by Mr. W. J. Gleeson, and then Murray himself gave evidence, which occupied the rest of the day.

His case is that on the 13th December, 1923, he was told by Colonel Costello, under whom he was working in the Intelligence Department, that there was a car going out on special duty and that he would have to drive it. Two men in civilian clothes were in the car, and he was told that they had the necessary instructions. When he learnt from the men (whose names he did not know) that the journey was to be in connection with "the Bergin case," he said he would not go, and left. He spent that evening in Dublin, and afterwards went with his brother to Kingstown, where the men, to whom he had given his address there, called for him later. They drove into Dublin, where, having received from one of the men some documents to hand to Colonel Costello, he left the car.

Mr. Gleeson had said in his address that Murray had not gone away as a fugitive from justice, and Murray, in his evidence, maintained that his departure to England, and subsequently to the Argentine, had been arranged by Colonel Costello, to whom he had given a promise not to make a voluntary statement. He had returned in order to have the whole thing cleared up. The prosecution produced a statement, according to which Bergin was said to have been captured by Murray and two other men and shot as "one of the usual official executions." Murray denied that the statement was written or signed by him, and Mr. Gleeson complained of the production of the statement, which had not been mentioned at any previous stage of the trial.

DEFENCE OPENED.

The trial is taking place at the Central Criminal Court, before Mr. Justice Hanna.

Mr. Carrigan, K.C.; Mr. Dudley White, K.C., and Mr. Costello, K.C. (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) are for the prosecution.

Mr. W. J. Gleeson (instructed by Messrs. Noyk and O'Reilly) is counsel for the defence.

Mr. Gleeson opened the case for the accused, and, explaining the fact that Murray had gone away after the crime, said he had gone to Scotland on important Government work and to see a man named O'Callaghan, for whom he discharged official duty. When there, negotiations took place between Colonel Costello and Michael Murray, brother of the prisoner, with the object of inducing James to go to the United States. The jury would find that his going away to the Argentine was no more the going away of a fugitive from justice than would be the going of a man on his holidays. This man had come back from the Argentine to rid himself of the mud cast upon him, to defend his name and his honour from the charges made by the foul hirelings who were responsible for this dark deed. It would be shown that Murray, realising or suspecting the nature of the work in which those men in the motor were engaged—men whom he did not know—left the car, returned to the barracks and reported in the morning to Colonel Costello. Where, asked counsel, were the two men who were in the motor car? In conclusion, Mr. Gleeson commented on the refusal of certain information by the Ministry of Defence.

PRISONER'S EVIDENCE OPENED.

James Murray, the prisoner, was then examined by Mr. Gleeson, and said that before the 13th December, 1923, he was an officer who had been engaged in active service. He was working in the Intelligence Department and was brought into connection with the Bergin case under Colonel Costello, who on the 8th December gave him a file of papers with instructions to investigate the matter and "locate" Bergin. On the 12th December he made a verbal report, and on the 13th saw Colonel Costello, who told him that there was a car going out on special duty and he wanted him to drive it.

Did he say where it was going?—No. He said—indicating two men in civilian clothes—these men have the necessary instructions about the matter.

Did you know these two men by appearance?—Yes.

Did you know their names?—No.

Was there a driver in the car?—Yes, Cleary, a private.

Did you ultimately go into the car?—Yes, and the two men were sitting at the back.

Did you ascertain anything about their mission?—When Private Cleary left, I was told it was to Kildare they were going in connection with the Bergin case. I told them I would not go. The driver had just gone when I said that.

What happened?—I got out out and left.

Was there any further conversation?—I gave them my address at Kingstown and said I would see them in the morning.

What did you do then?—I went back and reported to Colonel Costello at G.H.Q., and then went to Portobello Barracks and remained until about 7.30.

Were you in uniform?—Yes; I had an appointment to meet my brother, who was Commandant at Beggars' Bush. I met him at Westmoreland street and a man named Kinsella, who left us between Grafton street and College Green. My brother and I intended to go to the Royal, but he had to meet a girl and we parted, but I met him later at the Winter Gardens, and afterwards we went home to Dun Laoghaire, to 44 Convent road.

"A TALL, DARK MAN."

Next morning, did anything unusual happen?—My brother, Michael, woke me up; the motor was outside and I then saw one of the men who had been in the car—a tall, dark man. I told him to come in and have tea. I then saw the second man who had been in the car. They gave me a packet of papers for Colonel Costello and to say that I had "got on all right," and that Bergin had seen Carolan, of the "Irregular" Intelligence Department on the previous day. Witness added that he left the men at Crown Alley and went to Portobello.

What happened when you went to Colonel Costello?—He said: "How did they get on?" and I said: "I have these documents to give you." He asked: "Where are the men?" and I said: "They got out down town; I suppose they did not wish to be seen coming to the barracks." I told him about my leaving the car. Afterwards witness said he saw Colonel Costello at G.H.Q. and was informed that a message was received stating that a body had been found and identified as that of Bergin.

Anything else?—Yes; he told me to "keep my mouth shut" on the matter.

What next?—When I saw him next day he was very nervous and said that the Civic Guard were "getting hot" about the car and that I was the only one the driver knew, and to be very cautious and to make no statement. I said I would not make any voluntary statement, but if I found it was to clear myself and for my own safety I would. He said if I was not there I would not be asked anything, and I said I would not make any statement without consulting him. He sent me away on inspection duty, giving me £50 for expenses, including eight Bank of Ireland notes and a cheque.

Mr. Justice Hanna—Colonel Costello was not asked specifically about this.

Witness said he was sent to Liverpool, being given a letter to a Mrs. Nesbitt there. He delivered the letter, which contained a note of introduction from Colonel Costello.

Mr. Justice Hanna—Colonel Costello was not asked about this, and it is open to the suggestion that it is an after-thought—made up after his evidence.

TO GLASGOW AND BUENOS AYRES.

Witness said he went to Glasgow, and reported to Michael O'Callaghan, the agent by whom he was employed.

Did you receive any money?—Yes, I received a second sum of £50 from a courier from Colonel Costello, and from O'Callaghan I received £10.

Was there any conversation about the Bergin case?—My brother wanted me to come forward and make a statement to clear myself, as he considered there was a reflection on himself. There was a suggestion made that I should go to the United States, and I ultimately consented to go, accompanied by my brother.

Who supplied the ticket and money?—Colonel Costello supplied the money, £50, and £50 from O'Callaghan. They went from London to Buenos Ayres, and afterwards returned to Dublin, having received a letter from home and wishing to have this thing fairly threshed out. He communicated with Colonel Costello from Glasgow. On returning to Dublin he was arrested by Colonel Neligan, and made no effort to evade arrest.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carrigan—The first instructions he received were to find out about Bergin, who he was, and to locate him. Col. Costello did not tell him what the special mission was on which he was directed to drive the motor. He did not know the two men in the car, and he left it because of the way in which he was directed to drive it on "special duty."

Is not your defence that you left the car because these two men were going out to murder Bergin?—No, but it was the atmosphere, and because there was something irregular going to be done.

What irregularity?—Nothing particular.

Why did you give these two men your private address and say you would meet them the next morning?—There was nothing irregular about that. Both Colonel Costello and Commandant O'Donoghue had perjured themselves in their accounts of witness's interview on his return on the morning of the 14th December.

Why as an innocent man—being innocent of this murder—did you keep your mouth shut?—Because Colonel Costello told me to do so.

Why should you, an innocent man as you profess to be, proceed to lead the life of a "hunted man"?—I did not lead the life of a hunted man.

LETTERS QUOTED.

In further cross-examination, the witness said he wrote the letter referring to "P.," the head of the State, because he had promised Colonel Costello to make no voluntary statement except to clear himself.

Counsel quoted from the letters read on the previous day, and witness admitted that the proposal was to have it represented that Bergin had been tried by drumhead court-martial.

Mr. Carrigan—Do you accuse Colonel Costello of being party to a drumhead court martial on Bergin?—No, I could not prove it.

Whom do you accuse of the death of Bergin?—I accuse no one.

You owed no allegiance to those two men who were in the car?—No.

Do you accuse Colonel Costello of contriving the death of Bergin?—I believe that he knew something about it.

Mr. Justice Hanna—You believe that he knew Bergin was to be murdered when he sent you and these men out?—Yes, that he knew something about it.

Mr. Carrigan—You were the one innocent man of the four?—Yes.

Mr. Justice Hanna—Where is the "captured stuff" referred to in one of your letters?—It is in my possession.

Mr. Carrigan—The incriminating document found on Bergin, and for which he sacrificed his life?—The documents I refer to were given to Colonel Costello and then restored to me.

ALLEGED CONFESSION.

Mr. Carrigan—Did you write a letter over your own name stating that you had received instructions from Colonel Costello to proceed to Kildare, and that Bergin was to be shot as a dangerous man?—No.

ALLEGED CONFESSION.

Counsel read a document which bore the name of the prisoner, and stated that he drove with two men to Kildare, placed Bergin under arrest, took him to an empty house, interrogated him, searched him, and found despatches in his pocket that Bergin was shot and his body taken to the Milltown Bridge and thrown into the canal, and that he reported to Colonel Costello, at the same time handing over the captured documents. It would be taken as one of the "usual unofficial executions."

DOCUMENT REPUDIATED.

The witness having looked at the document for some time said that it was not in his handwriting, though it was like it. The signature was not his.

Referring to one of the admitted letters, counsel suggested that it was a clever and ingenious document written by the prisoner to Colonel Costello to suggest that he was himself a compromised party and proposing that he should by his action compromise the Government.

The witness said he was only anxious to know how much the Minister of Justice knew.

In England you were afraid Scotland Yard would have been on your track? Yes.

You suggest in your letter something about comparing the finger prints? Yes, but not with reference to mine.

I put it to you that the document I have read gives the true account of how you and your two companions murdered Bergin? No.

You preferred to be regarded as a felon, pursued by the authorities in two Continents if necessary—a hunted man, stained with the charge of murder—rather than come forward and simply prove if you could that you had taken no part in this expedition? I had promised Colonel Costello I would make no voluntary statement. I did not like to let him down.

Did you hear your counsel state that he did not associate complicity between Colonel Costello and the crime? Yes; I did not instruct my counsel.

Mr. Justice Hanna—Was your idea in one of your letters that it might come about that if you come back to this country the Government would not prosecute you for murder? Yes.

Did any one on the part of the Government ever suggest that they would not prosecute you? No.

Mr. Carrigan—You ask the jury to believe that you are as innocent as the child unborn? Yes.

And that Colonel Costello contrived the murder? I don't say that at all.

If I say that your letters were written because the Government refused to submit to your audacious attempt to implicate others would it be true? No.

And to defame and discredit the Government? No.

To Mr. Gleeson—I never heard of the document containing the alleged confession until it was put into my hand to-day, nor was it ever referred to.

Counsel asked his lordship to reject the document entirely. It had not even been mentioned by Mr. Carrigan in his opening statement, and he (Mr. Gleeson) was simply appalled when he heard it, and the defence was deprived of every opportunity of investigating by cross-examination or otherwise of testing its genuineness.

A juror said they considered that an expert's opinion should be procured as to the question of handwriting.

The Court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

THE PRESERVATION OF GAME.

NEW LEINSTER SOCIETY FORMED.

A meeting, having for its object the organisation of an association to check the unauthorised destruction of game in Leinster, was held yesterday at the City Arms Hotel, Prussia street, Dublin.

It was decided to invite the co-operation of hunt clubs and coursing clubs in having drastic legislation passed and taking such other steps as may be considered effective to achieve the object in view.

A resolution was unanimously passed calling on landowners to make an united effort to preserve what game is left in the country, and to give permission to the Civic Guard to enter their lands to challenge any person pursuing game without the written permission of the owner.

It was decided to name the new organisation the Leinster Branch of the National Game Protection Association, and Mr. Robt. Craigie, Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, was authorised to employ an assistant for the purposes of organisation. Favourable reports were made by members who are organising in the County Dublin, and a large number of subscriptions were handed in.

The Chairman (Mr. Ml. Dunne) appealed for support from all landowners. "The feelings of the people," he added, "are in favour of clean sport."

PROBLEM OF DIVORCE.

house wall without hitting one of his children, but he always supported indissoluble marriage, and his heart is very properly preserved in some Roman church in an urn of bronze or marble.

The Chairman—Do you not think that we might leave the dead alone?

Dr. Yeats—I am passing on; I will not dwell long on them. We do, however, differ about Parnell, and when, after the divorce proceedings, he married the woman who became thereby Mrs. Parnell, he did what was his plain duty in the eyes of all Protestant gentlemen in the country; but Catholic ecclesiastics, with clear logic from their point of view, declared that his marriage doubled his offence, and now they are pressing to make such marriage impossible. They may, perhaps, interpret correctly that passage in St. Thomas which lacks historical validity, but they deeply offend the consciences of an important minority of their fellow-countrymen.

THE NELSON PILLAR.

I wish to draw the attention of the Protestant Bishop of Meath to the third monument. The English people honour the memory of Nelson and teach their children to honour that memory; but the Bishop of Meath thinks that he should have been hung or transported. A proposal has lately been made for the removal of that monument, on the ground that it obstructs the traffic. I suggest that the Bishop of Meath should urge this removal upon moral grounds, that we may have the whole matter out, and judge whether the view of certain ecclesiastics of all denominations is correct or that of the people of England, or of the members of the Church of Ireland who erected that monument. The Bishop of Meath would have preferred a gallows.

I think it unfortunate that, within three years of the establishment of this State, the Catholic Church should impose its law in this most vital matter upon a minority who regard that law as oppressive. Yet there are compensations. I am proud to consider myself a typical man of that minority. We have been a great stock. There are few more famous stocks in Europe. We are the people of Burke and of Swift, of Grattan, of Emmet, of Parnell. We have created nearly all the literature of modern Ireland and most of its political intelligence. I shall now discover, or my children will discover, whether our stamina is impaired.

You have defined our position and given us a popular following, and if our stamina is, indeed, not impaired, your victory will be brief, your defeat final, and at its coming this nation may be transformed.

BAD FOR COUNTRY.

COLONEL MOORE'S OBJECTION TO DIVORCE.

Colonel Maurice Moore said that Dr. Yeats had suggested that Protestantism stood for divorce. For many years after the Reformation divorce continued to be contrary to the law. They objected to divorce because they believed that it was bad for the country. They did not want to dominate Protestantism. He pointed out to Dr. Yeats, regarding the education and culture introduced into this country, that when the so-called Reformers came they burned the monasteries and libraries, and drove out a people more intelligent than themselves.

Mr. Bagwell said that Roman Catholics who obtained a divorce would alienate themselves from their Church. Protestants held an entirely different view. It was not a question of the fifteenth or sixteenth centuries, but of to-day. If they took away from Protestants a liberty which they now enjoyed, it seemed to him they would be making what was a Church law into a State law. That would be a great mistake. It would be looked on as a tyrannical act.

He was sure that to many in that House that was not a question of right or wrong, but was largely a matter of conscience. In so far as for Roman Catholics divorce was a self-denying ordinance he had the greatest respect for them, because he was sure that there were hard cases in their community, just as there were in the Protestant community. But he had no sympathy at all with the attitude which, because it disapproved of divorce, would prevent the minority from enjoying that liberty.

THE PRACTICAL ISSUE.

As to the practical issue, Mr. Bagwell asked what moral good it was going to do the country if they were to do away with the facilities for divorce. He would suggest that that was essentially a matter of toleration, and though a great majority of the citizens disapproved of divorce, which they had a perfect right to do, a number of others, a minority, thought very differently on the subject, and might be allowed to enjoy their liberty.

Mr. Bennett said that any part he would take in the debate would certainly not be taken on the sectarian issue, but on the sanctity of the home and the good of family life.

Regarding Senator Yeats's suggestion of pressure being brought to bear on them in that House, he should say that never at any time was any attempt made to bring pressure on him to vote one way or the other. Senator Bagwell suggested that they should leave the matter as it was, but they could not do that. It was a burning question, and the Dail and Senate should deal with it on the proper basis for the good of the majority of the people of the country.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Senator Yeats overlooked one State in his list of countries—South Carolina, a most important State, and a Protestant State, where there were no divorce laws, and the morality of the people was just as great as that of any other people. With regard to Senator Yeats's references to the dead, he agreed with the Chairman that he should let the dead rest.

He was sure that no Senator agreed with the Senator's statement about the effect of divorce laws on the relations between the North and South. The few who wanted divorce could go across the Channel and get it. To suggest that the Senate would legislate on religious grounds was abominable.

THE MOTION.

Mr. Douglas then proposed his motion. He said that members of that House should be extremely careful in suggesting motives to other members. Though sharing the views of the majority in the country on the sanctity of marriage, he disagreed with the majority in that he did not feel it right to take action which would prevent a small number of persons who did not share the views of the majority from seeking certain relief which they could get before the Free State came into being.

It was not sufficient to say that they had no provisions to deal with divorce, or that they should leave things as they were. It was not possible to divest themselves of power that they had, and those powers included, if they thought fit, the making of provision for divorce. The suggestion had been made elsewhere that it would be possible for that House to prevent the introduction of bills of divorce, and he thought that if they agreed with his resolution they would find a method in it by which, if either House said it was not proper to consider a bill, that bills could not go any further. It would leave the matter open that at any future time they would have powers to deal with it. That motion suggested a course of dealing with the matter without limiting their powers.

OUT OF ORDER.

Mrs. Wyse Power asked if the motion which she had on the paper was in order—a proposal that the Joint Committee on Standing Orders relative to private business be requested to submit additional Standing Orders and to propose such alterations as would prevent the introduction of bills of divorce "a vinculo matrimonii."

The Chairman said that the motion was out of order. He had ruled before that they could not legislate by resolution. The motion was an attempt to do so and the Senator wanted to get behind that ruling.

Mrs. Wyse Power said that she regretted that the sectarian element had been introduced. Mr. Bagwell had asked for toleration. They all knew that divorce was wrong. Why should they tolerate wrong-doing?

The Countess of Desart protested against the idea that divorce destroyed the sanctity of the home.

Mr. Brown seconded Mr. Douglas's motion. There was no doubt, at all, he said, that it came within the definition of a private bill. It was a motion that would bind the House, not to legislate for a certain purpose, but to frame an order which would not offend against the principles of any member of the House. The House in passing the resolution would not in any way be accepting responsibility for divorce.

Colonel Moore opposed the motion.

The Chairman said that there was nothing in the motion to prevent a Bill of four lines being brought into the House, and having a discussion upon it.

Mr. O'Farrell suggested that those who felt aggrieved could settle the matter for themselves by voting against the motion.

The Chairman said that he could not allow any motion that would be an evasion of the Constitution. There could be no objection to a resolution recommending the Dail to bring in legislation that would prevent divorce, but he could not, under the Constitution, take away an existing right by anything short of legislation.

Mr. O'Farrell said that he regretted the speech of Mr. Yeats because it might be used to the prejudice of the Irish people. It clearly proved that poets and litterateurs were not good moralists or good statesmen. (Laughter.) The question was purely a social one, and not a religious question. He repudiated the suggestion that the votes of the members were influenced by religious considerations.

NO OPPRESSION.

Mr. Farren also opposed the motion, and he said that he was not in any way influenced by the bishops or priests of his Church. As to oppressing the minority, he said that they who suffered from the religious persecution of the minority in the past were not going to inflict any religious disability upon those who differed from them. (Hear, hear.)

The objection he had to Senator Douglas's motion was that it would leave things practically as they were. He was personally opposed to granting these facilities.

Mr. O'Neill said that by preventing divorce they would be doing their duty to the community.

Mr. Irwin said that his objections were founded on principle, not on religious bigotry.

Mr. Yeats said that in speaking of "pressure" he had not meant that individual pressure had been put on any member of that House, but there had been pressure through the Press and by sermons, and by means of letters intended to influence public opinion in the country. The only arguments that had been used in connection with that question had been purely religious arguments.

THE DIVISION.

Mr. Douglas said that if the House did not accept his motion and failed to pass some alternative, it would be his duty formally to move one of these bills in Parliament. He had been told by several persons that he had already grossly failed in his duty in not having done so before.

The motion was carried on a division by 15 votes "for" to 13 "against." For—Senators Douglas, Barrington, Browne, Countess of Desart, Duffy, Sir Nugent Everard, Foran, Mrs. Green, Sir John Griffith, Haughton, Hyde, Sir John Keane, Earl of Kerry, O'Farrell and Yeats—15. Against—Senators Bennett, Mrs. Costello, Cummins, Farren, Irwin, Lenihan, Love, McKean, Colonel Moore, Nesbitt, O'Dea, O'Neill and Mrs. Wyse Power—13.

The House adjourned until Wednesday next.

FARMHOUSE STRUGGLE.

John Kirwan, a farmer, residing at Ballytigla, Borris (Queen's County), was killed at his home on Wednesday night. He was stabbed through the neck with a jack-knife, which is now in the possession of the police.

According to our Kilkenny correspondent, there is evidence that a desparate struggle took place in the house between Kirwan and another man. The police have issued the description of a man named Denis O'Brien, said to be a wireless operator and motor driver, and a native of the district; and military are assisting the police in a search of the countryside.

MILITARY OFFICER DROWNED.

SHANNON BATHING ACCIDENT.

At the inquest in Athlone yesterday on Lieutenant Joseph Plunkett (23), of Ballyjamesduff, County Cavan, who was drowned on Wednesday afternoon in the Shannon at Athlone, Captain Halligan stated that the deceased officer, who was a swimmer, went out about twenty yards, near No. 1 Battery, and, turning back against the current, seemed to get into difficulties and shouted for a boat. When a boat hurried to his assistance an oar was stretched out, but he seemed to be unable to grasp it and sank.

Captain O'Reilly said that he got so close to the drowning man that he believed that he touched him with the oar, but he failed to catch it.

Charles Hanley stated that when Lieut. Plunkett went down he dived from a boat, but failed to recover the body. After an effort of over three-quarters of an hour he located it, but was too exhausted to bring it up.

The jury, in bringing in a verdict of death from drowning, commended Mr. Hanley for his heroic conduct.

BATHER DROWNED IN QUARRY.

A young man named Richard Dunne, a labourer, was drowned on Tuesday afternoon while bathing in a quarry at Newtown, County Carlow.

Soon after entering the water, which is twenty feet deep, with a companion named James Curran, he got into difficulties. His companion tried to save him, but he sank, and did not come to the surface again.

DROWNED IN THE LEE.

At an inquest held at the Mercy Hospital, Cork, yesterday evening by Coroner Murphy, solicitor, on the body of George McCarthy, 3 Brown street, who was drowned in the Lee, near the Mardyke, on Wednesday evening, the jury found that death was caused by asphyxia, due to drowning, and attached no blame to anybody.

LIMERICK WOMAN DROWNED.

The body of a married woman named O'Dwyer, aged fifty-five, was recovered from the Shannon at Corbally, Limerick, yesterday by fishermen employed by the Lax Weir Fishing Company. She had been missing from her home in the city for about a week, and was, it is stated, of rather eccentric habits.

It is not known how she got into the water, but her death is presumed to have been accidental.

TWO SISTERS LOST.

The bodies of Constance and Kathleen Rothwell, aged eighteen and seventeen respectively, the only daughters of Captain R. R. Rothwell, of Hawkshead, were recovered yesterday from Lake Windermere.

It is assumed that the girls went to bathe, and that one got into difficulties, the other being drowned in an attempt to rescue her.

ORWELL FETE.

The Orwell Fête—in aid of the Rathgar Methodist Church Extension and War Memorial Fund—was opened yesterday by Lady Anderson, of Londonderry, at the Gables, Orwell road, Rathgar, Dublin. There was a very large attendance of parishioners and others.

Lady Anderson had been connected with the Brighton road Church for over twenty years, and she still retains pleasant memories of her association with it.

Mr. John Good, T.D., presiding, paid a tribute to the educational work that had been done by Sir Robert and Lady Anderson.

The Rev. J. M. Alley said that their church extension work, which had been long overdue, had now been happily and successfully completed. The total outlay would not fall far short of £9,000.

The fête will be continued to-day and to-morrow, opening each day at 3 o'clock. "The Gables" has been kindly lent by Mr. H. B. Hill, to whom the Executive Committee is deeply indebted.

MYRA FEIS RESULTS.

The Myra Feis results announced yesterday were as follow:—

Jig (confined to St. Nicholas of Myra Parish)—1, Lily Clarke; 2, Annie Snow; 3, Mamie Casey; very highly commended, C. Pasqueth and Josephine Malone.

Reel (confined to Parish)—1, Annie Snow; 2, Josephine Malone; 3, Maggie Jones; very highly commended, Mamie Casey.

Parish Hornpipe—1, Annie Snow; 2, Mamie Casey; 3, C. Pasqueth; very highly commended, Josephine Malone.

Adjudicators—Misses Lawlor and Fagan.

Religious Knowledge—1, Mary Gleeson (Presentation Convent, Terenure); 2, Lillie Payne (Holy Faith Convent, Haddington road); very highly commended, Jane White, Peggy Kinsella; highly commended, Rosheen McGann.

Adjudicator—The Rev. Father Keane, C.C.

THE SECRETARIAL COURSE at SKERRY'S COMMERCIAL SCHOOL, 10 Harcourt street, Dublin, is the best possible preparation for a Business Career, and includes expert tuition in Shorthand, Typewriting, Book-keeping, Office Routine, etc. Prospectus free.—(Advt.)

U.S. MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED STRONG.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)
NEW YORK, Thursday.

Stocks opened firm. Constructive trade news and easy money rates were incentives for enormous buying of speculative and investment Industrials and Specialities. Dividend paying and low-priced Railroads showed moderate strength. Some popular Oils were bought in huge blocks, and reached the year's highest levels, due to the upward tendency of crude oil and an unprecedented demand for gasolene. American Republics Corporation advanced 19, Havana Electric 10, and Maxwell "B" Certificates 7. The market closed strong. Government Bonds firm; Railroad Bonds firm. The day's sales totalled 1,220,000 shares. Money on call closed easy at 3½ per cent. bid and 4 per cent. asked. All business was done at 3½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper was quoted at 3¾ to 4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady. Silver ⅛c. higher at 68⅞.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Thursday.

WHEAT opened easy, 2¼c. to ⅝c. lower, but rallied afterwards on unfavourable crop news from Kansas, covering of shorts and in sympathy with corn. Values weakened later on the poor export demand, favourable North-West crop reports and a slack outside demand, but advanced owing to adverse European crop advices and strength of North-West markets. Subsequently values fell back again, and the market closed barely steady, ⅛c. to ⅜c. down. Spot easy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE LAND CONFERENCE AND ITS WORK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It is natural enough that the present generation should have no leisure to inquire into the suppressed history of the last quarter of a century in Ireland. Perhaps, however, you may think it worth while to insert a word of correction of your amazingly inadequate obituary notice of Lord MacDonnell's work in Ireland. Your account of the Land Conference is: "Not long after Lord MacDonnell's appointment, the desire to settle the land trouble, so destructive of the peace of Ireland, brought together in friendly conference a number of landlords and some members of the Nationalist Party, of whom Mr. William O'Brien was the most influential."

Please let me recall that it was not as an individual I took part in the Land Conference, but as one of four representatives unanimously appointed for the purpose by the Irish Parliamentary Party, the other three being Mr. J. E. Redmond, Chairman of the Irish Party; Mr. T. C. Harrington, M.P., then Lord Mayor of Dublin, and Mr. T. W. Russell, M.P.; that their action was unanimously approved by the Irish Parliamentary Party and by a virtually unanimous National Convention; and that it was the revolt against these all but unanimous national decisions which is responsible for all the misfortunes which have since afflicted Ireland.—Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

THE HUMOUR OF IT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Looking at public affairs here in a detached spirit, I am reminded of the saying attributed to that brilliant diplomat, Lord Dufferin, forty years ago, in reference to a certain foreign State (which was important, but has since gone downhill with a vengeance), in, approximately, the following words:—"The sympathetic stranger at first feels indignant at governmental inefficiency; then he is gradually overcome by sadness at the hopelessness of the position; finally, he sees the humour of it all, and treats it as a joke." All sorts of humorous things are happening here in the Free State which the vast majority fail to appreciate. We have, for example, the grotesque Budget, the fanciful Shannon scheme and a great variety of smaller jokes. In the latter category may be included the proposal to demolish the Nelson Pillar when all round about it cries aloud for restoration.

Talking of public statues of admirals in this connection, perhaps, I may be allowed to digress and tell a curious story. It concerns the commemorative statue erected, in Trieste, if I am not mistaken, in honour of the Austrian Admiral Tegethoff, the brilliant victor of the battle of Lissa, about sixty years ago, when, with his out-of-date wooden ships, he overwhelmed the brand-new ironclad fleet of the Italians. Tegethoff, not being an aristocrat of the Viennese Court set, but merely a Yugo-Slav outsider, was not, however, thus commemoratively honoured till about a generation after his death. Even then the official sculptor was careless and made the mistake of putting whiskers on his marble effigy, although the defunct admiral had been clean-shaven. In due course the error was, some years later, officially rectified by a fresh official sculptor, who, with mallet and chisel, cut off the apocryphal whiskers—the only recorded case of the public shaving of a marble statue. I wonder if our humorists of the lesser kind can beat that.—Yours, etc.,

"KAPPA."

THE FARMERS' PLIGHT.

SIR,—I cannot pretend to the practical experience as a farmer possessed by Mr. W. H. Leis, of Balloughton, but I should like to give what support I can to his letter. So far as the experience I have of Irish farming can guide me, the whole position of affairs is not generally understood. For many years the Irish farmer has provided very nearly all the means of support for the whole country, including every class from errand boys to Ministers of State. All classes other than his own have dipped into that provision as reward for various services, with absolutely insufficient thought or care as to whether they are leaving a sufficient measure to enable him to continue his labours.

The laws of economics tell us that three things are essentially necessary for production—land, labour and capital. He has been given land, though his tenancy of that seems now threatened. He labours himself and provides such other labour as his capital allows; but where is his capital? It is idle to talk of farmers' deposits. Wherever they are and whatever they are, they are not available for the mass of small farmers. I do not know of any country other than Ireland in which there is the same apparent indifference as to whether the farmers of the country have at their disposal the funds necessary for that annual production that is required for the support of all classes. To arrange that funds should be available is not an impossible task.

The general public should understand that they are living, and many are prospering, at the farmers' expense. They render services to one another rather than to the farmer, and the farmer pays. He is taxed and rated on visionary profits that he has never made. He has to pay labourers' wages for months at a time when there is no sale for farm produce. Where is the capital for this to come from? He gets plenty of good advice and "plain truths." No one knows his faults much better than he does himself. You tell him to grow "baby beef" when he cannot buy a few calves to eat his grass. You tell him to feed his pigs and cattle on home-grown barley when you do not know the difficulties of production and the risks involved. You promise great things from sugar beet and seem to have forgotten the questions of manure and stock to provide it and capital to provide that; but space will not allow me to trespass further.—Yours, etc.,

JOHNSON PASHA.

Prevent tooth decay below the gum-line

As the soil nourishes the tree roots, the gums nourish the teeth. And as the tree decays if you bare the roots, so do the teeth decay when gum shrinkage begins.

This condition—one of the first stages of Pyorrhea—is very common and something that ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to prevent. If not checked promptly it will lead to loss of teeth and serious organic diseases.

If used in time and used consistently twice daily, Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. It will preserve the gums in their pink, normal, healthy condition, safeguard your health, and keep your mouth clean, fresh and wholesome.

Forhan's For the Gums is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all chemists.

NO LIGHT FROM THE LIFFEY.

CORPORATION ELECTRICITY SCHEME ABANDONED.

When the Joint Committee of the Oireachtas met yesterday to consider the Liffey Electricity Supply Bill, which was promoted by the Dublin Corporation,

Mr. F. O'C. White, who represented the Corporation, announced that in the face of the opposition of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce to the Liffey scheme, the Corporation was not prepared to press the Bill on the Committee.

"Do we take it that it is definite that the Corporation are withdrawing their bill?" asked Senator S. Brown, K.C., Chairman.

Mr. White replied that the Corporation had decided not to proceed in face of the opposition.

Mr. White then read a letter from the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, which contained the following:—"The view which the Ministry holds is that since the Corporation bill, as well as the two other Liffey bills, is based on a connection of the Liffey as an independent source of supply for Dublin and district, and was framed in the light of the necessarily limited experience of hydro-electrical development in the Free State, it would militate against the most efficient development of the power resources of the State hereafter if any preference or priority were now given to proposals which would certainly undergo radical modifications before the necessity for developing power from the Liffey could arise."

Other members of the Committee present were: Senators Sir Nugent Everard, Bart.; W. Barrington and C. J. Irwin.

SIR HAMILTON HARTY.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL TO ATTEND RECEPTION IN HIS HONOUR.

The Governor-General of the Free State, who is President of the Royal Irish Academy of Music, will attend the reception to be given at the Academy on the 26th June in honour of Sir Hamilton Harty, the distinguished Irish composer and conductor. His Excellency's consent was conveyed to the Governors of the Academy at their last meeting.

OLD MEN'S ASYLUM.

Meetings of the Trustees and Governors and of the Committee of Management of the Old Men's Asylum, North brook road, Dublin, were held at the Institution on Tuesday. The minutes of the preceding meetings were read, confirmed, and signed. In the election of candidates Mr. Henry C. Cronhelm was unanimously elected. The reports of the Visiting Physician (Dr. Winter), of the Ladies' Visiting Committee, and of the monthly visitors were submitted, and orders made thereon. Messrs. Orlando Beater and H. Connyngham consented to act as visitors during ensuing month. The accounts for the past month, previously examined by the Secretary and submitted to the Ladies' Committee, were laid before the Board, and cheques in discharge thereof amounting to £97 11/3 were signed. Other routine business having been disposed of, the Board adjourned. There are some vacancies for suitable candidates. The following subscriptions are gratefully acknowledged:—Mr. C. Eason, £2 10/-; Messrs. J. H. Cooper and A. McFarland, £2 2/- each; Miss M. Grace, £2; Messrs. Orlando P. Beater, W. S. Hayes, and Leverett and Frye, £1 1/- each; Miss Castles, Miss M. Fry, Colonel Walter Guinness, and Messrs. John Lunsden and H. Woods, £1 each, and Mr. F. E. Wills, 10/-. Further subscriptions and donations are earnestly solicited, and will be thankfully received by the Hon. Treasurer, Geo. P. Beater, Esq., C.E., 10 Leinster street, or by the Secretary, at the Institution.

At the General Assembly of the Royal Hibernian Academy, held on the 25th of May, Mr. Harry Clarke, Associate, was raised to full membership. The election has since received the Governor-General's approval, in accordance with the provision of the Academy's Charter.

Earlier in the year Mr. Humbert Craig, landscape artist, was elected an Associate.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

BELLA MINNA.

THE BEST TWO-YEAR-OLD.

GREAT CUP FINISH.

SANTORB WINS BY A NECK.

From Our Travelling Correspondent.

NEWBURY, Thursday Night.

One can be dogmatic now and say without fear of contradiction that the best two-year-old we have seen in England this season is Bella Minna, who won the Berkshire Foal Plate here this afternoon in a canter, and in record time, too; for she covered the five furlongs in 60 4-5 seconds, which is equal to the best accomplished here, and is remarkable for the severe Newbury course. This filly is a beautiful rich dark chestnut by Bachelor's Double out of Santa Minna, a mare who won a little race in Ireland. When Mr. Peter Fitzgerald sent her to Doncaster from his Mondellihy stud she made 710 guineas, and was sold to Colonel Brian Fairfax, who now owns her in partnership with Captain Riley Lord. Reports that she had been well tried by Major Beatty preceded her advent at Doncaster, where she made a very great impression by the style in which she won.

To-day odds were asked for about her, although there were recent winners, like Grey Steppe and Idolatry, in the field. It did not help her that she got a bad bump from Three Feathers as the tapes went up; but I have never seen a bump take less effect, for she was in her stride again in a second, and when they had gone a furlong she had drawn well clear. She won in devastating style by eight lengths from Grey Steppe. No matter what dark ones have yet to come out, it will take a very good one to beat Bella Minna. She is engaged next week in both the Fern Hill Stakes and the King's Stand Stakes, but the former event, which is for two and three-year-olds only, has been chosen for her. Diomedes is in both these races, but he runs for the Granville Stakes on Thursday instead. Big Ben can oppose Bella Minna in the Fern Hill Stakes, but most people will prefer to be on the brilliant filly.

There was again blazing hot weather at Newbury, and we saw an excellent day's sport. In a great finish for the Cup Mr. Barclay Walker's Santorb, who was bred by Captain Charles Moore, beat Baton Rouge a neck, with Marvex a short head away third, and Dumas very close up fourth. This will show the engaging nature of the struggle between the big four of the race, who stood out by themselves on form, on looks, and in the betting before the race. The quartette was backed to the exclusion of everything else, and except that small sums went on Shining Spear the betting all suggested that nine people out of ten believed the winner would come from one of the four. Santorb and Dumas opened as equal favourites, but while the former hardened the latter reached 11 to 2, and Marvex closed at a shorter price than either him or Baton Rouge. The general impression was that Dumas would not stay the distance.

This is exactly what happened, for after he had lain well up all the way and taken the lead entering the straight he was weakening a quarter of a mile from home.

Impeded Passage.

Santorb had been lying on the outside about fourth or fifth, but in the straight Childs went for the rails, and for some time there was every prospect that he would not get through. V. Smyth, on Baton Rouge, while attempting to execute a similar manœuvre, had also found his passage impeded, and he was slower in getting out of the muddle than was Childs.

It was Marvex who first took the lead off Dumas, and he looked very like winning when Santorb challenged him and headed him. Baton Rouge had a good deal of ground to make up a hundred yards from home, but he seemed to be travelling faster than anything at the finish, and only just missed victory.

It was a very good performance on the part of Santorb to have surmounted his difficulties and to win in such good style. He was looking remarkably well, and is a typical specimen of the best sort of Santoi colt. The going was a little too hard for Marvex, who was always galloping a little feelingly. When it is softer he will do better than this, although he ran a really good race here, for he is evidently back in his best form.

A likely sort of candidate for Hunt Cup honours loomed up in the course of the afternoon. This was B.D.A., a four-year-old trained by Walters at Newmarket, who had not been seen out this season before, but had won a couple of fair-class handicaps in the North last season. He did not start quite so good a favourite as the Aga Khan's Blanc Mange here, but in the race he very quickly asserted his clear superiority to everything, and drawing clear of Devonshire at the distance, he raced right away from the Everleigh horse and beat him in a canter by two lengths.

It was a most facile performance, and the colt, even now with his penalty, only goes up in the Hunt Cup handicap to 6st. 13lb. He seems quite a nice horse for a boy to ride too, and he can be depended on to make a creditable show at Ascot. His connections made no secret of the fact that they not only expected him to win to-day but to win the Hunt Cup as well, and one can expect to find him a well-backed candidate for the race in the course of the time between now and Wednesday next. Of course the connections of Tranquillete will have a very accurate line to their chance of beating him through Devonshire.

A Great Finish.

There was a great finish for one of the selling races, in which Donoghue managed to persuade the erratic Almond Wine to do his best. It was just on the post that he got him up to win by a short head from Dragoon—another who, for a wonder, was putting his best foot foremost. The other selling race also saw a head win for Joss House, a cast-off from the King's stable, whom Carslake brought in the last hundred yards to get up and snatch a very narrow victory on the post.

The meeting at Gatwick to-morrow afternoon does not amount to very much. The Three-Year-Old Handicap will see a field of only moderate class, and the Esher Cup winner, Peeping Tom, must have a fair chance. Istria has been sent from Manton to run, and Air Chariot, who is trained not far away, can go to-morrow morning. Corniche is likely to be very much fancied, but for the likely winner I shall take EVA'S CHOICE, who ran well at the last Newmarket Meeting. The Home-Bred Two-Year-Old Plate seems to lie between Understudy and TRIPLE SEC, and I choose the latter to win. BLAIRTOI is likely to win the Manor Welter, and I believe that SWEET CARNATION is more than a little fancied to win the Horley Selling Plate. GALTEE MORE.

CURRAGH TRAINING NOTES.

CURRAGH, Thursday.

PARKINSON'S Helen Adair, Flying Prince, Dinette's Daughter, Colin Moor, Golden Quest, Bally Bee and Mirabeau were sent five furlongs.

DAWSON'S Gertrude P., Mount Prospect's Maid, one mile. The two-year-olds cantered five furlongs.

BEHAN'S Captivating Hack, Duncairn and Maid of the Heath, five furlongs; Ligurian, Vesington Planet and Vesington Wave cantered a similar distance.

Rogers's White Witch, Pursued, Watchful, Hostility and others were usefully employed.

Hartigan's Fedamore and Nantenan covered four furlongs sharply.

FORDRED'S team had healthy exercise.

Wide, the Swedish runner, yesterday beat the world's record for 2,000 metres, his time being 5 min. 25 9-10 sec., which is half a second better than Nurmi's record for the distance.

GOWRAN PARK.

TANTIDDERY WINS AGAIN.

GOWRAN GIRL'S SECOND WIN FOR TETRATEMA CUP.

The additional grand stand recently erected at Gowran Park was hardly adequate to provide accommodation for the large crowd present in the enclosure at yesterday's meeting, while out on the course there was also a large gathering. The wooded surroundings of the picturesque course provided much-needed shelter from the sun's scorching rays, and on no other course would similar conditions have been so bearable. One matter of considerable discomfort to visitors, however, was the state of the road from the station, the clouds of dust churned up by the cars making traffic almost a danger, and it is to be hoped that something will be done to remedy this nuisance by the time the next meeting comes on. Forty-five horses for the six races was a better average of runners than is usual nowadays, and the racing was brisk and interesting throughout.

The four-year-old Royal Orb put up a smart performance in winning the Maiden Hurdle race, and it looks as if this son of Orb is likely to turn out more useful at this branch of the sport than he has been so far on the flat. Warfate showed a return to form by winning the Summer Hurdle race from a field of six others, but it was only after a desperate finish with Kilda's Pride that he got home by a short head, and the success was, in the main, due to E. Quirke's vigorous riding. Warfate was conceding 23lb., and only barely succeeded in doing so; and of the others, Ballygibby gave the best showing.

A popular local victory was scored when Mr. John Kirwan's Gowran Girl won the valuable Tetratema Cup. This trophy, which must be won twice in succession or three times in all, was last year won by Marlfield, and the year before by Gowran Girl, whose owner consequently only requires one more success. It was run for over a partly natural country, which included banks, and of the field of nine runners only four succeeded in getting round. Gowran Girl was always lying handy in the race, and when sent out to win at the entrance to the straight quickly settled the pretensions of the others. The Castle Plate was regarded as a match between Top Speed and Simon Orb, and such it proved, the pair fighting out a long-drawn-out duel all the way up the straight. E Quirke on Simon Orb always seemed to be riding with more confidence than Wing on the other, and he won in comfortable style.

Tantiddery, none the worse for her exertions at Naas on Tuesday, where she beat Kanowna in the three miles steeplechase, turned out fresh and well for the Maiden Steeplechase, and literally galloped the others off their feet. Probably chief opposition to her was removed when Irish Gold fell after going a mile. Others to come to grief were Gutter Snipe and Golden Light, and Randhoon bolted. Pomponious, a recent importation from England, gave her owner, Mr. P. J. Beary, an easy ride in the County Plate, which he won in good style from Cheer Up and Golden Promise. Details:—

3.0—THE PARK PLATE of 75 sovs. A maiden hurdle race. 1½ m.
Mr. John Adams's b. c. ROYAL ORB, by Orb—Royal Mary, 4, 11-0 ......P. Higgins 1

Betting—3 to 1 agst. Kilda's Pride, 4 to 1 each WARFATE, Petit Beau and Perfect Knight, 7 to 1 Pallasgreen, 10 to 1 each Ballygibby and Sunny June.
Perfect Knight made the running from Kilda's Pride, Sunny June, Ballygibby, Warfate and Pallasgreen, with Petit Beau last. This was the order for over a mile, when Kilda's Pride went on from Warfate, Ballygibby and Petit Beau. At the last hurdle Warfate challenged Kilda's Pride, and, getting the better of a good finish, won by a short head; ten lengths divided second and third. Petit Beau was fourth. Perfect Knight fifth, Sunny June sixth and Pallasgreen last.

4.0—THE TETRATEMA CUP, value 100 sovs. (presented by Major Dermot McCalmont, M.C.), with 60 sovs. added. A hunters' steeplechase. 3½ m.

Mr. P. Furlong's Little Chip, 5, 12-0 M. Connors 0
(Winner trained by Owner.)
Betting—5 to 4 agst. Glengarnock, 3 to 1 GOWRAN GIRL, 6 to 1 Ardfinnan, 10 to 1 any other.
Gowran Girl settled down in front of Jeff, Little Fella, Glengarnock, Ardfinnan, Mulligan and Lacken Hill. Jeff fell a mile from home, and Glengarnock at the third last fence, and, Gowran Girl, making practically all the running, won in a canter by thirty lengths; two lengths divided second and third. Mulligan was fourth.

4.45—THE CASTLE PLATE of 100 sovs. A handicap flat race. 1 m. 2 f.
Mr. T. G. O'Brien's b. c. SIMON ORB, by Ignition—Chose Me, 5, 9-4......E. Quirke 1

Mr. P. Heffernan's Irish Gold, 4, 10-5..M Connors 0
Mrs. Croft's Golden Light, 4, 10-0....M. Doherty 0
(Winner trained by owner).
Betting—Evens TANTIDERRY, 4 to 1 Irish Gold, 7 to 1 Mrs. Jiggs and Randhoon, 10 to 1 any other.
Randhoon bolted after half a mile and Irish Gold settled down in front of Tantiderry, Golden Light, Mrs. Jiggs, Gutter Snipe and Lady Irene. At half way Irish Gold fell, as did Gutter Snipe half a mile from home, and Tantiderry, drawing clear away, won in a canter by fifteen lengths; twenty lengths divided second and third.

5.45—THE COUNTY PLATE of 75 sovs. A weight for age flat race. 1 m. 7 f.
Mr. P. J. Beary's b. c. POMPONIOUS, by Pommern—Frusquin's Pride, 4, 11-12....Owner 1

BEVERLEY.

DUVET JUSTIFIES CONFIDENCE.

PERCEPTION MAKES AMENDS.

Visitors to Beverley yesterday again sweltered under a blazing sun. The Watt Memorial Plate was voted a good thing for the Redcar winner, Duvet, and he dominated the situation both in the market and in the race, for once he had taken the measure of Front Line around the back stretch the favourite never looked like being collared. Bell Heather was easily the pick of the others, and Front Line stayed on to fill third place.

A brisk start had been made with the Grand Stand Handicap, and if the class of competitors was in the main poor an exciting finish was furnished by Bolt from the Blue and Arkona, the former getting up to beat Arkona in the last few strides.

There was a very open market for the Etton Selling Welter Handicap, and finally Polo King was in better demand than his stable companion, Corcel. The two, however, were very easily beaten, the winner proving to be Perception, who had failed to justify favouritism at the opening stage of the meeting.

Backers were again on good terms with themselves in the Tranby Juvenile Selling Plate, for the favourite, Savage Lass, outpaced her rivals from start to finish, and won pulling up by six lengths from William's Mount.

Hulme scored a second success in the Brantingham Handicap, for he rode a beautifully judged race on Astronomical, to beat Lady Clarina.

2.0—GRAND STAND HANDICAP PLATE of 200 sovs. For three years old only. Second receives 15 sovs. and third 5 sovs. 5 f.

LONDON BETTING—YESTERDAY.

There was a fair amount of business in the principal London offices yesterday on the Royal Hunt Cup. Polyphontes wound up at 100 to 7. Many inquiries were made regarding B.D.A., who was backed down to 20 to 1. After the success of the colt in the Ogbourne Handicap, 100 to 7 became the best offer. Pando came in for notice at 100 to 6, the price still being obtainable. A few minor wagers were made on the remaining candidates quoted. Details:—

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME AND SELECTIONS.

Fixed at a fortnight later date than customary, the New Croydon summer fixture has happened upon a streak of weather which offers a trying experience to both man and beast. The principal races to-day are a three-year old handicap and a home-bred plate for two years old. The lot which have stood their ground for the handicap do not range very highly in point of class, and our original fancy for Glommen's chance has not been diminished by his stern struggle with Diophon for the Royal Plate at Newbury on Wednesday, but a second effort on the firm ground may not be asked of him so soon after such a duel. With Earl's charge an absentee, the race will not, perhaps, take a deal of winning, and I cannot see much in it between Corniche and Belah. Air Chariot, on his earlier running, comes into it, and others with a chance are Peeping Tom and Gay Shield. The field for the Home-Bred Plate is unlikely to rival that of the corresponding race last season, when Quirk defeated twenty-five others. The Sloat, after his severe race at the Birmingham Meeting, may be permitted to rest, as also may John's Son, and Understudy may deputise for the last-named with every credit. Triple Sec, who defeated a couple or dozen youngsters at Windsor, will again need a deal of beating, and may win from Understudy. Selections:—

Manor Welter Stakes—Blairtoi.
Horley Handicap—Cross Fox or Penlake.
Tilgate Handicap—Dobby Horse; if absent, Kojinup.
Three-Year-Old Handicap—Corniche (in the absence of Glommen).
Home-Bred Plate—Triple Sec.
Dorking Welter—Wooer; if absent, Zoomp.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

E. Quirke was twice successful in the saddle at Gowran Park yesterday.

The annual meeting of the Jockey Club in London will be held at 15 Cavendish square on Monday next.

Mr. John Kirwan, having won the Tetratema Cup at Gowran Park twice with Gowran Girl, requires only one more victory to win the Cup outright.

Santiderry, who on Tuesday won a three miles steeplechase at Naas, followed up this victory by winning the Maiden Steeplechase at Gowran Park yesterday.

After his fall from Bucket in the Brantingham Handicap at Beverley yesterday Chipchase received medical attention, and was found to have injured his back.

The "Racing Calendar" says:—At the start of the Village Handicap Plate at Lingfield Park, on Friday, June 5th. Dempsey received a blow on the shin and Li Kwang, who was under the starter's orders, did not run.

A partnership half-share in eighty-seven horses, including Fianna, Fifinella, Jeddart, Joyous, Oojah, Orason, Shrove, Silver Tag, Soubriquet and Straitlace, between Lady Hulton and Mr. M. M. Wilde was lodged on June 8.

Guilsborough, a colt by Diadumenos—Clare House, trained by J. Jarvis, and who won a maiden plate at Derby in April, has been sold, and will leave Newmarket immediately in company with other horses, for the Laurel Park stud, Maryland, U.S.A.

Miss C. M. Jeans (Nottingham) retained her title as National 100 Yards Swimming Champion at Nottingham yesterday, winning by two yards from Miss P. M. Harding (Finchley) in 67 1-5 secs. Miss M. Laverty (Manchester) was third. Seven competed.

At Beckenham yesterday H. Roper Barrett and A. W. Gore, the two English veterans, opposed J. O. Anderson and Randolph Lycett. It was generally expected that the latter couple would easily dispose of the older players, but to the surprise of spectators the veterans won the first set at 6-4, Anderson missing several easy shots. Roper Barrett and Gore tired after this, and Anderson and Lycett eventually won at 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Jockeys' engagements at Gatwick to-day include the following:—Manor Welter—Crock Hill (Donoghue), Tomahawk (V. Smyth), Blairtoi (Richards). Horley Selling—Penlake (R. FORTNIGHTLY CUP TOURNAMENT.

In beautifully fine weather yesterday, and before a large attendance, the second game of the Fortnightly Cup Tournament brought together two evenly-balanced sides, both of whom were well mounted. In defeating Hawks by 3 goals to 2 Swallows were decidedly lucky. The winning goal was the result of a spectacular piece of play in which Mr. Arnott and Mr. Johnston took part.

The winners played a brilliant game. In attack Mr. Lillis and Mr. Arnott were outstanding, while Mr. Cullinan shaped well at back. Mr. Johnston was clever at all times. On the other side Mr. Cecil Balding stood out prominently, his play being characterised by crisp hitting and hard riding. Mr. Shackleton played a sound game at back.

SWALLOWS (3) v. HAWKS (2).

Swallows had the better of the exchanges early on, but the ball was twice sent behind. In a break away by Hawks Mr. Balding got off with a clear field and wound up with a good goal. Shortly afterwards Mr. Johnston worked down from midfield and scored a grand goal to level matters. Hawks then kept up the pressure till the bell. The ground was in splendid condition, and fast play was the order. Hard riding took place in the second chukkar. Mr. Lillis and Mr. Arnott were nearly through on more than one occasion, but the shooting was erratic. Just before the change of ponies Hawks put on strong pressure and Mr. Balding gave his side the lead with a shot from long range. Swallows were pressing at the bell.

Mr. Balding was playing a fine game and on two occasions in the third chukkar he missed scoring by a narrow margin. Just before the change Mr. Johnston put Swallows attacking and Mr. Lillis wound up the movement by hitting the equalising goal. The ball was taken from end to end in the last period, and at the bell the scores were still level.

An extra period was then entered upon. Swallows went off at the start and after a slight check Mr. Arnott got in a splendid backhander, which was taken up by Mr. Johnston, who scored the winning goal. This was the best goal of the match. Teams:—

Hawks—Comdt. Mason, Mr. J. P. A. Larminie, Mr. C. Balding and Mr. J. W. Shackleton (back).
Swallows—Mr. F. J. Lillis, Mr. T. J. Arnott, Mr. Johnston, and Mr. P. D. Cullinan (back).
Umpires—Major Kirkwood and Mr. W. Fitzgerald.
To-morrow—Practice 4.30. Final of Fortnightly Cup—Swallows v. Sparrows, 5.30.

YACHTING.

THE WATER WAGS.

There was perfect weather for the eighth race on Wednesday evening, the wind coming light but fairly steady, from the south-east, and the pleasant conditions generally enticed out nine boats. When these were sent away at 6.38 p.m. over the port course, with a short turn to windward to the Jetty buoy at the outset, the order over the line was Blue Bird, Barbara, Mollie, Pansy, Phyllis, Coquette, Wendy, Tomboy, Moosmie. Early on Blue Bird met Coquette on the wrong tack, and she dropped out of the race. The second leg provided a reach, the next a run, and then they came on a wind again, with a beat up to the line. Thus far Barbara was doing splendidly, and at the close of the first round she led Coquette, Tomboy, Mollie, Wendy, Phyllis, Pansy, and Moosmie in the order named. On the second round Coquette overhauled her, and at its close Barbara was second, while astern of her came Phyllis, Mollie, Tomboy, Wendy, Moosmie, and Pansy. Coquette gained enormously on the beat on this round, and improved it still further on the final circuit. Final:—

| | H'cap. | H. | M. | S. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Coquette (winner) Mr. G. H. Jones | 1 m. | 7 | 36 | 37 |
| Barbara (2nd prize), Dr. J. T. Wigham | 3 m. | 7 | 40 | 32 |
| Phyllis, Mr. G. A. Newsom | scr. | 7 | 42 | 35 |
| Tomboy, Messrs. Barrett and Donnelly | 2 m. | 7 | 44 | 16 |
| Mollie, Mr. A. E. Snow | 2 m. | 7 | 45 | 14 |
| Wendy, Mr. E. A. Walpole | 4 m. | 7 | 46 | 53 |
| Moosmie (3rd prize), Messrs. Brown and Curtis | 6 m. | 7 | 47 | 41 |
| Pansy, Mr. Jack Stephens | 3 m. | 7 | 43 | 54 |

DUBLIN BAY SAILING CLUB.

At a Committee meeting held the other evening, the course of the 17-footers being considered too long, as laid out at present, has, therefore, been shortened. The first round stands as before, but from this on the boats will only take in the Seapoint mark on the second round, and will then return to harbour to finish on the winning line. The meeting also fixed up matches for June 20, which had been left a vacant date in the programme. Last Saturday the Seapoint No. 1 Class sailed in the D.B.S.C. Small Cruisers' Handicap and they will do so also on three other days this season on July 4 and 18 and August 29.

ROYAL NORFOLK AND SUFFOLK REGATTA.

On the final day, at Lowestoft yesterday, in a good sailing breeze, Noresca won the 12-metre race, when the finish was timed:—Noresca (winner), 2h. 20m. 5s.; Moyana (2nd), 2h. 23m. 0s.; Clymene, 2h. 30m. 40s.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

FUNDS OFFERED. BANK STOCK LOWER. RAILS BETTER. DUBLIN DISTILLERS WEAKER. DUNLOP RUBBERS HIGHER.

There was a quieter market on 'Change yesterday, and irregular price movements were the rule. The satisfactory points of interest were the rally in tone of Great Northern and Great Southern Railway Ord. Stocks and the still further rise in Dunlop Rubber Ord., while weakness developed for Dublin Distillers Ord. and Bank of Ireland Stock. The Funds, British and local, were inclined to be dull. Guinness opened and closed quiet and unaltered. National and Royal Bank Shares were wanted. Dublin Distillers closed over lowest. Marconis were quiet at 30s. Railway Ord. Stocks were higher. Parent Trust Pref. were sellers for choice at last price. Textiles were well held. Coats almost recovered the interim dividend, deducted from the price. Other Textiles and Tobaccos varied a few pence. Chartered were better. Hibernian Fire were wanted at a slight advance.

Government National 5 p.c. Loan fell ¼ to 95, and Compensation 5 p.c. repeated 91¼.

In British Funds, War Loan 4½ p.c. fell 1/16 to 94⅞. War Loan 5 p.c. repeated 99⅞, but Irish Land 2¾ p.c. rose ⅛ to 57⅞.

Dublin Corporation 3½ Stock repeated 70.

In Banks, Nationals rose 1/16 to 20 1/16, but Bank Stock fell 1 to 291, while Royals repeated 13¼. Westminsters realised 18⅞.

In Breweries and Distilleries, Guinness opened and closed unaltered at 64¾. The Pref. repeated 12 for a few shares. Dublin Distillers Ord. opened a further 3s. lower at 32s., but later 32s. 6d. was paid. Castlebellingham Debs. repeated 58.

As regards Home Rails, Great Northern rose ⅛ to 38⅞, and the Debs. repeated 59. Great Southern rose ⅛ to 22, ⅛, ⅛, and the Debs. repeated 58, but the Guaranteed fell ½ to 45½ and ditto City of Dublin Junction 4 p.c. ½ to 45½.

In Tramways, Dublin United Ordinary were wanted, but the Pref. repeated 9.

Dunlop Rubber Ord. rose 4½d. further to 17s. 6d., 17s. 7½d., 17s. 9d., 17s. 7½d. Parent Pref. repeated 15s. 6d. for a few shares.

Alliance Gas rose 1/16 to 6, 1/16, ⅛.

Among Manufacturing Shares, Fine Cotton Spinners Ord. realised 49s. 7½d. x.d., and share bonus. The dividend is 1s. 9 3-5d. per share, and the share bonus was one new for five old shares, valued, say, 11s. The quotation last marked 61s. 1½d. included these items. Courtaulds were busy at 104s. 6d., 104s. 7½d., 104s. 6d., and the Pref. rose 1½d. to 19s. 7½d. Coats rose 7½d. to 61s. 1½d. x.d., 9d. per share. Calicos at one time were again called 35s. 6d., 36s. nominally, but later fetched only 35s. British-American Tobacco rose 5d. to 116s. 4½d., but Imperials fell 3d. to 101s. 9d., 102s., 101s. 9d. Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. rose 3d. to 21s. 6d. for a small lot.

In Trading, etc., Yam Seng Rubber realised 3s. 1d., 3s. 1½d., and Dockrell Pref. 14s. 9d. for an odd lot. Parkes Pref. eased 3d. to 11s. 9d. Chartered rose 4½d. to 27s. 4½d., 27s. 6d., 27s. 7½d. Hibernian Fire were wanted at 4s. 3d., or 3d. over last marking.

Niger Debs. quoted 95¼.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

MEXICAN EAGLE OIL COMPANY'S REPORT.

The full report of the Mexican Eagle Oil Company for 1924 appears in our columns to-day. It is a most important document, when we consider the present position of the company, whose prospects are being eagerly watched by thousands of shareholders in this country. The financial position is not so strong, owing to reduced trading results. The policy of paying the whole of the exploration outlays incurred during the year before arriving at the trading profit has been followed, and the account of work done in prospecting for new oil-wells is very extensive and in some districts successful. Labour troubles are a stumbling block in Mexico as well as in other countries, the worst of these upheavals being a six months' strike at the Tampico Refinery. The purchase and cancellation of 7 p.c. preference shares is still proceeding, but the extent of the operation is not revealed. Copies of the report and accounts may be obtained on application to the Whitehall Securities Corporation, 47 Parliament street, Westminster, London, S.W. 1.

TRANSVAAL GOLD OUTPUT.

The Transvaal gold output for May showed a considerable improvement upon that for the preceding month. The total production was 813,249 ounces, as compared with 787,519 ounces for April and 809,003 ounces for May last year. The daily average of 26,233 ounces is, however, slightly less than for the previous month, but the value, which is now taken at the normal price of gold, amounts to £3,456,308, a gain of £109,353 as compared with the April figures.

NEW ARTIFICIAL SILK COMPANY.

Sir Sydney Skinner, Chairman of John Barker and Co., Ltd., is at the head of a new artificial silk company which is being underwritten. The new company is to be known as Rayon Manufacturing Co., Ltd., and has works at Ashstead, Surrey.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL.

Despite much opposition, the New South Wales Graziers' Association has passed a resolution requesting Sir John Higgins to submit a scheme for wool stabilisation, and another resolution pledging absolute opposition to any form of Government control.

BRITISH SUGAR BEET SOCIETY.

Sir Henry Rew, K.C.B., the well-known authority on agricultural questions, who was formerly the Secretary of the Ministry of Food, and Sir John T. Davies, K.C.B., C.V.O., Director of the Suez Canal, who was private secretary to Mr. Lloyd George as Minister of Munitions, Chancellor of the Exchequer and Prime Minister, have joined the Committee of the British Sugar Beet Society to fill two vacancies, one of which has been caused by the recent appointment of Sir John Baird, G.C.M.G., M.P., as Governor-General Designate of Australia.

WALLERS BRADFORD BREWERY, LTD.

Prospectuses are now obtainable through the National Provincial Bank of the issue of £400,000 7½ per cent. Preference Shares of Wallers Bradford Brewery, Ltd. A statement of assets and profits is given, and profits for the past seven years average over £80,000 per annum. The full prospectus will appear on Monday.

TRAFFICS.

Southern Railway—Week ended June 7, £457,000, decrease £50,000; 23 weeks £9,311,000, increase £109,000. London North-Eastern Railway—Week to June 6 £1,036,000, decrease £150,000; 23 weeks, £24,124,000, decrease £387,000.

GLASGOW IRON AND STEEL.—Steel consumers supplying near requirements; prices downward; ship plates about £8 12/6 per ton, sections £8 2/6 delivered locally; galvanised sheetmakers full up with work; prices firm. While orders for black sheets fairly numerous, makers could undertake more work. Manufactured copper reduced £2 per ton; price of strong £68.

LONDON STOCKS DROOPING.

RUBBER SHARES EASIER.

The London Stock markets were generally quiet in tone yesterday, and British Funds once more developed dulness, although there was no pressure to sell. Rubber Shares were not so active as of late, and a drooping tendency was noticeable in a number of shares. Among British Funds, War Loan Fives dropped back the turn to 99⅞, or ⅛ lower, but others were maintained at overnight figures.

Among Foreign Government Stocks, French Loans, after being firmer at one time, eased and finished without material alteration. Chinese issues were fairly well maintained. With the exception of the Funding Bonds, which dropped a point to 90, Brazilians were better. Among Reconstruction Loans, Hungarian 7½ p.c. Loan at 95½ were ½ higher, but others were unchanged. Japanese 4 p.c. (1905) were a bright spot, a gain of a point and a half to 87½ being registered.

RAILS SAGGING.

Home Rails continued to sag, and declines ranging from ½ to a point were general.

Among Colonial and Foreign Rails, Argentines were inclined to harden, but no material change was shown in closing figures. Canadian Pacifics were quoted ex-dividend at 143, while Leos at 31½ and Uruguay Northern Debs. at 23½ were also both ex-dividend. Grand Trunk 4 p.c. Perp. Debs. at 78 were a point easier, while the 4 p.c. Guaranteed were ex-dividend at 77. Antofagasta Ord. lost ½ to 85.

TEA SHARES FIRMER.

A slightly firmer tone characterised dealings in the Tea Share market yesterday, but price movements were not numerous, and in most instances narrow. A few issues finished at slightly lower levels, but the majority of alterations were in favour of holders. Consolidated Tea and Lands at 31¼ were ⅛ to the good. Ceylon Plantation moved up smartly to 5⅞, or 1/16 better, while Eastern Assam put on 1s. 3d. to 68s. 9d.

OIL SHARES STILL FIRM.

The firmer tendency which developed in leading Oil shares on Wednesday continued in evidence yesterday, and while business could only be described as on a moderate scale, indications were not lacking of a return of interest to this section of the market. The price movements finally recorded once again favoured holders in the majority of cases. After rising to 4⅞, Shells finished at the overnight's level of 4 11-32. A steady business was transacted in Royal Dutch, but at the end a decline of ⅛ was recorded at 32⅛. Burmahs improved 1-32 to 5 3-16. Mexican Eagles issues were rather harder. The report for the year was issued after business hours. A distinctly harder tendency characterised Ven. issues. Relieved of selling pressure British Controlled were a better market. In other directions Lobitos were finally 1-32 down at 6 7-32. Kern Rivers improved 3d. to 14s. 6d.

RUBBER SHARES IRREGULAR.

Business was again on a fairly large scale in the Rubber Share market yesterday, but, with some profit-taking in progress, prices were decidedly lower in some instances. Others, however, remained on the up-grade, and a few good improvements were recorded at the close of business. Batu Tiga were a strong market, the final quotation of 47s. 6d. being 3s. to the good, while B.N.B.R. Trust at 15s. 3d. showed a gain of 9d. on the day. Bah Lias dropped 2s. 3d. to 44s. 6d., while Malacca shed 1s. 3d. to 53s. 9d. Manchester North Borneo lost 1s. 3d. and Rubber Trust 1s. 6d., while Sapong gave way heavily to 45s. x.d., or 2s. 6d. lower on the day. The price of raw rubber was unchanged at 3s. 1d. per lb.

INDUSTRIALS.

The Miscellaneous and Industrial markets experienced another quiet session yesterday, this being partly due to the fact that it was pay day. Very few features developed, prices generally moving within narrow limits. On the good results of the past year's trading, J. Lyons came into fresh demand and closed 1/16 up at 5⅛. A.B.C.'s rose 6d. to 28s., and Schweppes Def. put on 6d. to 30s. 6d. Maypole Def. were quoted ex the dividend at 6s. Breweries displayed a better tendency. City of London Prefs. rose 1 to 100, Ashbys put on ⅛ to 2 1/16, and Benskins Prefs. 1/16 to 3 1/16. Bass Ratcliffs, however, gave way to 2 1/16, or 1/16 lower, and Ind. Coopes lost 6d. at 57s. Courtaulds remained a firm market all the day at round 104s., though elsewhere among Silk shares, Listers were a trifle easier at 33s. 9d., and Cellulose Holding suffered from realisations, receding to 14s. 9d. In Textiles, Calicos eased to 35s., and Amalgamated Cottons to 8s. 3d. Fine Spinners were quoted ex the dividend and bonus at 50s. Insurances kept steady, several being quoted ex the dividend, and Banks were better. Firmness characterised Tobaccos. Imperials opened at 101s. 3d. and came into request, rising to 102s. 3d. Sales at the latter level, however, resulted in a set-back to 101s. 9d., though they finished 3d. better on the day at that figure. In the Miscellaneous trading list, Dunlops continued in evidence, and advanced to 17s. 6d. Francois Cementations rose to 8s. 9d., though Associated Cements relapsed to 15s., a fall of 6d., and the Prefs. lost the turn at 16s. 4½d. Swedish Match weakened to 10⅛. Jas. Finlays found fresh support, which took them up to 70s. 6d. Apart from the strength of the Allied Ord., which further advanced to 34s. 3d. x.d. Newspaper shares developed dulness. The Wireless group was unchanged. On the reduction of the year's distribution, Platt Bros. suffered from a few realisations, and relapsed to 27s., a loss of 6d. Iron, Coal and Steels were inclined to sag in the absence of support. Shipping securities did not move.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN LOWER.

TIN ruled easier on selling pressure, combined with lower Eastern cables, but a fair business transpired. On balance cash declined 30/- to 32/6, and forward 27/6 per ton, compared with the final rates of Wednesday last. Standard cash quoted £252 to £252 5/-, three months £253 5/- to £253 7/6, settlement price £252 5/-. Sales 750 tons, comprising cash at £251 15/-, £252 10/- and £252 5/-, three months £254 10/-, £253 and £253 7/6. English ingots £252 10/- to £253. COPPER in good support, but, with liberal selling offers, rates were barely maintained. Standard cash quoted £59 5/- to £59 7/6, three months £60 5/- to £60 7/6, settlement price £59 5/-. Sales 1,800 tons. Standard cash sold £59 10/- to £59 5/-, three months £60 7/6 to £60 8/9 and £60 5/-. Electros quoted £62 10/- to £63. LEAD easier, but there was a good business in force, 1,800 tons sold good soft foreign pig June at £33 7/6 to £33 8/9, July £33 7/6 to £33 5/-, August £33 2/6 to £33 1/3, September £33 to £32 18/9, settlement price £33 7/6. SPELTER in fair demand and generally steady, 800 tons sold June at £34 2/6, £34 and £34 1/3, July £33 17/6, August £33 15/-, September £33 12/6, settlement price £34 per ton.

PROVINCIAL EXCHANGES.

BIRMINGHAM.—More doing in Motor Shares. Humbers, Rileys better. Rolls-Royce flat. Parent Trust Deferred have eased a little. ## DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

ASSOCIATED TEA OF CEYLON.—Half-year's dividend of 3 p.c. on Pref. shares, less tax.

AMERICAN CAR AND FOUNDRY.—Quarterly dividend of $1.50 on New Common stock.

BROUGHTON COPPER.—Final dividend of 10 p.c. actual, less tax, making 15 p.c. for year.

BODEGA CO.—Half-year's dividend on 5 per cent. Cumulative Preference.

BENGAL NAGPUR RAILWAY CO.—Interim dividend of 15/- per cent. on the company's capital Ordinary stock, which, together with the guaranteed interest of £1 15/- p.c. then due, will make a total distribution of 2½ p.c. for the half-year, less tax.

BEVERLEY TEA AND RUBBER.—Dividend of 2d. per share, less tax.

BORBHEEL TEA.—Final dividend of 40 p.c., less tax.

BOGAWANTALAWA TEA CO., LTD.—Dividend of 27½ p.c. on the Ordinary shares, less tax, making a total of 42½ p.c. for the year.

CASTLEFIELD KLANG RUBBER.—Interim dividend of 10 p.c., less tax, on account of the financial year ending 30th June, 1925.

CHARTER TRUST AND AGENCY.—Dividend for the half-year ended 31st May, 1925, on Ordinary stock at the rate of 4 p.c. p.a., less tax.

COURTAULDS.—Dividend on 5 p.c. Cum. Pref. shares will be paid on July 1 to holders on books on June 11.

EUROPEAN GAS.—Final dividend of 6/- per share, free of tax, making 5 p.c., free of tax, for the year.

EVANS, SONS, LESCHER AND WEBB.—The report shows a profit of £20,065, plus excess profits duty recovered, £44,597; total £31,693. This has been applied to reducing the debit balance, which now stands at £417,087. A scheme for reconstruction of capital will be submitted shortly.

FRONTINO AND BOLIVIA GOLD.—Following dividends declared:—On Pref. a dividend of 1/- per share, less tax, and on Ord. shares an interim dividend of 9d. per share, less tax.

GRAND JUNCTION CANAL.—Dividend at 4½ p.c. p.a., making 4 p.c. for the year less tax.

G. B. KENT AND SONS.—Usual dividend at 5½ p.c. p.a. on Cum. Part. Pref. shares for six months ended March 31, 1925.

IDRIS HYDRAULIC TIN.—Interim dividend of 1/- per share, less tax.

J. LYONS AND CO.—Record results were obtained in the past year. The profit amounted to £718,582, compared with £665,376 for the previous year. Since 1917 the profits have grown up from £268,475. A final dividend of 3/- has been declared on the Ord. and "A" Shares, making for the year 25 p.c., or the same as for the previous year. The final dividend on the proportional and "B" Shares is 7.2d., making 1/- for the year. The balance forward is £45,178, against £23,594. It is proposed to capitalise £600,000 of the reserves, and distribute this in the shape of a free bonus to the shareholders—the Ord. and "A" holders receiving one new share for every three shares held, while holders of the proportional profit and "B" Shares will get one new for every fifteen shares now held.

LAUTARO NITRATE CO.—Second interim dividend on account of the year 1925 of 5 p.c., or 5/- per share, less tax.

LA GUAIRA AND CARACAS RAILWAY.—Balance dividend of 4 p.c. net and 1 p.c. bonus net on account of the year 1924, making 7 p.c. for the year and 1 p.c. bonus net.

MEXICAN EAGLE OIL CO.—Although the gross income was slightly higher in 1924, there is a reduction in trading profit of $525,596 to $10,241,313, while the net profit is down to $4,216,077, compared with $4,844,757 for 1923. Exploration outlays last year were $8,099,029, compared with $7,604,970 in 1923. After paying First Pref. share dividends, paid and accrued to 31st December, 1924, there is a balance of $5,310,195, of which $5,000,000 is transferred to general reserve and $310,195 carried forward. The company's future prosperity is largely dependent upon the trend of labour conditions "which do not, at the moment, show much sign of improvement."

NUWARA ELIYA TEA—Interim dividend of 10 p.c. actual, less tax.

PLATT BROS. AND CO., LTD.—Final dividend of 7½ p.c., making, with interest of 2½ p.c., a total of 10 p.c. for the year. The net profit for the year to March 31st last is £216,859 after payment of all taxation and expenses, including depreciation, directors' remuneration, etc., and the carry forward £86,942.

QUEBEC POWER—Dividend of $1½ on Common shares and $1½ on Preferred shares for quarter.

ROYAL SOVEREIGN PENCIL.—Dividend on 7½ per cent. Preference shares for six months to June 30.

RIO CLARO RAILWAY AND INVESTMENT.—Interim dividends of 2½ p.c., less tax, on Cum. Pref. stock in respect of six months to May 31 last, and 3 p.c., less tax, on Ord. stock on account of year ending Nov. 30.

UNITED INDIGO AND CHEMICAL.—Dividend of 5 p.c. p.a., subject to tax, for six months ending June 30, in respect of Pref. shares.

WHITE, TOMKINS AND COURAGE.—2/- per share, or 10 p.c., on Ord. shares for year to end of March last. (Same.)

WARING AND GILLOW.—Net profit for the year to 31st January last is £161,085, and after providing charges down to the year's Preference interest, there is, with £120,975 brought in, an available total of £207,061. Out of that the thirteen months' Preference arrears outstanding since 31st January, 1915, is to be paid, and the Ord. shares are to receive a maiden dividend of 10 per cent. A capital reorganisation and bonus scheme provides for transferring certain credit balances, which are now no longer required, and, adding £19,071 from the year's profits, the general reserve is being brought up to £250,000. This is to be capitalised by issuing 500,000 10/- Ord. shares, which are to be distributed to existing shareholders, giving them a 50 per cent. scrip bonus. In return Ord. rights for division of profits with the management shares are to be modified, the effect being that for every £1 dividend on the Ord. the management shares will receive 10/-. The existing 5 per cent. Deb. issue is to be replaced by £1,000,000 in 6 per cent. Debs., and the bank loan of £125,000 and mortgage of £100,000 will be liquidated, leaving, roughly, £400,000 for working capital. A revaluation of the properties and plant puts their value at £1,305,850—an accretion of capital of £74,096. This is to be used to extinguish goodwill, to write down investments by £80,000, and to add £144,184 to capital reserve account. The latter will bear the cost of the new Deb. issue.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANABLE CREDITS AMPLE.

Despite the reduction in market resources shown in yesterday's Bank return, funds were in adequate supply in Lombard street, there being only a small demand for loans. Borrowers were offered accommodation over the night at 3¾ p.c., weekly fixtures being renewed at the same figure. The discount market was quiet, but rates were quoted a shade easier. Fine three months' bills were no better than 4⅝ p.c., but second-hand Treasuries were offered at 4 7/16 p.c. without attracting many buyers.

Silver was unchanged at 31 11/16d. per oz. for spot and 31⅝d. for forward delivery.

The market price of gold remained at 84s. 11½d. per fine ounce. The Bank of England announced the sale of £12,000 of bar gold.

The French Exchange finished unaltered at a little over 99¼, and fluctuated during the day less than usual, but Belgian francs were much worse at 101.55, showing a movement against Brussels of a franc. Lire were slightly better, as also were Greek drachmae and Roumanian lei, while there was a further improvement in Norwegian and Danish kroner. The currencies of Bulgaria and Hungary were nominally worse, and pesetas depreciated. The American exchange finished dull at a shade under 4.86, but once again there was little movement during the day. A feature of the South American group was a further improvement in the Brazilian milreis, while Argentine dollars made a fair recovery almost to 45d.

THE BANK RETURN.

STRONGER POSITION.

This week's Bank return shows an addition to the coin and bullion of, approximately, £600,000, due, of course, to the influx from abroad; and as there was a contraction of nearly £805,000 in the note circulation, the reserve is £1,403,000 higher for the week at £28,795,000. The increase of strength in the Bank's position has been accompanied by a reduction in the market's resources, as indicated by the private deposits, which are £1,682,000 less. The reduction, however, might have been far larger, seeing that repayments to the Bank amounted to over £2,500,000, judging by the decrease in the other securities, while the Government securities are fully £3,000,000 lower. These two movements were largely offset by a decrease of £2,650,000 in the public deposits, presumably due to a repayment of ways and means advances and the increase in the reserve. The proportion of reserve to liabilities has risen nearly 2 to 23¾ p.c. The private deposits now amount to £112,428,046.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31st DECEMBER, 1924.

All figures contained in this Report are stated in Mexican gold pesos, which have a par value of 24½d. sterling, or 49.75 cents U.S. gold.

1. The Directors beg to submit the accompanying Report and Statement of Accounts for the approval of the Shareholders:—

| | Mexican Gold. |
|---|---|
| The profit on trading for the year to 31st December, 1924, is | $1,024,131,306 |
| Less—Transfer to Depreciation Reserve Account | $780,666,953 |
| | $243,464,353 |
| Add—Interest, etc. (net) | $178,143,358 |
| Net profit for the year | $421,607,711 |
| Less—Transfer to Legal Reserve Account | $21,080,386 |
| | $400,527,325 |
| To which is added the balance brought forward from last year of | $514,139,229 |
| | $914,666,554 |
| Deduct—First Preference Share Dividends paid and accrued to 31st December, 1924 | $383,646,981 |
| Leaving | $531,019,573 |

Of which the Directors recommend that $500,000,000 should be transferred to General Reserve Account, and the balance, $31,019,573, carried forward to next year.

2. The whole of the exploration outlays incurred during the year have been charged before arriving at the trading profit of the year. The amount so charged in 1924 was $809,902,900, as compared with $760,497,040 for 1923. The Company has thus been able to continue its general policy of conserving, as far as possible, its cash resources, without curtailing the drilling programme laid down by its technical advisers.

The Directors regret the reduction in the trading results for the year. This is due mainly to the following causes:—

(a) During practically the whole of the first six months of the fiscal year the production of the Company had to be partially closed in owing to a strike at the Tampico Refinery.

(b) The operations of the Minatitlan Refinery were affected by the revolutionary troubles which started towards the end of 1923, and influenced 1924.

(c) In the latter months of 1924 operations at Tampico were restricted by the silting up of the Panuco River, due to heavy floods, with consequent delays and interruptions to shipping.

These difficulties necessarily resulted in a considerable reduction in the quantity of products sold during the year.

On the other hand, owing to the rise in the sterling exchange value of the American dollar, and consequently of the Mexican peso, principally towards the end of the year, an exchange profit of about 4,400,000 pesos is shown in 1924, as compared with an exchange loss of about 4,000,000 pesos in 1923. With the return of the pound sterling to a gold basis, it is probable that these violent fluctuations in exchange will not occur in future.

Further economies continue to be effected in standing charges, but Labour costs show a decided increase.

Under the terms of the issue, the First Preference Shares are redeemable by means of an annual sinking fund at 21/- per share, or at their par value of 10 Mexican gold pesos, whichever is the higher value. If exchange between London and New York is nearer parity than $4.73 U.S. to £1, the figure of 21/- is the higher liability. Such liability has, therefore, been adopted for the purposes of the accounts, and set against the sterling floating assets at the date of the balance sheet.

The reserve account, accumulated as the result of the purchase and redemption of the First Preference Shares at a cost per share less than the rate at which they are redeemable amounts now to a figure in excess of the premium of 6d. per share payable on redemption. The First Preference Share Amortisation Reserve Account of $2,000,000 is no longer necessary, and has consequently been transferred to General Reserve Account.

3. The production of crude oil and the amount of crude oil purchased by the Company during the last three fiscal periods have been as follows:—

| | Production. | Oil Purchased. |
|---|---|---|
| (a) Year 1922 | 12,390,429 barrels | 5,418,910 barrels. |
| (b) Year 1923 | 9,251,091 barrels | 11,100,000 barrels. |
| (c) Year 1924 | 5,443,092 barrels | 13,605,615 barrels. |

4. The total sales of the Company for the last two years were:—

(a) Year 1923 .......... 21,609,000 barrels.
(b) Year 1924 .......... 17,463,100 barrels.

5. The amended arrangement with the Eagle Oil Transport Company, Ltd., referred to in the last annual report, is still in force.

6. The Company's production from stripping wells on the main ridge has been satisfactory, and drilling still continues to give good results. Based on the results of the seismological survey, it has been decided to drill an additional test well on what is expected to be the Northern Extension of the main ridge into the Tamiahua Lagoon.

The deep test on the main ridge reached a depth of over 5,000 feet, having penetrated about 3,400 feet of limestone without any indication of change in the formation. It was decided to abandon further drilling in view of the small chance of finding commercial production at greater depth.

Production has been secured on the Company's Corcovado holdings, but the results in the heavy oil district of Cacalilao and Corcovado have been disappointing, due to the early appearance of salt water.

South of the Tuxpam River, two test wells are being drilled. The encouraging production from the wells in the old Cazones district and the quality of the oil obtained justify the drilling of further stripping wells in this field.

In South-Eastern Mexico, at Filisola, five producing wells have been brought in to date, with a total daily production at present of about 500 barrels. The drilling of exploration and exploitation wells continues. Although the wells are small, the area is large, and production from sandstone beds warrants the drilling of a considerable number of wells, which should enable the Company to build up fair production in this field. Great credit is due to the staff, who have carried out excellent work in spite of difficult conditions.

The Company's extensive holdings located to the north of Filisola are being tested, and it is hoped that conditions will soon permit of the drilling also of further test wells on the Company's properties in Tabasco.

7. During the year under review the exploratory work on the Company's undeveloped properties has been vigorously prosecuted, and, all things considered, the Directors are satisfied that good progress has been made, but more time than was originally anticipated will be required for the completion of this work. This is partly due to the unsettled state of the country, but more generally to the difficult geological conditions prevailing throughout Mexico.

8. The new case and can and barrel factories and the wharf extensions at Tampico were completed during the year and sundry other necessary capital work undertaken, but no large capital outlays have been undertaken or are anticipated in the near future.

9. The fleet of the Eagle Oil Transport Company, Ltd., in the service of the Company remains at the same figure as last year.

10. The Company's future prosperity is largely dependent upon the trend of labour conditions in Mexico, which do not at the moment show much sign of improvement, the Company being frequently faced with the possibility of having to close down various branches of its operations.

11. The Directors deeply regret to announce the death of Señor Lic Don Francisco Diez Barroso, Vice-President of the Company, and one of its valued legal advisers.

12. The Directors desire to record their full appreciation of the services rendered by the officials and staff of the Company.—By Order of the Board,

LUIS RIBA, President.

Avenida Juarez 92/94, Mexico City, D.F.
6th June, 1925.

LONDON MINING MARKET CHEERFUL.

CHARTEREDS SCORE A GOOD GAIN.

Among the speculative departments Mines occupied a favourable position. Business, it is true, was not particularly widespread, but the activity in certain specialities imparted a good tone to these sections generally, and at the close the list presented a cheerful appearance. The Platinum descriptions were not quite so prominent as previously, there being a tendency to await developments on the properties of some of the newer concerns. In this connection dealings are expected to start shortly in Lydenburg Platinum Areas, the price suggested being about ⅛ prem. The Cape sent over higher prices for some of its specialities, but that centre was by no means aggressive. In the Rhodesian department Chartered continued to occupy first place. A considerable business was put through in them, and the final price showed a substantial gain. The price of tin dropped £1 11s. 3d. to £252 2s. 6d. per ton, but the market for the Eastern shares maintained its strength. Coppers were inclined to harden under the lead of Rio Tinto. Russians were dullish, but Canadians gave a much better account of themselves. Closing prices:—
